Steel Closing Debated

Emergency Session Allowed by Speaker

Times News Services

OTTAWA — The Commons launched an emergency debate today on the announced intention of Dominion Steel & Coal Corp. to close its Sydney, N.S., steel mill by April 30.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux immediately accepted the motion of Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South), seconded by Robert Muir (PC—Cape Breton North and Victoria), for an emergency debate. The government did not oppose the motion.

The debate must conclude by tonight.

Mr. MacInnis, in seeking the special debate, said the proposed shutdown of the steel mill is a national emergency.

It would directly affect 10,000 persons—the employees of the plant and their families—and bring into question the survival of the entire industrial community of Cape Breton, with its 105,000 people.

Mr. MacInnis said the entire Atlantic region is threatened with disaster.

STANFIELD IN GALLERY

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield, former premier of Nova Scotia, looked on from the Opposition gallery.

Stanfield postponed his plans to go to Montreal for a "crash course" in the French language.

He will fly to Sydney on Tuesday for "private conferences" in connection with the closing of the steel plant.

W. J. Emmert, president of Dosco, announced Friday the city's big steel mill would be closed April 30, 1968.

The mill is a key Nova Scotia industry. It employs 3,200 workers in Sydney, a town of 34,000. It has an annual payroll of $23,600,000.

Nova Scotia Liberal leader Gerald Regan lashed out at Mr. Stanfield, accusing him of "terrible government negligence" which Mr. Regan claimed led to the proposed closure of the mill.

He called on Premier G. I. Smith, who succeeded Mr. Stanfield, to summon an immediate session of the legislature in light of "this catastrophe."

However, the Nova Scotia Liberal leader said "no amount of neglect can excuse the ruthless disregard of Nova Scotian interests shown by Dosco.

WORKERS MEET

More than 600 angry steel workers and worried residents of the town met at Whitney pier near Sudbury Sunday to discuss the decision by Hawker Siddeley to close its steel plant here.

Rev. J. W. Young, an Anglican minister, said the plant must be kept in operation.

"Majority ownership should be in the hands of Cape Bretoners if possible, or Cape Bretoners backed by the people of Nova Scotia," he said.

Rev. George Topshee, a Roman Catholic priest, said: "I have sufficient faith in our leaders to know that they are not going to let the steel plant close next April."

Steelworkers seated in the hall shouted abuse at the company as the speakers expressed hope that government intervention would save the industry.

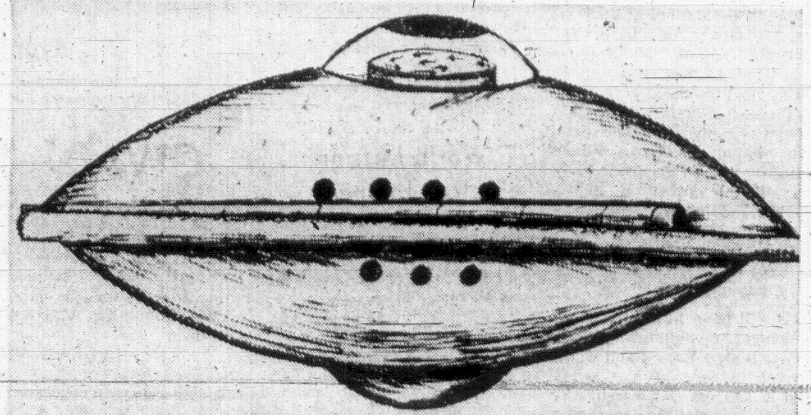
SOVIET SPACECRAFT TO LAND ON VENUS?

LONDON (AP)—The Russians have asked Britain's Jodrell Bank receiving station today to help track their Venus IV spacecraft due to its "extraordinary importance and significance". It is scheduled to reach Venus on October 18.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Jodrell Bank, said: "My personal interpretation of this is that the Russians might intend to land the probe on the planet."



FOREST LOOKOUT Russel Hill made this sketch from memory of an unidentified flying object that hovered near his Alberta bush tower earlier this month. He said the UFO in the sketch had a green light around the rim and a rotating green light in the upper bowl. When it flew off, he said, the rim light went out, the dome light turned white and four blue exhaust flames came from the rear. (CP Wirephoto.)

Saucer Spree Sets Calgary Eyes Blinking

CALGARY — A photograph and a sketch of apparent "flying saucers" have been made public here in the wake of a several-weeks-old UFO-sighting spree.

The photograph of an unidentified flying object was taken by Calgary prospector Warren Smith in July while on a trip in Southern Alberta with two friends. The RCAF terms it the best UFO picture on file.

Forest lookout Russel Hill says he has seen UFOs four times in the past few weeks and sketched one that hovered near the forest tower earlier this month. He is described as "reliable" by fellow employees.

Several other Calgary area sightings have been reported in recent weeks.

QUEBEC GRITS:

Levesque Out 'O Canada' In

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

QUEBEC CITY—Quebec Liberals rejected "separatism in all its forms" at their annual party congress which ended here Sunday.

Rene Levesque was forced to resign from the party and carry on alone his campaign for an independent Quebec in a Canadian Common Market.

And a report advocating the near-independence of a very broad special status for Quebec was set aside "for further study."

Nothing in the report, party leader Jean Lesage assured delegates, would become Liberal policy unless it were brought before a future Quebec Liberal Federation congress in the form of a resolution.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS

The number of votes in favor of the strongly anti-separatist resolution—too many to count accurately—was estimated at 1,200. Seven delegates voted against it and another handful abstained.

When the voting was over, late Saturday evening, the delegates stood and sang "O Canada," a rare event at a Quebec provincial political gathering. When the convention re-opened Sunday morning, two Canadian flags, in position of precedence, had joined the display of Quebec flags that were alone on the stage when the congress opened Friday evening.

Behind the display of apparent unanimity in favor of Canadian unity, the meeting revealed the power built up in the party by Eric Kierans, former health minister, since he became its president a year ago.

When Mr. Levesque announced, in mid-September, his plan for a "Canadian union," Mr. Kierans was the only leading member of the party to take a clear stand against it.

He immediately announced that he would resign if the Levesque plan were approved and then, one by one, persuaded other former ministers to take the same stand.

Finally, at the opening session of the congress Friday evening, when an early vote on a

PM: Unity Question 'Urgent'

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Sunday night Canadians must face urgently the question of what price they are prepared to pay to maintain the unity of the country.

In a speech read in his absence here at the Conference on the Economics of Canadian Unity, the prime minister declared that, somehow, all of Canada must become as much a homeland for all French-speaking Canadians as it is for all English-speaking Canadians.

Mr. Pearson warned that complete political separation of Quebec from Canada, if it came about under the impetus of the current separatist movement, "would not occur in a tranquil or rational way."

But French-Canadian society is a reality, he said, and if English-speaking Canada tries to isolate it, "whether by design or, more likely, by indifference, it will simply encourage separatism."

The prime minister's speech was read by Richard Cashin, Liberal MP for St. John's West. Mr. Pearson was unable to leave Ottawa this week, an aide said.

URGES UNDERSTANDING

The prime minister told English-speaking Canadians that many of them will have to improve their attitude towards "the French fact in our country." He told French-speaking Canadians that the breakup of the country, as advocated by a

FOLKSINGER Joan Baez sang and clapped hands as she took position today at main door of Oakland Induction Centre in attempt to close off building as protest against draft. She was arrested shortly after. (AP Wirephoto.)

Woman Suicides By Fire

By UPI

A week of anti-war protests began today in 30 American cities. At least 40 demonstrators were arrested in Oakland, Calif.

Those arrested at Oakland included folk singer Joan Baez. She was among 250 "stop-the-draft-week" demonstrators who showed up at an induction centre there.

The demonstrators were accused of trying to block draftees from entering the building. Police formed a human barricade to enable one busload of inductees to pass and began arrests when the demonstrators refused to move.

In Chicago, several young men said they planned to gather in front of the federal building and then attempt to turn in their draft cards to the U.S. marshal. Another group said it would demonstrate before an army induction centre on Wednesday.

On the eve of the week's first protest, to be held by a group called "the resistance," Florence Beaumont, 55, mother of two, soaked herself with gasoline and set herself afire Sunday in front of the federal building in downtown Los Angeles.

'HAD TO BE DONE'

She was protesting the Vietnam war, her husband said. "She felt this had to be done, it had to be done," he said.

"She was a walking torch," a witness said of Mrs. Beaumont, of suburban La Puente, Calif., who stumbled and staggered in flames until she fell dead.

The week of protests ends Saturday in Washington with what is expected to be the largest anti-war rally ever held in the capital. A spokesman for the organizers predicted 40,000 to 100,000 would attend.

"The resistance," composed mostly of young anti-draft; antiwar protesters, said more than 2,000 men were expected to burn or turn in their draft cards during "stop the draft week." Anti-draft protesters were to begin in Chicago today.

CHAPLAIN TAKES PART

"A call to resist illegitimate authority" was sounded by supporters of the anti-draft movement, including 35 clergymen led by the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Fr., the chaplain at Yale.

The resisters will make "synagogues and churches across the country sanctuaries for conscientious objectors," Rev. Coffin said, so "arrests of those who refuse to answer the

WEST SPLIT ON ARABS

By United Press International

Britain and the United States have split over terms for an Arab-Israeli settlement, diplomatic sources said today in London.

This in turn has widened the rift in the big four's Middle East peace strategy.

The western powers were hunting some kind of break in the Mideast deadlock but were taking a different approach to the problem. Britain's policy appeared to be swinging closer to the Arab view. The United States was closer to the Israeli view.

In the United Nations U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg scheduled a meeting today with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad and other Arab diplomats. Observers said Goldberg was trying to get Egypt and Israel into some kind of negotiations either directly or through a third party.

Boost for Force

CANBERRA (AP) — The Australian government will increase combat force in South Vietnam by about 1,000 men, informed sources said today. Australia has about 6,300 men in South Vietnam, including those in the army, air force and naval units.

PERSONNEL within Army Induction Centre at Oakland, Calif., pull one of several sit-in demonstrators through the door, after inductees had climbed over them, so that door could be closed before arrests were made by Oakland police. HOW WE IGNORE OUR OLD FOLKS

More Than a Half Nursing Home Bound

By PETE LOUDON

More than half the present population of Victoria will live long enough to know the experience of rest home or nursing home existence. The percentage of elderly persons here is twice the national average.

These are two good reasons for giving attention to the problems discussed in this and succeeding articles in this series.

"I don't want to get old.

"I don't want to get so old anyway, that I outlive most of my contemporaries and become a problem to my kids.

"I don't want to spend my time sitting on a bed in a shared room with three or four other oldsters, waiting for a dinner bell to end the monotony.

"I don't want to graduate from that to a private hospital bed where the disinfectants spoil the scent of the flowers and life is just a succession of bed pans, rubber tubes and beds built with sides like cribs."

That's the reaction of young and middle-aged people who visit—usually an annual or semi-annual duty call—at boarding homes or private hospitals.

Most of all, we say, "I don't want to end up as a welfare patient."

Some people add, "What was the matter with them anyway, that they didn't save enough to maintain their independence and dignity in old age?"

It's a natural reaction. Most of us dislike the idea so much we push all thought of aging from our minds. And it's likely that's the reason we've let the problems of age develop to the community crisis now facing us.

The average age at death in B.C. is 64.7 for men and 67.3 for women but more than half of us can look forward to a Wrong Building Hit By Montreal Bomb?

MONTREAL (CP)—Suburban St. Michel police today sifted through four wrecked floors of an office building heavily damaged by a dynamite blast Sunday. They speculated the bomb may have been meant for another building.

The seventh to 10th floors of the 12-storey building at 3737 Metropolitan Blvd. were shattered by a bomb police suspect was meant for an identical building a block away housing about 300 Cubans.

Det.-Lieut. Yves Therault said today the blast, which wrecked the offices of Cabana, Seguin and Associates Inc., on the eighth floor, was probably intended for the other building. The Cubans residing in the other building are also on the eighth floor.

The damaged building also has offices of the Cuban trade mission, but it is on the 12th floor and was not damaged.

Most of the Cubans living in the other building, work at the trade mission or at the Cuban pavilion at Expo 67, which also has had its share of bomb threats.

There were no injuries in the blast. The only occupants of the building were a caretaker and his wife who live on the second floor. The caretaker told police he was in his apartment at the time of the explosion.

Water pipes were split, elevator wrenched from their sockets, partitions smashed and furniture upset by the explosion.

OLD WARRIOR RETURNS TO OTTAWA

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — John Diefenbaker today was critical of the continued absenteeism among Progressive Conservative ranks in the Commons after returning to Ottawa Sunday.

"There is deep resentment across the country over this absenteeism," he told reporters. "People are becoming angry."

He flew back to Ottawa on the weekend to take his seat in the Commons as member of Parliament for Prince Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker will move out of the opposition leader's official residence of Stornaway in the swank Rockliffe residential area in Ottawa at the end of the month. They will move into a rented house in the same area.

Mr. Diefenbaker made it clear that he's far from finished as a member of Parliament: He indicated by his comments to newsmen that he will be speaking in debates in the House.

He told reporters he would fight the Conservative party's "two-nation" policy for Quebec "to the limit of my strength." He said he would be strongly opposed to any suggestion of a "special status" for Quebec, leaving the implication that he will carry that opposition to the floor of the House.

He is irate over members of the Conservative party continuing to be absent on crucial votes, just as they were in the latter months of his regime as Tory leader.

He accused six Conservative MPs of suddenly walking out of the House when the division bells were ringing on an old age pension vote, when he was leader.

He said the six—he would not identify them—had saved the Liberal minority government from defeat.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the only sure quick way to cure absenteeism among M.P.s was to publish the names, on a regional basis, of those M.P.s who did not stay in the Commons to vote.

Mr. Diefenbaker now occupies an office at the rear of the Parliament buildings with a beautiful view overlooking the Ottawa River and the Gatineau Hills. It used to be occupied by his executive assistant.

He has been advised that his new seat in the Commons will be two to the left of the opposition leader's seat he occupied before his defeat at the leadership convention.

Mr. Diefenbaker would not say when he will take his new seat in the House.

OWN MONEY TOO

Republic Goal Of Separatists

QUEBEC (CP)—An independent republic of Quebec is the goal of the province's No. 2 separatist party, le Ralliement National.

At the party's second annual convention, held during the weekend on the campus of Laval University, about 200 delegates gave unanimous approval to a blueprint for independence which included such items as a separate monetary system and joint ownership of Air Canada, the railways and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The proposed republic would have a president as well as a prime minister and cabinet, and its parliament would be a "national assembly" of members elected for four-year terms.

A Bank of Quebec would be established to regulate the monetary system. Existing banks could become savings banks on the condition that they establish head offices in Quebec and do 75 per cent of their business with Quebec residents.

Quebec would negotiate with the rest of Canada for the joint ownership of the seaway and the nationwide carriers.

FAVORS UNION

Gilles Gregoire, president of le Ralliement who sits in the Commons as independent MP for Lapointe, said he is favorably disposed, under certain conditions, to the suggestion that le Ralliement unite with Quebec's larger separatist party, le Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale.

Mr. Gregoire described his party as a party of the centre, flexible enough to absorb the best ideas from both the left and the right.

In an address to the convention Saturday, he predicted that at least one Liberal MP will defect in favor of the Quebec independence movement. He said that during the next four months other Quebec MPs will join separatist ranks, but he named no names.

Don't Mistake Vote For Defeat—Kierans

QUEBEC (CP)—Eric Kierans, president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, said Sunday night "it would be tragic" if the Liberals' vote against separatism were misunderstood in the rest of Canada.

Mr. Kierans began his presidential address to the closing banquet at the federation's annual meeting by addressing a message to English-speaking Canadians in other provinces.

"Confidence in Canada, overwhelming confidence in Canada, was voted in the last two years by the Quebec Liberals," he said.

The vote rejecting "separatism in all forms" represented not only the Liberal party or the Quebec people "but the entire French-Canadian nation."

"It would be tragic if this vote was misunderstood in the rest of Canada. The vote does not represent a defeat for the legitimate and just aspirations of the French-Canadians. . . ."

He listed these as preservation of the French-Canadian culture, recognition of the French language right across the country and the desire of French Canadians to administer more fully their own affairs within Confederation.

WANTS STATUS DEFINED

Mr. Kierans was followed by Liberal Leader Jean Lesage who urged Premier Daniel Johnson to define the Union Nationale government's constitutional position clearly "to re-establish political and economic stability."

The Liberal leader said that if Mr. Johnson is not ready to hold a similar meeting "to make democratically a definite choice" the government should resign.

Mr. Lesage charged that Mr. Johnson is playing with "an ambiguous slogan," equality or independence, which enables him to touch all the constitutional bases.

few years of severely restricted activity or to becoming near-invalids.

Almost 12 per cent of us will die between the ages of 70 and 74. About 14 per cent of us will die between 75 and 79.

About 14 per cent of us will expire between 80 and 84 and 16 per cent of us will make it past 85.

Modern medicine is extending those figures all the time. So, like it or not—we'd better start thinking about it.

If we want to be less selfish in our outlook, we should consider that the capital district at this time has 26,245 people aged more than 65—which is 15.13 per cent of the over-all population.

This compares with only 7.7 per cent in Canada. We have twice as many elderly people as the national average. That's another good reason for making sure the care we offer them is superior.

Had a Dream

Few of the people you see sitting in the sun porches of boarding homes anticipated they'd fetch up there. Most of those in private hospital beds had dreamed of an old age in a quiet cottage where they could tend their own roses and have their grandchildren visit.

None of those who are listed as welfare cases expected this would be the result of a lifetime of hard work. They remember the way it was when they were children.

In those days Granny and Grandpa spent their last years sitting by the fireplace in big family homes, tending the young ones, counselling their married sons and daughters from the depths of their long experience.

But more and more, that picture has changed. Today's houses, for instance, are usually too small for elderly folks to have any privacy away from the children.

Young couples, even middle-aged couples go away more on weekends. More women work. There is often no one at home to care for an elderly relative. Today's trend is for the old folks to remain on their own until disability creeps upon them.

Then comes the crucial day when a son or daughter says, "We've got to find a place for Grannie."

And on that day, the son and daughter, the grandchildren and most sadly, the old folks themselves, are faced with problems and often grim experiences that might be avoided if more of us would concern ourselves with a future we can't avoid.

"It's Quebec . . . they say they have the bomb!"

. . . UNITY

minority in their midst, would hit them hard.

The country was hearing much "of the separatism brought about by a revolutionary political decision" on the part of a French-speaking minority, "asking not for adjustments but for a breakup."

"Separation of this kind would not occur in a tranquil or a rational way. It would shatter the hopes and dreams of millions of Canadians, particularly young Canadians.

"It would create an atmosphere of disillusionment and bitterness . . .

"The problem would not merely be one of Quebec versus Canada. It could become one of wider fragmentation. Would foreign investors stop investing in the rest of Canada?"

"A separated Quebec could not expect any easy, automatic economic union with a continuing Canada, to ease the dislocations and losses that would follow." Investment and employment would decline, the standard of living would fall.

SEES SERIOUS LOSS

But the most serious result would be the loss of opportunity for the people of Quebec "to participate in the development of a Confederation covering half a continent and which could become one of the great countries of the world."

"It would not be the intellectuals, the technocrats, the bureaucrats who would suffer this loss. It would be the workers, the farmers, the merchants, the housewives, the children, the students who would lose most in the limitation of their opportunity for social development and material progress.

"Nor would French-Canadian society as a whole be better preserved or strengthened or enlarged under such circumstances. The 1,000,000 French-speaking Canadians living outside of Quebec, one-sixth of the whole, would be abandoned. The effort to preserve French-Canadian culture, after separation, would have to be solely within Quebec."

URGES NEW THINKING

The prime minister said that "the customary processes of initiative and accommodation" will no longer suffice to work out Canada's future. "We must engage in a more fundamental sort of questioning."

While the answer remained difficult, the basic question was clear and simple: "What price are we prepared to pay to preserve our total identity as Canadians?

"What are we prepared to do, not only to preserve our two cultural societies in a federal political unity but also to allow them both to develop fully?"

The answer "will involve, for many English-speaking Canadians, a change in attitude and approach to, and a greater respect for the French fact in our country, our Confederation."

"It means that we must make all Canada, and not merely Quebec, a homeland for all French-Canadians and to take the steps necessary for that purpose."

. . . LEVESQUE

procedural dispute showed the Levesque forces were headed for crushing defeat, the party leader, Mr. Lesage, said he would step down if the Levesque resolution were carried.

The spectacular public climax of the convention was Rene Levesque's resignation late Saturday afternoon, after he had made an eloquent defence of his resolution.

CRUCIAL TEST

But a more crucial test of the success of the campaign begun by Mr. Kierans to put the party on a clearly pro-Confederation course passed without fanfare.

Paul Gerin-Lajoie, chairman of the party's constitutional committee and author of the controversial report favoring a greatly enlarged special status for Quebec, accepted without public protest the motion to refer his report to the policy commission for further study.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie, a strong nationalist and advocate of a republican form of government for Quebec, had insisted up to the time the convention opened that his report and the anti-separatist resolution were part of the same package.

Voting for the resolution, he had maintained, meant adopting the essential content of his report as party policy. If there were any disagreement on this point, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie said on the day before the congress opened, it would have to be cleared up when the delegates were assembled.

But the last word came from Mr. Lesage at the congress when he said that nothing that was not in the resolution itself was being adopted as policy by the party. He said however that the report would be studied, in the course of the party's efforts to define the content of the special status it favors for Quebec.

For Mr. Gerin-Lajoie, this was the second compromise on the issue.

The first was the drafting of the anti-separatist resolution, which basically contradicted his report, and its submission to the congress in the name of the constitutional committee of which he was chairman.

Mr. Kierans, with the aid of former cultural affairs minister Pierre Laporte, was chiefly responsible for the resolution that commits the party to a strongly pro-Confederation policy, ruling out threats of seccession in negotiations with the rest of Canada.

TWO MEN

The party's constitutional stand now rests mainly on the aligned strength in the party of Mr. Kieransa nd Mr. Laporte.

Mr. Laporte, one of the most able parliamentarians and political strategists among Quebec Liberals, is now regarded as having gained a strong lead over Mr. Gerin-Lajoie as the most likely successor to Mr. Lesage.

The division of the party brought on by the forced resignation of Mr. Levesque was less serious than many Liberals had feared.

No other member of the legislature followed Mr. Levesque out of the party although two, Robert Bourassa and Yves Michaud, had for a time been expected to support him.

A group of nine well-known party workers, headed by Montreal lawyer Marc Briere, left the party with Mr. Levesque and another 200 delegates to the convention, many of them students, also resigned.

Mr. Levesque said that he had had no talks with either of the two Separatist parties in Quebec. His plan for the immediate future is to continue working for his goal of a "Canadian union" with the help of the group of supporters he now has.

But he predicted, at a press conference after his resignation, that within four years a party that shared his basic outlook would either be in power or be the official opposition in the Quebec legislature.

draft will have to be made in a synagogue or a church."

Poet Robert Lowell and writer Dwight Macdonald are scheduled to address a demonstration outside the justice department in Washington Friday. After the demonstration the Rev. Coffin said, he will turn in to federal authorities hundreds of draft cards.

PATRIOTS RALLY

Counter demonstrations were planned by the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism, headquartered in New York. Parades supporting "our boys in Vietnam" are scheduled Saturday and Sunday across the country, according to committee executive director Charles W. Wiley.

The committee for responsible patriotism also urged supporters of the U.S. involvement in Vietnam to drive with their headlights on during the weekend.

A teach-in was planned tonight at the University of California at Berkeley. Gov. Ronald Reagan has labeled the protesters' use of a campus facility as "an intolerable situation."

DRAFT CARDS GET PASTED

LONDON (UPI)—A group of American students today pasted their draft cards on the U.S. embassy door in a soggy anti-Vietnam demonstration.

About 90 other students and British anti-Vietnam agitators paraded through pouring rain around Grosvenor Square carrying placards reading "We Won't Go," "Resist," and "Women Want Love, Not War."

The transfer marked the final, physical removal of the 15-nation organization from French territory following President de Gaulle's decision last year to withdraw France from NATO's integrated military command.

L.A. Bush Blazes Destroy 26 Homes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Brush fires spread destruction in dry Los Angeles residential areas Sunday and today, destroying 26 homes and threatening 100 more and leaving one dead in their wake.

Two major fires had blackened an estimated 26,000 acres by early today with firemen worrying that hot dry winds that fanned the flames Sunday might return.

One blaze was at Chatsworth, about 30 miles northwest of here. That 10,000-acre fire destroyed four homes today and 100 others were in its path.

Twenty-two homes were destroyed Sunday.

About 10 miles south of there a second fire burned toward new homes. However, firemen said no homes were threatened immediately.

About 1,000 firemen fought fingers of flame that moved over hills and into canyons and gullies.

Fire officials said the Chatsworth blaze combined with a 3,000-acre fire in the Simi Valley of southern Ventura County. Both fires were burning on a 20-mile perimeter bordering U.S. 101, the Ventura Freeway.

Fire department spokesmen said Janet Cameron was killed at Simi when a fire truck collided with her car. Two firemen and other motorists were sent to hospital. Traffic on the Ventura Freeway to the Simi area was backed up for eight miles at one point.

No homes were damaged in Simi but a tract of homes near Thousand Oaks was threatened during the night.

In Santa Paula, 100 miles northwest of Los Angeles, two ranches were destroyed in a blaze that had swept across 16,000 acres.

UC World Mission Secretary to Speak

Rev. Dr. Norman MacKenzie, associate secretary for the Board of World Mission of the United Church of Canada, will visit Victoria Wednesday.

He will speak on Opening and Closing Doors in Overseas Work at First United Church, 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and a discussion will fololw.

Dr. MacKenzie has served the church in China, West Africa and India and returned only recently from overseas.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Skies were mostly cloudy in B.C. this morning but a ridge of high pressure building over the south coast is expected to result in a slow clearing trend. Some showers will, however, persist on the north coast. Another Pacific storm will give rain to the outer coast tonight with the rain expected in all coastal areas by morning and spreading into the interior later in the day.

War Supplies Stalled In Bombed Haiphong

From Reuters-AP

SAIGON (CP)—Vice-Admiral John J. Hyland, commander of the U.S. Seventh Fleet, said today navy bombing has turned the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong into a "virtual island," with war supplies piling up.

He said his pilots have knocked out all four bridges used for moving supplies inland. Pontoon bridges built to replace them could not carry the weight of ordinary bridges although some supplies moved over them.

The admiral said that from a military point of view, it would be easier and might be more effective to mine the harbor. Mines could be swept but "if the port was mined it would make a lot of additional problems for the enemy."

Opponents of mining have argued it would create the risk of an incident involving foreign ships, particularly Russian.

SUPPLIES SPREAD AROUND

Hyland said air reconnaissance photos show what appear to be supplies spread around in Haiphong parks.

The bridge bombing made it much more difficult for North Vietnam to use war materials brought in by sea for "aggression in the South," with the result that American troops "end up with fewer casualties."

Meanwhile, U.S. B-52 bombers swept into North Vietnam 50 miles above the so-called demilitarized zone Sunday—their deepest raid in 10 months—and blasted the Mu Gia Pass, the entry to the Ho Chi Minh troop and supply trail to the south.

The eight-engine, $8,000,000 bombers are usually kept away from possible danger from North Vietnamese missiles, which can reach them even at the 30,000-foot altitudes where they fly.

The bombers struck truck parts, supply concentrations and fuel storage sites at the pass after coming from Thailand over Laos so they would be in North Vietnam only briefly.

DAMAGE HEAVY

The U.S. command reported heavy damage to at least three of five targets in the Hanoi-Haiphong area that were hit for the first time Saturday. They included boatyards, a storage area and a radar installation.

The U.S. command reported three plane losses during the weekend. They brought to 701 the number of combat planes announced as downed over the North.

In South Vietnam, most reports of ground action involved harassing attacks along the demilitarized zone and on isolated U.S. and South Vietnamese outposts.

THREAT OF CHINA WAR SERIOUS—MANSFIELD

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Mike Mansfield, U.S. Senate majority leader, warned Saturday night against the U.S. taking lightly the threat of an all-out war with China, especially since U.S. bombers already are striking within 30 seconds of the Chinese border.

"The situation which has grown out of the war in Vietnam is the most serious and complex with which this nation has been confronted since the end of the Second World War," Mansfield said.

"What has happened so far may well be only a prelude, unless the war can be brought to an honorable conclusion in the near future," he said.

SEN. MANSFIELD

Americans Claim S. Viet Reforms

SAIGON (AP)—American officials believe that for the first time they have successfully forced South Vietnam's leaders into some major reforms.

But U.S. sources say the reforms have only scratched the surface. Much depends, they say, on how the new regime of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice-President-elect Nguyen Cao Ky behaves.

U.S. pressure for reform is believed to include placing Thieu's junta on notice that the U.S. would not tolerate any attempt to brush aside the country's newly-elected Congress in favor of rule by decree.

A qualified source described both Thieu and Ky as reform-minded but would not extend this description to the rest of the officers making up the present military government.

Recent evidence of effective U.S. pressure, one source said, was the removal of six province chiefs and from 40 to 50 district chiefs on charges of corruption and incompetence. Yet there were signs that at least some of the dismissals were the result of personal rivalries rather than a desire for good government.

PROGRAM OVERHAULED

In a parallel development, reliable sources said U.S. and Vietnamese officials have worked out a major overhaul of the much-criticized pacification program to win over the countryside from the Communists.

The plan gives Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, regarded by U.S. officials as hard-working, shrewd and incorruptible, greater powers to carry out the program. U.S. sources believe he may be able to claim honest success in 80 per cent of 1,100 hamlets where he has started pacification work.

Thang, father of the latest pacification program but apparently waning in influence several months ago, will become deputy chief of the joint general staff and de facto commander of the territorial security forces. He will have wide powers to weed out corrupt regional officials.

U.S. BOMB HITS MARINES

SAIGON (Reuters) — An American air strike Sunday accidentally hit U.S. positions near the demilitarized zone for the second time in three days, killing three and wounding nine marines.

A U.S. military spokesman here said today a plane was blasting North Vietnamese positions in a dawn raid, two miles southwest of the forward combat base of Con Thien, located just south of the buffer zone, when one of its bombs fell short and exploded in marine positions.

Two marines were killed and 21 wounded Friday when a marine fighter-bomber dropped two bombs on the perimeter of Con Thien, target of steady pressure from North Vietnamese troops and artillery.

HELPED SINK BATTLESHIP

Germans at Memorial Service

PORTSMOUTH, England (Reuters) — Four members of the crew of the German submarine U-47 that sank the British battleship Royal Oak at the start of the Second World War placed wreaths Saturday at a memorial service here for the 800 British sailors killed in the attack.

More than 200 persons gathered in blustery, wet weather at the naval memorial to mark the 28th anniversary of the sinking of the huge battleship at Scapa Flow, in northeast Scotland, in 1939.

The four Germans were torpedo mechanic Herbert Herrmann, who now lives in Scotland, navigator Wilhelm Spahr, from Hamburg, bosun Ernest Dziallas and chief engineer Kurt Roemer.

About 500 protests were received by organizers of the ceremony because they invited the 11 surviving members of the crew of the submarine, itself sunk later in the war.

QOR RETURNING HOME AFTER UN CYPRUS TOUR

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Canadian troops serving here with the United Nations peace-keeping force are being replaced this week after a six-month tour of duty.

The Second Battalion of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada and a reconnaissance squadron of the Royal Canadian Dragons are handing over to an armored car squadron of the Fort Gary Horse and the First Battalion of the Black Watch.

The Canadian troops escort convoys through territory held by Turkish Cypriots between Nicosia and Kyrenia and man outposts along the rugged Kyrenia Range on the north coast, where armed Greek and Turkish Cypriots confront each other.

'Take a Bride' Critic Urges Heath

By CARL MOLLINS

LONDON (CP)—Personal traits of Britain's rival party leaders have sidled into the political limelight on the third anniversary of the Labor party's electoral takeover from the Conservatives.

Edward Heath's capacity as leader of the opposition Conservatives is questioned on the ground that his personality is not robust enough.

Prime Minister Wilson's camp is determined to scotch "various false and malicious rumors . . . concerning his personal character and integrity," as a High Court judge was told last week in a successful Wilson libel action.

With the Conservative party's annual conference opening Wednesday in Brighton and Parliament's autumn re-assembly a week away, public debate on Heath's leadership has reached a crescendo.

NEEDS MORE BOUNCE

Gerald Nabarro, a flamboyant Tory whose criticism provoked cancellation of a party speaking date last week, says Heath should show "much more raciness, much more bounce, much more showmanship."

Nabarro also expressed a wish that Heath, a music-loving bachelor yachtsman, would "carry a beautiful bride over the threshold."

Results of an opinion poll published Sunday show Heath supported as party leader by only 38 per cent of Conservatives and just 34 per cent of all voters. While 39 per cent of women voters favor Heath over other top Tories, only 28 per cent of the men approve.

At the prime minister's residence, a spokesman said Sunday night Wilson's lawyer is dealing with an article about personalities at 10 Downing Street. The article appeared in The International Herald Tribune, an American newspaper published in Paris and distributed in Britain.

One British distributor withdrew some copies containing the article last Thursday, but others were sold. Some British newspapers referred obliquely to the article's contents during the weekend.

In the High Court last Wednesday, lawyers representing The Move pop group apologized for libelling Wilson on a postcard designed to publicize a new record. They agreed to pay the money earned by the music to charities designated by Wilson.

Fare Fight Strands Truce Team

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP). — A French airline that carries International Control Commission members to Saigon, Hanoi and Vientiane has cancelled flights until the commission pays its bill, informed sources reported today.

As a result, Jan Vitek, Polish member of the commission based in Vientiane, has been stranded in Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital. Canada and India are the other members of the three-nation commission.

The airline is Citca. Vientiane sources said the commission, named by the 1954 Geneva convention to police the truce in Indochina, owes Citca about $580,000.

Major countries contributing to the commission's upkeep are the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and China.

The informants said they understood France and the Soviet Union have paid in full, China has contributed nothing for some time, Britain is behind in payments and the United States has held its payments up until the commission repays a loan it obtained for helicopters.

Sources close to the commission in Saigon confirmed that the flights had been halted by the payments dispute.

Students Study Church Careers

Local religious groups and the Alma Mater Society of the University of Victoria will hold a day-long conference Tuesday on church vocations.

The conference, in the upper lounge of the Student Union Building, is to aid students to explore full-time non-ordained careers in the church and will include speakers and films.

'Children's Battle' Urged in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Chinese Communist bombs today wounded a 16-year-old bomb-throwing suspect on a roof and an army demolition expert in the colony's fifth day of mounting terrorism. By noon, nearly 70 bombs had been uncovered.

Two terrorists were blown up by their own explosive charge Sunday, bringing to four the number killed since the stepped up intimidation campaign against British authorities began last week. A third suspected terrorist, wounded in the same blast, was in critical condition in hospital.

Forty-three persons have been killed since the Communist-incited rioting and labor strife began last May.

The Communists issued a call for more violence, including a "children's battle." Government officials said students are acting as bomb couriers and pro-Communist schools as depots for explosives.

Hong Kong's Communist newspapers carried no reaction to London's demand for the release of a Hong Kong police inspector kidnapped across the Chinese border Saturday after an altercation with peasants over land rights.

The border bridge at Man Kam To, where Inspector F. G. Knight was abducted, was closed Sunday in answer to the kidnapping.

Communists placed almost 150 real and dummy bombs the length of Hong Kong island and Kowloon, across the harbor from the island, Sunday night. Traffic was stalled for hours as demolition experts set about deactivating and detonating bombs. A spokesman said there was a bomb at almost every intersection along Hong Kong's waterfront road and busy streets in the densely-populated Wanchai and Western districts.

British troops opened fire on a building under construction after bomb was thrown at them from the building—the first time they have done so since being called to riot duty in July.

He Lit Darkness

SAO PAULO, Brazil (Reuters)—Fire destroyed 26 planes Sunday at an air club field. Police arrested a pilot who they said admitted lighting a match in the hanger "because it was dark there." Officials estimated damage at more than $370,000.

A SPLIT SECOND IN ETERNITY
The Ancients Called It COSMIC CONSCIOUSNESS

Must man die to release his inner consciousness? Can we experience momentary flights of the soul—that is, become one with the universe and receive an influx of great understanding?

The shackles of the body—its earthly limitations—can be thrown off and man's mind can be attuned to the Infinite Wisdom for a flash of a second. During this brief interval intuitive knowledge, great inspiration, and a new vision of our life's mission are had. Some call this great experience a psychic phenomenon. But the ancients knew it and taught it as Cosmic Consciousness—the merging of man's mind with the Universal Intelligence.

Let this Free Book Explain

This is not a religious doctrine, but the application of simple, natural laws, which give man an insight into the great Cosmic plan. They make possible a source of great joy, strength and a regeneration of man's personal powers. Write to the Rosicrucians (AMORC), an age-old brotherhood of understanding, for a free copy of the book "The Mastery of Life." One Clear Voice

BY A VIRTUALLY UNANIMOUS decision the Quebec Liberal Party has rejected separatism and upheld the principle of confederation under a new constitution giving special status to the French-speaking province.

There was no equivocation about the issue. Mr. Lesage, the Party leader, advocated the policy eventually adopted and said he would immediately resign if it were not accepted by the membership. Mr. Levesque, who prepared the resolution advocating a separate, sovereign existence for Quebec with a tenuous, economic tie-in with the rest of Canada, likewise put his Liberal Party career on the line, and resigned as soon as the temper of the annual meeting became evident.

The impact of the wholesale Liberal rejection of separatism should be considerable in Quebec. Mr. Levesque has been one of the leading voices advocating an independent course for the province. It is significant that at the moment of truth, when his party had to decide clearly between one policy and the other, only nine votes were counted in favor of his policy, compared with more than 1,200 against.

That is a valuable clarification of at least one aspect of the Confederation problem. The obvious question now is: What proportion of the great body of the people of Quebec would register a similar opinion if it came to a ballot? It is a question fraught with vital significance for Canada, and one which ultimately must be answered.

The vote for Mr. Lesage's policy does not, of course, solve the problem. There still remains a need for complete clarification of what is implied in the concepts of "special status" and "new constitution." These could run from fairly innocuous provisions to extremes which might prove impossible to implement.

But the decisive stand of the Quebec Liberals has at least set a limit to the breadth of the problem. That portion of the people of Quebec represented at the annual Party membership meeting last weekend want their province to remain a part of Confederation. They have set an example and a pace which other political groups in Quebec should emulate. The whole problem of Quebec's relationship to Confederation has too long been confused and exacerbated by cloudy terms and ambiguous statements from spokesmen at various levels. A good deal of fear and speculation might prove unfounded if we could hear directly from the people themselves.

Unduly Prolonged Emergency

MRS. HELEN VLACHOU, THE conservative Greek newspaper publisher who shut down her press rather than publish the propaganda issued by the military dictatorship, smuggled a message out of the country while she was under house arrest and before being taken into custody.

The message was addressed to the International Press Institute in Switzerland and its gist was simple: Keep up the attacks on the Greek regime. "Don't stop writing about Greece," she asks. "Don't stop asking why the Greek government is not keeping its promises . . . they have all declared that some kind of press freedom would be restored . . . Even a pseudo-freedom would help . . . the Greek people will not hear all the truth, but at least will not be poisoned and duped by massive daily doses of lies and propaganda."

The military junta which seized control of Greece last April did so on the grounds of "purifying the nation" of Communism, corruption and immorality. But, says the International Commission of Jurists, a respected body of judges and lawyers: "The acts of those in power . . . are not only incompatible with the Rule of Law, but also in open contradiction to their own statements of policy. It would seem most dangerous to claim . . . to be restoring democracy by uprooting it . . . The censorship of the works of great classical authors, and the obligation on civil servants to go to mass (regardless of their religious belief) will not bring into being a high moral order or any kind of order."

Cataloguing the long list of the "more notorious" actions of the regime—the mass arrests, dismemberment of the bar and rigid control of the courts, censorship of the press and enforced publication of propaganda, rendering non-existent all freedom of opinion and expression, depriving citizens of their right to take part in the government of their country, and more — the jurists' group stated in its latest bulletin: 'Each day seems to bring a worsening in the situation."

Surely after six months the time has come for the Western allies of Greece to express their displeasure with the military dictatorship more openly, to make it clear that unless the promised restoration of democratic procedures is speeded up the existing ties will be cut.

The Money, Not the Principle

ALDERMAN MARTIN LUKAITIS of Duncan proposes a very practical but unacceptable philosophy of crime and punishment to members of that city's council.

He thinks the attorney-general's department should increase the scale of court fines "so the whole system of law enforcement comes closer to being self-supporting." Duncan, he pointed out, has been asked by the RCMP to finance another constable and has to meet its share of an increased salary for the local magistrate.

Conceivably fines should be raised to conform to the financial standards of today's affluent society, but not for the reason the alderman suggests. A fine is a sanction to be applied to a wrong-doer in the hope that it will act as a deterrent. It is not, per se, a gold claim to be mined merely because the city is feeling the pinch of rising costs.

Mr. Lukaitis should contemplate the ultimate possibility of the procedure he advocates: an onslaught on the public by the police to wring revenue from it—an approach which does considerable violence to the principle of justice, and which could be costly if convicted persons took the option of time in jail rather than a fine.

A Job Well Done

THE RESIGNATION OF MR. John Fisher from the centennial commission — with the explanation that he considers his task in that field virtually completed and seeks release to accept another appointment in the newspaper field — has taken men in high places by surprise.

Prime Minister Pearson acknowledged the fact in the Commons this week as he joined others in tribute to the work Mr. Fisher had accomplished for Canada in its centennial year.

The sentiments voiced by the Prime Minister, and others of similar mind in Parliament, reflect widespread public appreciation for Mr. Fisher's services. The success of the nation's 100th birthday events owe much to his efforts to make the public aware of the celebrations and their historical importance. Mr. Pearson's hope that suitable recognition will be accorded Mr. Fisher will be shared by those who understand the tasks he has so ably discharged.

Hurrying in Two Different Directions

FRANCE is in a hurry. Britain is in a hurry. What is the upshot of all the hurry? Indefinite delay. That's the summing-up of Britain's chances of getting into the Common Market, reported this week by French politicians and correspondents visiting London. Echoing the middle-aged prayer — give me chastity, O Lord, but not yet—the visitors agreed that Britain is bound to come into Europe eventually. But not yet, mon vieux, not yet.

Harvey

Jean - Claude Servan - Schrieber, matinee-idol French deputy and television personality, told a private dinner meeting that he personally, as an old Oxford man, hopes and prays for British entry. He then listed a dozen reasons why his political chief, President Charles de Gaulle, would keep the door bolted.

He predicted there will be no French veto, just interminable wrangling. He implied that Paris will find all the material it needs to stall indefinitely in the report of the European Economic Commission, which says the Six should open negotiations with Britain but at the same time asks searching questions about the British economy. (This section of the report was written by a Frenchman, Raymond Barre, whose name may be an omen.)

Velvet Glove

On a separate visit, 14 prominent French political writers had interviews in London with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other leading ministers.

The word from the French journalists is that the veto, if any, will be a velvet one. Negotiators will just keep on stalling, without saying "no" outright. The correspondents forecast that when the EEC ministers meet in Luxembourg Oct. 23-24 to discuss whether negotiations with Britain should begin, France will propose that the Six should first discuss among themselves the reservations raised in the EEC report, an exercise that could be spun out for months.

In private conversations, visiting journalists asked why Mr. Wilson is in such a hurry to get negotiations started. Wouldn't it be more reasonable, they suggested, to accept associate membership and wait for the situation to mature? British ministers, however, react strongly to any such suggestion as a blow to their pride.

French opinion agrees that if Britain is in a hurry, so is France. General de Gaulle will be 77 in November. He is anxious to complete his grand political designs and make them irreversible before time runs out on him. The trouble is that the two men in a hurry have different aims—Mr. Wilson to get into Europe and President de Gaulle to keep him out, at least until East-West reconciliation is achieved. Britain's Atlantic links, the French president argues, would complicate the Atlantic-to-the-Urals dream.

The French position is much stronger than it appeared two months ago. In a surprise move, the political centre in France has aligned itself with the Gaullists, giving de Gaulle at least temporarily a much more secure parliamentary base.

No Attack On Unfit

Toronto Daily Star

MANY a good cause has been injured by indiscreet supporters. Mrs. Grace McInnis, NDP member of Parliament for Vancouver Kingsway, may have done some harm to the cause of liberalized abortion laws by an unfortunate turn of phase.

Mrs. McInnis was speaking in the House of Commons health and welfare committee, in favor of a provision which would authorize abortion to prevent the birth of defective of malformed child. It was not in Canada's interest, she said, to encourage the birth of such children: "It is time that we started working toward a quality population."

"Super-Race" Cry

Opponents of abortion reform leaped on this remark with glad cries. Mrs. McInnis was accused of trying to create a "super-race" by eliminating the unfit, and giving the government the right to determine who would have children.

If the debate over abortion reform is not to go off the rails, it is essential that certain points should be borne in mind:

No one is advocating abortion as a means of improving the race or eliminating any particilar race or class of people.

No one proposed to make abortion compulsory under any circumstances. In all the legislation that has been suggested, the consent of the woman or girl involved would be necessary; and if she was under a certain age her parents or other guardians would also have to consent.

Under the present provisions of the Criminal Code, a doctor may legally perform an abortion only if it is necessary to save the life of the mother.

Basic Proposal

The basic change in the law which all advocates of liberalization want, would authorize doctors to perform an abortion where continuation of the pregnancy would endanger, not necessarily the life, but the physical or mental health of the mother. Many members of Parliament are prepared to go further and support legislation which would legalize abortion when the pregnancy is the result of rape or incest; when the child is likely to be grossly deformed or an idiot; or when the birth of the child would create a risk to the future well-being of the mother or her other children.

These proposals are certain to arouse bitter controversy. But they should be discussed on their own merits—not mixed up with unfounded fears of genocide.

Constitutional 'Fair Shares' Must Be Fairly Applied

THE Quebec Liberals' repudiation of the separatist doctrine enunciated by Mr. Levesque may do little to reduce the tensions in the country. The special status sought by the Quebec Liberals so far exceeds the special position recognized in the British North America Act and would so prejudicially affect the basic structure of Confederation that it is difficult to see how it could possibly be accepted by people in other provinces. It is apparent from the nature of the special status outlined in the report of the constitution committee that the Canadian debate has changed in a very important way. The original emphasis was upon the grievances not merely of Quebec but of French-Canadians generally. It can be argued persuasively (as it was at the recent federal Conservative convention) that the French minority in other provinces has been treated less fairly than the English minority in Quebec. Thus the issue has appeared to be equality of rights or, when set in economic terms, "fair shares" and this has naturally aroused much sympathy among English-speaking persons.

Western

Imposition

As now outlined by Mr. Gerin-Lajoie and his colleagues of the constitutional committee however, special status looks very much like an attempt to impose Quebec's will on the rest of the country. There is a very definite assumption in the report that the powers claimed by Quebec will not be claimed by other provinces. Without this assumption the scheme, which is probably unworkable in any case, would be utterly preposterous.

The new constitution sought by Quebec Liberals would ensure the new republican state of Quebec control over radio and television, selection of immigrants, manpower policy, all welfare, certain categories of transport, marriage and divorce, undersea rights, maritime fisheries and insurance. Quebec would have greater powers in economic planning and must be accorded a direct role in the planning of monetary and tariff policy for the whole of Canada. The Supreme Court of Canada would be displaced in favor of a final Quebec court of appeal and, in disputes over jurisdiction, a "real constitutional tribunal." Quebec would also be free to enter into international agreements in fields within its own jurisdiction.

One might assume, at first glance, that Mr. Gerin-Lajoie has been drawing on the constitutional experience of some emergent African states. Thus Uganda is a republic but its constitution deferred sufficiently to tribal loyalties to establish a federal relationship between the central government and four kingdoms. Unfortunately this noble experiment ended in discord with troops shelling the palace of the King of Buganda and chasing him out of the country.

Unlikely

Whether for this or other reasons, the committee is evidently in some doubt about the republican solution as applied solely to the state of Quebec. Its solution, put forward rather politely, is that the whole country should change its institutions to conform with the Quebec pattern. That this will appear reasonable to the rest of Canada seems unlikely. It seems equally improbable that it will butter any bread on Quebec tables.

There is a certain logic in linking control of manpower policy and control of immigration. The obvious effect would be to destroy the freedom of movement within Confederation. How then could Canada continue to be the the common homeland of the Canadians?

There is sometimes an assumption in public discussion that a new, up-to-date, mid-20th century constitution would dispose once and for all of the conflicts which disturb the harmony of federal provincial relations. This is completely unrealistic. The sequel would certainly be an attempt by the various governments to test the limits of their new jurisdictions; this surely is implicit in the Quebec report which sets out minimum claims. We may be sure that the new constitutional court will be so constituted as to be more sympathetic than the present Supreme Court to provincial aspirations—else what is the point of creating it?

One may be very charitable and suppose that the new Quebec state will so-interpret the new powers as to enable the federal government to continue to perform its functions with the least possible difficulty. One may also believe that there are fairies at the bottom of the garden.

International

On the sensible assumption that the Quebec government will do what comes naturally to governments and press its jurisdiction to the limit, it must be obvious that the Lesage Liberals hope to play a considerable role on the international stage. They have no intention of settling for Mr. Paul Martin's "accord cadre." According to our foreign minister, speaking on Wednesday night, "We cannot have any constituent element in our country engaged in an international arrangement with a sovereign power."

Not only is it proposed that Quebec should be entitled to enter into such arrangements within a greatly broadened field of jurisdiction; it is also maintained that the new state will have the right to membership in international organizations dealing with these matters.

Special status would also accord Quebec a direct role in planning tariff and monetary policies. If the committee is correct in believing that other provinces will enter no such demands on Ottawa, we will obviously have a two-tier arrangement with the new republic exercising rights not belonging to its former equals. Even if the new role falls short of a veto, Quebec will manifestly have a position of privilege as compared with Manitoba or Saskatchewan.

But does the committee have any right to assume that the other provinces will obligingly accept a subordinate role so that all these sensitive matters can be adjusted between Ottawa and Quebec City? This surely is not so very different from Mr. Levesque's bland assumption that, after the destruction of the country, we will all come cheerfully to the table, as if nothing had happened, and work out common market arrangements in the spirit of good, pragmatic businessmen closing a profitable deal.

Decimalized

What happens if the other provinces, some of which have enjoyed 100 years of equality, insist on equality now? Then we shall have 10 CBCs (not to mention CTVs), 10 immigration policies, 10 governments regulating manpower, 10 vetoes on tariff and monetary policy, 10 governments entering into agreements with sovereign powers and claiming seats on international organizations. The country, having been saved from separatism, would simply fly apart.

Merely by following Quebec's example, the other provinces would, of course, remove the special character from special status. It has to be assumed that they would not follow or the whole proposition is ridiculous. But making that assumption, it is surely clear that the Lesage Liberals are not now contending for equal rights (although some of their other proposals are inspired by that consideration) or for "fair shares" in a new confederation.

They are attempting to impose a pattern and institutions on the rest of Canada. There is no reason why demands of this character should be sympathetically entertained by other groups of Canadians, including the French-Canadians outside Quebec whose present hopes would probably be the first victims of this folly.

Looking Back

From The Times, Oct. 16, 1907.

After one of the longest trips in many years by a local sealing schooner, the Victoria, Capt. Widdon returned to port this afternoon from the Bering Sea with 274 pelts. The Victoria left here on December 18 of last year.

It is evident from reports brought by the schooner that seal catches will all be small this year. The drain on the Bering sea which has been going on for many years, is now beginning to make itself felt. Good catches are becoming a rarity.

Best 'Young Canadians' Bound to Get in Trouble

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

We hesitate each time before writing about the Company of Young Canadians. It has become such a whipping target for the righteous.

We remind ourselves that the company is still experimental: It has been going less than two years. It doesn't cost that much (less than $2,000,000 a year). Indeed it isn't big enough yet to do much harm or good or even be dangerous.

Fisher

Six weeks ago we wrote that the problems besetting the company should not be blamed on the leadership or an overload of kooky types.

We plumped for the simple explanation that "there aren't enough able, serious young Canadians willing to give a year or two of their lives to service within Canada on projects which are at the periphery of our society and economy."

Since then we've been buttonholed by several of the company's volunteers. They disagree with much of the nasty press their organization has been getting.

Crowe

They didn't rate our last piece as vicious or completely destructive but they felt we were unfair because we hadn't bothered to look at some of the successful projects or at members of the company less notorious than David DePoe or Lynn Curtis.

It happened that one of us has been in touch with a "volunteer" for some months and he happened to come east last week from his working base in Calgary.

He looked us up and presented an engaging case for the company. What follows is our paraphrase and compression of his arguments.

His name is Bernie Muzeen: At 29 he's older than most of the volunteers, has qualifications and successful working time as a mechanical engineer, and much pre-company experience in boys' work.

A year ago August, Bernie went to Calgary at the request of a committee representing 14 agencies (such as the National Council of Jewish Women, the YMCA, the Junior League) to work in Victoria Park, a section of Calgary which time and progress had left behind.

Victoria Park was a rectangle of about 20 city blocks with much old housing in a mixture of minor businesses. There's migration in and out of Victoria Park. Responsible people were saying "something has to be done about the Victoria Park areas."

Bernie was expected to survey the area and find out what its problems seemed to be in terms of people and organizations.

What help and assistance was needed? Who should give it? What future did the area have? What future for it was in the minds of its residents?

In the first months on the scene Bernie took a room in the area, then he made over a thousand visits to homes and businesses, quizzing people, talking to them about their concerns.

He began to build up acquaintances and a personal recognition, especially with the kids and their mothers. By Christmas he had identified at least 30 major concerns of the people.

He couldn't take up so many for further study so he decided to concentrate on four: Recreation for youth; dropouts from school; the Metis-Indian difficulties as city-dwellers; urban renewal.

Urban renewal was exciting both renters and property-owners in the area because a chunk of it was supposed to become part of an expanded Calgary Stampede grounds.

Bernie won't make claims about his work other than to point out that a residents' committee was formed after his arrival, that his organization has a working executive, a chairman for each of the blocks in the area, and already, a record for getting attention and a response from officials and politicians at all three levels of government.

Mr. Muzeen showed us a copy of a brief prepared by the residents' committee on urban renewal and public housing. It is impressive, cogently expressed, reflecting much knowledge, and concluding with very positive recommendations.

The greatest pride of the CYC man is that he didn't write the brief, he didn't prod or shove the local people into doing it. This was their own achievement, reached through the difficult democratic way of countless meetings and discussions.

Mr. Muzeen told us that once the stimulation he brought the residents began to lead to their activity, many of the persons in the agencies which sponsored him began to worry.

They began to doubt him. They thought he was identifying too closely with the people, that he erred in his responsibility in not reporting back to them often enough.

He began to hear that he was "rocking the boat," he heard that he was a political leftist and agitator.

This last charge has its humor because we know him as one of those rather rare activists in social matters who seem incapable of partisanship.

His point to us was that anyone who does work leading to the creation of organized activity by citizens is suspect, especially by people already in politics or welfare work.

Thus any CYC volunteer worth his salt is very likely to get into trouble with somebody especially with persons in the governing, administering, and politicking establishments.

This volunteer believes that MPs who passed the bill creating the company "didn't know what they were about."

Nor did the first volunteers realize how tough the work was going to be, especially on projects in small, remote towns or in hinterland Indian reservations.

The company hasn't any open-end, continuing projects in which a routine and a pattern develops. This the challenge is to the creative and to the persistent.

Many volunteers have not been able to take the total immersion, the 24 hours a day commitment.

Some have become big-headed after initial successes and have thought themselves heroic and their work something monumental.

Mr. Muzeen believes volunteers shouldn't stay long in one place. Even two years is very long. Volunteers need assistance continually, especially in keeping a sense of proportion about success and failure, praise and persecution.

He believes there are literally thousands of places in Canada where CYC volunteers can do great work for a brief time in bringing people together to help themselves, especially to launch participation in public affairs.

Certainly, such work as catalysts, as prompters of organization and action, seems to be the main objective of the company at this time.

In our minds, this work is by and large what political parties and political partisans should be undertaking. And because of its nature — so much or so nearly political — the company is likely to be in trouble and under attack so long as this main objective is retained.

But if the company is fortunate enough to have a goodly proportion of Muzeens it may continue on and on and be worthwhile.

'Filling Pots' Not Education

By CHARLES D. OVANS
General Secretary, B.C. Teachers' Federation

A great deal of prominence has been given to the findings of a University of British Columbia geography professor with regard to his students' poor knowledge of Canadian geography.

However, in looking at the professor's findings, I believe that we must take into account the purpose of education.

If the purpose of education is to fill a student with facts and expect him to recite these facts on command, then perhaps there is room for criticism. However, if the purpose of education is to teach a student to think for himself, the fact that a student has an ignorance of geographical facts about Canada is of no great consequence.

Those who think it is of great consequence are unconsciously adopting what the prominent British educator, Sir Alex Clegg, has called the "pot-filling" purpose of teaching.

Doing a Poor Job

In terms of this concept the child's mind is a pot and the teacher's job is to fill it as full as possible with important facts. Obviously, the teachers of Canada, at first glance at least, aren't doing a very good job of "pot-filling." They shouldn't be to blame for this.

The alternative concept as expressed by Sir Alex was that the teacher's function was that of "fire lighter" to light fires under children, to the point that they would wish to learn for themselves. The other purpose, of course, is the development of the mind, the power to think, and knowing a lot of bare facts may not be at all important in terms of that consideration.

The modern concept is that there is little point in teaching facts, because they only disappear from the mind anyway, unless used and used fairly regularly. And there are so many facts in today's world, due to the knowledge explosion, that one cannot possibly store in memory all of the important facts.

The U.S. educationist, Jerome Bruner, suggests, for example, that the mind can deal with only seven plus or minus two items at a time. He concludes from this that it is necessary to fill the mind with gold rather than dross. Gold could be represented by concepts, by principles, by laws, by theories and other like generalizations, and dross by bare facts.

Look Up Facts

Bare facts can always be looked up. This is another reason why teaching should not aim at the drilling of facts, no matter how important some people might consider them to be from a nationalistic or patriotic point of view.

While I do believe that students should have some knowledge of the geography of their country, the important, meaningful way of getting that kind of knowledge is to get around the country. Certainly in the national interest we should encourage the free movement of people, including students, all over Canada. In that way they will pick up geographic facts in a meaningful fashion.

Meaningful knowledge is that which grows directly out of experience. Where the experience is vital and meaningful to the child, the child can retain a great body of facts associated with that experience.

CHARLES OVANS
. . . urges more travel

Where the experience is not in any sense meaningful or real, where the child is asked to concern himself with something to be taught and learned and memorized and parrotted back — that is not general knowledge at all.

Not Significant

If publicity is to be given to such studies as those conducted at the University of British Columbia, then I think that the publicity should be related to the meaningful aspect of the study and again I say that it's not significant that students do not know the bare geographical facts.

I believe that the real significance of this study is that the young people of Canada are not getting around Canada as a whole and that they are not taking any serious interest in the problems of Canada as a nation.

The New Wave English Support Quebec's Aims

By FRED EDGE
(Last of a Series)

As Canadians, Quebecers play in the same game as all the rest of Canada — but they don't play by the same rules.

It comes down, simply, to this: The French-Canadian character is considerably different from the English Canadian one.

Understanding this is a vital factor in establishing full communication between English and French Canada, and through this complete national unity on a bilingual and a bicultural basis.

When you are a newcomer to today's Quebec, this difference in the French-Canadian characters shows itself in any number of ways, some of them fairly startling to an English Canadian.

The French-Canadian for instance, believes that little laws are made to be broken — like walking against red lights, and wheeling through stop signs with only a small drop in momentum, a common procedure known as "the Quebec stop."

He doesn't mind too much if big laws are broken, too, as long as it is done with a sense of flair.

Quebec's late premier Maurice Duplessis broke a few rules here and there (many Quebecers still refer to his reign of power as the "dark age of Quebec") but he wasn't much liked because he didn't do it with finesse.

Montreal's late Mayor Camilien Houde, on the other hand, broke a lot of rules — and everybody loved him. "He had such — such a flair," a French-Canadian will explain, with appropriate gestures.

On my way West recently, there were some 150 teen-age boys and girls on the train on their way home from Expo to Lethbridge, Alberta.

The supervising teachers told me they were just as wide-eyed about Montreal and Quebec itself as they were about Expo. They'd had great sport dodging cars in Montreal — a form of "chicken" played by pedestrians and motorists alike — and both the boys and girls were fascinated by the Quebec teen-age look.

For lack of a better comparison, young people in Quebec dress like London mods in French labels. Generally speaking, the boys wear their hair and sideburns long. The girls wear their hair short, rely heavily on dramatic eye makeup, and don't use lipstick.

As both boys and girls grow older, their appearance becomes a little less radical, but the fine sense of flair remains.

As an English-Canadian friend remarked with a small sigh when I first arrived: "In Quebec, even the homely girls are pretty."

On the surface, none of this would appear to have much to do with national unity among English and French-Canadians. In fact, it does.

The French-Canadian looks different, thinks different and acts and reacts differently from his fellow Canadians. His character is rooted in France — even though he has broken physically with these historic roots — and his own description of his nationality is "Canadien."

As long as I was in Quebec and although I made many friends among French-Canadians, I and all other English Canadians remained "a" Canadians, while they were "e" Canadiens.

The distinction will end when all of Canada is fully bilingual. Meanwhile, you can be sure that the Quebecer, both French and English Canadian, will play a hard-driving game on the political courts at Ottawa.

He has the voting power, and he intends to use it. He has the threat of separatism hanging like a baseball bat over Ottawa's head and he intends to use that, too.

And he has few scruples about breaking a rule here and there, or seizing an advantage as long as it furthers the Quebec objective — providing it is done with a certain flair.

Not long ago, a multi-million-dollar housing project was announced by Premier Daniel Johnson's ruling Union Nationale government to be begun sometime late this year or early next.

The government took full credit for this heady boom in the province's housing and economy, even though a very small part of the cost actually is to be borne by Quebec. The lion's share is to be supplied by Ottawa.

When I pointed this out to a French-Canadian friend who had been crowing loudly about Quebec's economic virility, he shrugged. "So what?" he said. "What does it matter where the money comes from, as long as Quebec gets it?"

When I asked him why such a windfall should go to Quebec so soon after Expo, he replied:

"So what? The West gets its wheat subsidies from Ottawa. So we get our own kind of subsidy."

"The Eastern provinces," I said, "could have used a project like this. They don't get wheat subsidies."

Again he shrugged. "We got there first. In Ottawa, it's every man for himself."

I did not meet many Quebecers who spoke quite as bluntly and as callously as this one did, but the same basic attitude is there. We want this for Quebec, it says. And we want this for Canada.

We are through with being a picturesque little part of Canada where people tap trees for maple syrup, whittle away at wood carvings, and speak a quaint, largely unknown language called French.

We will take what we can from Ottawa or elsewhere with any means at our disposal to give ourselves the good life.

We will keep our language and our culture and if the rest of Canada wishes to share it with us on an equal basis — just as we share theirs — we will all get along well together and go on to a unified future.

Failing that, our language, our culture and our province must come first. If it proves to be to our advantage to remain a part of Canada, we will, if not, then we will have to separate.

This was the attitude of the French-Canadians that I met during my two years in Quebec. It was an attitude, I found, that was shared by the "new wave" of English Canadians who live in Quebec.

It is an attitude that leaves no room for compromise.

The waiting period was a long one, and now it is over. It lasted 100 years.

Today's Quebecer won't wait another 100 years for national recognition. He may be prepared to talk about it today, but he wants it tomorrow.

The day after that sounds suspiciously like yesterday to the French-Canadians and their English Canadian supporters in the province of Quebec. It has the old, familiar ring of 1867, and all the years between.

THE WORLD NEEDS BETTER LIARS

By JOSEPH HORRELL
The Washington Post

The only truly effective way to close the credibility gap is to tell better lies.

The lie enjoys an honorable tradition in politics and diplomacy. Its exponents range from Plato, whose "royal lie" was a basis of his republic, to the recent American diplomat who entitled his memoirs "Lying In State," which he published after distinguished service to his country.

The efficacy of the lie has been recognized by all investigators of human credulity — Lucian, Cervantes, Swift, Oscar Wilde, Mark Twain, to mention only a few. No serious students ever suggested that truth is an effective substitute.

A glance at the basic principles of political lying, as these are embodied in one of the classical works on the subject, will quickly indicate how far present inept practice fall below the standards set by tradition. These principles were set forth in 1712 by Dr. John Arbuthnot, Queen Anne's physician, in the "Art of Political Lying."

His crowning admonition is that the best contradiction of a lie is not the truth but another lie.

Where Arbuthnot can offer needed guidance to government officials charged with the responsibility of public lying is in the essential matter of not overstraining the credulity of the public. A lie of any species, he says, whether additory, defamatory, or translatory, is totally ineffective if it is not believed, and no man spreads a lie with so good grace as one who believes it.

There should also be sufficient variety that the same lie need not be obstinately insisted upon. The ill success of many lies is due to the fact that the market is glutted by too much of a bad commodity being retailed at one time.

Venting nothing but the truth for three months may give credit to lies for six months following.

In duration, some lies are good for hours, others for days, and still others, like insects, die out and revive again in a different form.

Arbuthnot could not have foreseen the potential of lies, which now travel with the speed of light. In the matter of their duration, however, his comments are of as much pith and moment as the day they were written. Witness the short life of our major lie since the Second World War — the one about the U-2 flights.

This lie was so poorly constructed that it had to be contradicted by the truth, in violation of basic principles.

Since he had jailed one of our U-2 pilots, Khrushchev had every reason to expect from us a top-grade performance which would help him conceal from his people the state of their air defence, which the U-2's had been penetrating for years. Unfortunately the state department was unequal to the challenge. Though promptly uttered, its official lie (to use Oscar Wilde's words) hardly rose "above the level or misrepresentation," a half-hearted bureaucratic performance convincing nobody.

Its weak and fitful existence was abruptly extinguished by President Eisenhower when he said the flights were real happenings which he had helped arrange and had known about all along.

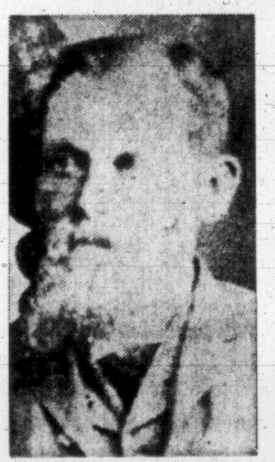
"If," as Wilde observed despairingly in the "Decay of Lying," "a man is sufficiently unimaginative to produce evidence in support of a lie, he might just as well speak the truth at once."

There is hope that science may replace art in these vital matters. Owing to advances in technology, future lying promises to take forms and achieve degrees of conviction that Dr. Arbuthnot, living before the industrial and atomic revolutions, could not have imagined. Lies are being increasingly buttressed by numeric, as opposed to verbal, misrepresentation.

It is rumored that the American government is sponsoring the development of high-intensity lies which, when activated at ground zero, will utterly convince all survivors, however stupefied, within a radius of 50 miles. The cost effectiveness of the technique has been sufficiently demonstrated to justify its funding.

Improvements in lethal range can be expected as development proceeds. Full-scale tests are tentatively scheduled for 1968.

Founders of B.C.



JOHN MORTON

John Morton and his partners Sam Brighouse and William Hailstone were the first settlers in the area that is now Vancouver. On Nov. 3, 1862, they filed on District Lot 185 and on it built a cabin, close to the present site of the Marine Building.

Morton was a Yorkshireman, born April 16, 1834, and raised to be a potter. But in 1862 he put aside his clay and came to British Columbia to seek a fortune in the Cariboo. A travelling companion in the Atlantic paddlewheeler "Great Eastern" was his cousin, Sam Brighouse. On board ship they became friendly with William Hailstone.

The three combined their resources and eventually arrived at New Westminster. They saw some coal there. As a potter, Morton knew that certain valuable kinds of clay were to be found near coal so he went with an Indian to find its source. The Indian led him over a forest trail to False Creek and showed him a seam at either Prospect Point or at a point where the foot of Burrard Street is today. Then they canoed through First Narrows and south to English Bay.

Morton took his partners to see the fine harbor and they agreed to pre-empt land there at $1 the acre. All New Westminster laughed and called them three "Greenhorn Englishmen." They ended up with about 540 acres of what was to be the most valuable real estate in British Columbia.

They made two trips to the Cariboo not realizing they already had found the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow. Later they took turns living in their cabin while the others worked where they could. They kept cows and sold milk in pioneer Granville. Morton returned to England to marry Jane Anne Bailey in 1878. They had two children, but in 1881 Mrs. Morton died in poverty. John dug ditches on Lulu Island and peddled milk. He bought a farm at Mission and he married again to Ruth Mouat.

His holdings increased in value and when he died in 1912 at 78 his estate was valued at over $769,000. He left $100,000 and seven acres of city land to the Baptist Educational Board and another $11,000 for the construction of the Ruth Morton Memorial Church.

Sam Brighouse married a beautiful Spanish widow. Hailstone married in England. All three died wealthy—and within 13 months of each other.

Seminar Throws Light On Many More Problems

Adult education experts entered the forest of problems surrounding education for adults on Vancouver Island Saturday and found a much thicker wood than they had anticipated.

A seminar held at Victoria's Institute for Adult Education—attended by about 50 representatives of Island school districts — served only to throw more light on the abundance of considerations and problems involved.

The seminar — first of its kind for the area — was programmed mainly to bring together persons concerned with educating adults. The all-day session gave them an opportunity to describe and discuss their own particular programs.

Representatives of the Vancouver and Greater Victoria school boards, provincial department of education, and other Island school districts attended. Several students of the institute were also present.

The main discussion centred around what adult education programs should attempt to do and who they should be directed towards. The question of financial support and the role of existing school systems was also discussed.

The group arrived at no conclusions or recommendations—They opened up broader areas of study to consider in the future.

A suggestion was made to organize a provincial group to deal with adult education as a distinct area of the educational field and to search out ways to improve existing programs. No action was taken to establish such a group beyond making up a mailing list to keep delegates to the seminar informed on future developments.

'Receptive If Ideas Considered'

More than 11,000 Indian children are attending British Columbia schools and more are entering every year, R. A. Moritt of the department of Indian affairs and northern development told a seminar on adult education in Victoria Saturday.

The province's Indian population is one of the fastest-growing in Canada, he said, and demands a great deal of attention on the part of school districts.

His remarks were addressed to the 50-odd participants in the seminar, held at the Institute of Adult Education here.

Mr. Moritt stressed that the first step in dealing with Indian education is "dialogue with the Indian people."

Educators who enter such dialogue "are going to find people deeply concerned with education," he said.

"They are very receptive if their ideas are given just consideration."

He told representatives of Vancouver Island school districts attending the seminar that they could offer whatever facilities they had available.

He said they could let the Indians help finance a program or have his department contribute — but if they chose the latter, "we want to be in the program from the beginning," he said.

Mr. Moritt outlined a program aimed at training Indian fishermen at the Vancouver Vocational Institute as an example of department educational programs. The course—for some 20 Indians chosen from provincial reserves—will offer training in use of modern equipment and navigation.

Education For Adults Criticized

About 95 per cent of inmates of federal penitentiaries have no more than Grade 6 education, according to Tony Parlett, superintendant of education at William Head Penitentiary.

And those with below average intelligence quotients (IQ's) number "perhaps as high as 40 per cent of the adult community," he says.

These all add up to a big problem for those concerned with adult education and little is being done about them, Mr. Parlett told those attending a seminar on adult education at Victoria's Institute of Adult Education Saturday.

Included in the group Mr. Parlett said, were convicts, hippies, "Johnson Street hangabouts" and Indians.

Mr. Parlett, expanding on his remarks said:

I criticize the present approach to adult education for not reaching these people—"teaching knitting is not education — we should talk in terms of academic classes for those who really need them" he said.

And something can be done to upgrade the IQ of such persons, Mr. Parlett maintains.

He described as an example a young man he dealt with in his prison work who, 13 months ago had only a Grade 8 education and an IQ of 118.

"His IQ went up to 138 in the 13 months and he is now in university," Mr. Parlett said.

Youth Killed By Hit-Run Car

SURREY, B.C. (CP)—Leslie Johnson, 15, of Delta, was struck and killed on 80th Avenue Saturday. The car did not stop.

Police said the youth was walking with friends when he was hit by a dark 1965 or '66 Ford Galaxy. The accident occurred about a block from the border between Delta and Surrey where Tracy Reid was killed five weeks ago.

Three youths have been charged in connection with the Tracy Reid accident.

DON'T SQUEEZE PIMPLES

Squeezing pimples bruises the skin and leaves dark disfiguring marks. It's easy now to combat pimples and blackheads by clearing the skin with NIXODERM Soap and using antiseptic NIXODERM ointment at night while you sleep. Quickly dries and cleans out pimples and helps heal the skin softer, smoother, clearer. Ask druggist. Look better fast. Advt.

ON CHINA BORDER

'Mystery Shapes' May Be Big Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence experts are puzzling over mysterious shrouded shapes spotted in a Chinese railyard just above the North Vietnamese border.

Sources say there is a growing belief the objects may be heavy self-propelled artillery, possibly bigger than any guns yet used by the North Vietnamese.

U.S. marines at Con Thien have been battered by artillery from north of the boundary separating North Vietnam from South Vietnam.

Most of these guns are about 130 millimetres and have a range of about 18 miles. Officials have estimated the Communists have about 70 of them covering an important part of the marine northern front.

Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara said in July that the North Vietnamese were using 152-millimetre self-propelled guns. Military sources in Saigon said today the mystery objects could well be more of these guns headed for the fighting.

The United States uses 155-, 175- and 200-millimetre self-propelled guns in various places in Vietnam.

About eight tarpaulin-covered objects are among the mass of material which U.S. authorities said has been building up in the big rail yard of P'ing Hsiang, which lies on the important train line between Hanoi and Nanning in South China.

Officials said the Chinese obviously have been stockpiling supplies and rail rolling stock at P'ing Hsiang in preparation for moving it into North Vietnam during the extended period of bad weather now closing in which will hamper U.S. bombing.

'Hold Up Sale Of New Drug'

OTTAWA (CP) — Health authorities have asked a Canadian drug supplier to hold up sale of 10,000 tablets containing the drug coumadin pending an investigation of potency levels.

Dr. R. A. Chapman, head of the food and drug directorate, said today the investigation started Friday after the U.S. food and drug administration ordered 30,000,000 of the tablets off the market.

U.S. authorities stressed there was no danger of continued use of the drug, an anti-coagulant, by heart disease sufferers to whom it has been prescribed.

The U.S. investigation showed the two-milligram and 2½-milligram tablets to be below stated potency levels and the five-milligram ones above stated potency levels.

UVIC PUTS AUTO FINES ON 'SPECIAL'

Parking offenders at the University of Victoria are grabbing at a bargain this year.

For the first time fines for parking violations on campus are reduced by 50 per cent, from $2 to $1, if paid within 48 hours.

Over 700 warning tickets have also been issued.

We asked Mr. E. R. Hewson of Gold River what he likes best about Electric Heating:

"I expected I'd have to pay a bit more for electric heat. Not so. It's fully competitive with the oil heat I had in my previous home. It's much cleaner, and hasn't required any maintenance at all".

The people who have electric heating say it's economical.

14,000 homeowners have made electric heat B.C.'s hottest seller!

IF YOU LOSE BIKINI TRY EXPO 67 OFFICE

MONTREAL (CP)—Expo has taught Vincent Pelletier that people are honest.

Mr. Pelletier, superintendent of the world's fair lost and found department, says that of 27,500 articles reported lost on the site, more than 13,600 were turned in.

The articles included 750 cameras, a forest of umbrellas, some wigs, false teeth, a bikini, 5,000 eyeglasses and a few stray animals which were sent to the SPCA.

"We've found two bicycles, and they are not allowed on the site—try to explain that," he said in a weekend interview.

His 31 staff members have also sifted through jewelry valued at $25,000, clothing, handbags and purses.

NOMINATED by acclamation Saturday to represent the New Democratic Party in the next federal election in Skeena riding was Frank Howard, MP for the area since 1957. Howard, who disclosed last April he had once served a prison term for armed robbery, was given a unanimous vote of confidence by 50 delegates at Terrace, B.C.

'IF HE'S GONE, I WANT TO GO TOO'

Suttee Wife Joins Husband in Wild Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"If Tom's gone, I want to go too," the young woman said and gave herself up to eight-foot waves that had washed her husband from the sinking boat they had been clinging to, survivors said.

"She removed her life jacket," the survivors said, then she slipped away.

Wainwright Vickers, 39, and his wife Barbara, 40, told of the deaths of their companions and their own rescue after being thrashed for 14 hours by wind-whipped waves on Biscayne Bay.

They said they joined Tom Carter and his wife, Dolores, for the Saturday outing in a borrowed boat.

The foursome was bound for home, Vickers said, when a squall struck about 8 p.m.

ANCHOR SLIPS

The boat's anchor slipped from the bow and snagged on the bottom and the line fouled in a propeller of the twin-engine craft.

He said the 17-footer "snapped around," tearing an engine and part of the transom from the boat.

It began to take water and soon swamped, leaving the four occupants clinging to the bow.

Sometime later—Vickers told police he wasn't certain when—Carter "just disappeared in the dark."

Mrs. Vickers said that shortly afterward "Dolores said: 'If Tom's gone, I want to go too.' Then she disappeared."

New Coins Circulating In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—New silver-copper 10 and 25 cent coins have been circulating in Canada for a month and nobody seems to know the difference, said N. A. Parker, master of the Royal Canadian Mint.

The government announced Aug. 18 that the new coins, an alloy of half silver and half copper, would be used for the balance of the year because of the mounting cost of nearly-pure silver.

Next year, the mint will issue nickel coinage.

Parker would not say, in an interview, what date the new silver-copper coins were first distributed to the banks, or what quantity and value of them are in circulation.

"We don't like to talk about that because it leads to speculation," he said.

"The coins have been in circulation for about a month, and nobody seems to know the difference. We've had no comment on them."

The silver-copper coins, when new, look the same as all-silver ones and, when plunked on a counter-top or thrown into a till drawer, sound the same. They don't have the dead "clunk" sound of the new copper-nickel U.S. quarters.

The new American coins are formed like a sandwich, with a copper filling between two pieces of cupro-nickel.

External Aid Speaker Here

Maurice F. Strong, Canada's director-general of external Aid, will address a joint meeting of the men's and women's Canadian Clubs, in the Empress Hotel ballroom on Monday, Oct. 23, at 12:15 noon.

Born and educated in Manitoba, Mr. Strong served with the United Nations Secretariat in New York and made a two-year trip around the world. He is a director of the Ottawa Rough Riders Football Club.

PIDGE'S PRIDE was slow getting underway, started to move up after going three-eighths, gained steadily, wore leader down at head of stretch and won in the clear. HOLA FIRE was taken back in first quarter, saved ground on first turn, then went between horses going down backstretch to take lead, but could not hold winner in drive through final eighth. HASTY HUG trailed field to final quarter, then closed strongly to be third.

Overweight—Spee's Fancy (1).

KENO KID got good position in first quarter when leaders went trifle wide on first turn, getting through on rail, then gained steadily going down backstretch, took over approaching far turn, was headed momentarily turning for home but came again and won in the clear. PUNTER'S JOY, slow getting underway, closed strongly through final quarter, getting up to be second in final strides. STAR PAL provided strong early contention, was in front at head of stretch, then tired in final sixteenth.

Overweight—Star Pal (4), Punter's Joy (1).

Israelis Push Out Arab Terrorists

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Under unrelenting pressure from Israeli security forces, Arab saboteurs appear to have given up hope of starting a guerrilla war in Israeli-occupied areas west of the Jordan River.

Sources here said El-Fatah gangs backed by Syria are pulling out of bases from which they have carried on a terror campaign for the last six weeks.

The sources said the raid on the Ma'oz Hayyim kibbutz in northern Israel Sunday is a strong indication that the saboteurs have reverted to the tactics they used before the Middle East war last June—hit-and-run across the Jordanian border.

Four bombs caused damage at the kibbutz but no casualties were reported. Army spokesmen said the tracks of three men led to the Jordan River, a mile east, and that 15 Soviet made sub-machine-gun magazines, grenades and other ammunition were found near the kibbutz.

Israeli security officials say they have rounded up at least 200 terrorists west of the river. They claim they have broken the most successful group of saboteurs and have uncovered an El Fatah operations centre in Jerusalem.

OXFORD, England (AP)—Six Oxford University undergraduates have been suspended for a year and a seventh student expelled for smoking marijuana at college parties, it was disclosed here. Two girls were among those suspended.

BREATH TEST LAW INVALID

EDMONTON (CP) — An Edmonton magistrate has ruled Alberta's compulsory breath analysis legislation invalid on the grounds that it is beyond the competence of the province to enforce it.

Magistrate Carl Rolf Friday dismissed a charge against Frank Tenta, 31, of Edmonton. The charge of failing to take a breath analysis test was laid under section 185 of Alberta's Highway Traffic Act, which says a driver must submit a specimen of his breath upon request by a policeman or face a possible three months' suspension of his driver's licence.

Magistrate Rolf ruled the legislation ultra vires—beyond the jurisdiction of the province—on grounds that the Criminal Code of Canada says no person is required to submit to a breath analysis test.

Expo Subway Halts Again

MONTREAL (CP) — All buses and subway trains were idle today as the Montreal transit strike moved through its 26th day. Union members called a meeting to discuss their position and a possible new contract proposal.

A spokesman for the Montreal Transportation Commission said that despite a brief flurry of bus and subway movements Friday and early Saturday, "basically we're back to where we were Thursday afternoon after the government injunction was issued."

Strait Work Tenders Eyed

TORONTO (CP)—A new $150,000,000 plan for the nine-mile Northumberland Strait crossing connecting Prince Edward Island with New Brunswick will be completed soon and tenders called within six months, says a Toronto-published construction trade weekly.

Heavy Construction News says in its current issue the plan is for a four-lane bridge, replacing the previous design for a two-lane causeway-bridge-tunnel and dropping the single rail line. The designers are Northumberland Consultants Ltd. of Montreal.

GM Men Vote Strike

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—The 25,000 employees in seven General Motors of Canada plants have voted 98.8 per cent to strike the company unless a new contract is signed before the end of October.

Gordon Lambert, chairman of the General Motors council, said the vote was taken secretly Sunday in London, Toronto, Windsor, St. Catharines, Oshawa and Ste. Therese, Que.

"The vote should indicate to the company that they must sit down and do some serious bargaining," Mr. Lambert said.

Contracts in all seven GM plants expire Oct. 31. Workers could legally walk off their jobs the next day, but union officials said this would be doubtful.

"We haven't put the strike deadline on the company yet," Mr. Lambert said, "because of the U.S. strike against Ford."

He said he doubted if there would be a Canadian strike until after the trouble at Ford was settled.

In Oshawa, 12,000 members of Local 222, the largest local in the Canadian UAW, voted almost 99 per cent in favor of strike action.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices showed underlying firmness on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today with flax staging a brisk rally in moderately active trade.

Flax received some stimulation from higher oilseed prices on the continent and there was evidence of overseas support. Reports indicate that 102,000 bushels of flax moved from the lakehead to Antwerp and 105,000 bushels to Norway during the weekend.

Rapeseed also firmed up at times and received stimulation from higher soybean prices in Chicago. Oats and barley trade was light and mostly domestic.

A fair trade proceeded in rye where there was considerable spreading between markets.

CHICAGO (AP) — Moderate to heavy rain during the weekend over wide sections of the U.S. midwest influenced higher prices for soybeans and corn today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The two commodities opened on a higher tone and quickly advanced. Wheat trade was light and prices closed slightly higher, influenced to some extent by good export notices.

Oats and rye trade was light and oats closed unchanged while rye showed an advance.

CPR SLASHES CALGARY CREW

CALGARY (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway said today it will lay off about 400 of its 800 employees at its Ogden Repair Shops here because of declining traffic.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Slips In Light Trade

The Toronto Stock Exchange continued to turn lower this afternoon as declines outnumbered advances two to one.

However, trading remained light and by 2 p.m. only 2,019,000 shares had changed hands compared with 2,150,000 at the same time Friday.

Base metal prices were slashed by profit takers.

Denison tumbled 2⅝ to 82½ and Rio Algom fell ¾ to 35.

In the industrial list Jefferson Lake fell 2 to 58¾, Canadian Vickers 1⅜ to 8 and Algoma Steel ⅜ to a low of 22¼.

Dosco, which announced its closing of its Sydney, Nova Scotia, steel plant, was off ¼ to 6¾ while Hawker Siddeley, which controls Dosco, added 10 cents to 3.40.

AT VANCOUVER — Granisle was a big loser in a generally declining market. It fell a quarter to $7.75 on 600 shares by 11 a.m.

Other mining issues that fell included Atlas, off .40 to $2.20; Cascade; .15 to $1.05; Lornex, .30 to $7.60; Silver Titan, .12 to $1.15; and Westland, .07 to $1.28.

Western Mines was the only noticeable gainer, climbing .09 to $2.45.

In the oils, Royal American declined .06 to .94 on 2,000 shares.

Western broadcasting and B.C. Sugar led the industrials, each climbing .50, to $16.50 and 40.87 respectively.

Volume to 11 a.m. was 580,964 shares.

AT MONTREAL prices drifted fractionally lower in early afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today, after reversing a slight morning rally.

Banks led the downtrend, with Royal off at 14⅛ on volume of 23,690 shares, and Montreal down at 11.

CPR trimmed an earlier rally and dipped ⅛ to 64. Noranda and Imperial Oil were each down about point.

AT LONDON leading stocks were generally easier today but there were plenty of firm spots elsewhere.

Gilt-edged securities were quiet, however, and recorded only a few price adjustments. Southern Rhodesian bonds were firm again.

Dollar stocks made a mixed showing.

AT NEW YORK the stock market closed sharply as the Dow Jones index fell 9.65 today in active trading.

Prices rose irregularly at the start in a follow through to Friday's technical rebound, but they did not hold their gains and moved lower the rest of the session.

Losses outnumbered gains by more than 2 to 1.

Some of the giant blue-chips, including Du Pont and Eastman Kodak, were weak.

Du Pont Takes Dip

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The du Pont Co. reported today profits for the first nine months of this year fell 26 per cent compared with the similar 1966 period and blamed "sluggishness in the civilian sector of the economy."

The largest U.S. chemical-maker disclosed net income of $228,000,000, down from last year's $306,000,000 in the first three quarters.

Sales were down five per cent for the nine months.

Earnings reflected the huge profit drop, falling to $4.77 a share compared with $6.48.

U.S. Tax Hike Awaited To Cool Canada Prices

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — More than a year ago, Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp of Canada said here he had expected a U.S. tax increase to help cool off the Canadian economy.

President Johnson didn't want a tax increase last year, however, And this year, when he is seeking an extra 10 cent on every dollar of personal and corporation income tax. Congress says no.

Congress is in a snarly mood. At work for more than nine months, it has yet to act on 10 of 14 major requests for spending.

It has told the president, through chairman Wilbur Mills of the key ways and means committee of the House of Representatives, that there will have to be fundamental reappraisals of the whole shape and size of assorted spending programs. Guns, yes. Butter, less of it.

There has been speculation that President Johnson wants to pin all the blame on Congress for its attitude, as former president Harry Truman did in 1948 when he won re-election against all odds.

But Truman was shackled by a Republican congress; this one is controlled by Democrats, members of the president's own party.

BLAME VIETNAM WAR

Many think the real villain is the Vietnam war, costing upwards of $25,000,000,000 annually with the defence budget absorbing an all-time peak of more than $70,000,000,000 more.

Others say congressmen are restive only because the folks back home are up in arms about rising costs that include rising taxes.

States and counties are getting into the act, too.

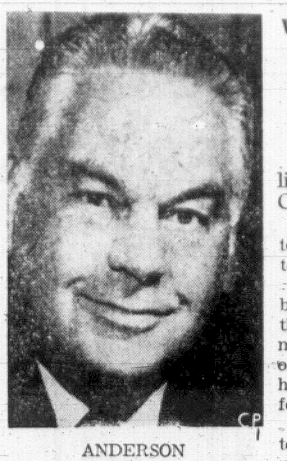
Congressional mail is reported running heavily against many spending programs from anti-poverty efforts to space and beautification of highways The president has challenged the states to consider cutting federally-subsidized highway building.

Rail Men Get Boost In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wage increases dictated under a mandate from Congress go into effect today for 137,000 U.S. railway workers. The increases range up to 28 cents an hour.

The pay raises ordered by a board in the first case of its sort, go to members of six rail shopcraft unions working for virtually all the railways in the U.S.

Congress created the presidential board in a special law to halt a nation-wide rail strike last July. It gave the board power to impose the wage terms if there was no voluntary agreement. The law also prohibited any further strike until Jan. 1, 1969.



ANDERSON
. . . control inflation

'Inflation to Stay, Must Live With It'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada is going to have to live with inflation for some time, the president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce said Saturday.

W. M. Anderson of Vancouver told a graduating class of chartered accountants:

"The economy is being inflated by about 5 per cent a year and there's not much hope for immediate improvement because of all the wage increases that have been built in over the last few years.

"The country is going to have to live with inflation but keep it under control as much as it can."

Mr. Anderson listed inflation as one of five serious problems facing Canada but said he expects the country will handle the problems, as it has in the past.

The other problems included the productivity lag, the housing crisis, national unity and rising government expenditures.

COMING IN FUTURE: INSTANT NEWSPAPER

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Outmoded equipment, rising costs and distribution systems "reminiscent of the dark ages" may signal the end of the newspaper as it is known today, a journalism professor said Saturday.

Fendall Yerxa, professor of journalism at the University of Washington, spoke to instructors of journalism and English at a conference here.

Yerxa, a former metropolitan editor and Washington correspondent for the New York Times, said the television set may some day replace the carrier boy as a means of delivery.

He said readers may be able to unroll facsimile daily newspapers from the backs of their television sets.

Stamps Bop Bombers, Esks Stun Roughies

Liske Pulls Calgary Even With Great Passing Show

By The Canadian Press

Calgary Stampeders got a large assist from Edmonton Eskimos Sunday and used it to move into a first-place tie with Saskatchewan Roughriders in the Western Football Conference.

The Stampeders, using an awesome air attack, shellacked Winnipeg Blue Bombers 51-29 in Calgary, while in Edmonton, the Eskimos upset the Roughriders 21-17.

The results left both Calgary and Saskatchewan with 10-3 won-lost records and a seven-point pull over Edmonton, which has won six, lost six and tied one for 13 points.

Winnipeg is 4-9 for eight points. British Columbia Lions, who lost 22-17 Sunday to Hamilton Tiger-Cats, have two wins and a tie in 12 games.

The Lions now are out of the playoffs. If they win their four remaining games they could tie the Eskimos, but would still be out of the playoff because Edmonton won its series with the Lions this season. Edmonton needs just one more win or a Winnipeg loss to clinch the final playoff position.

4 RECORDS SET

Four WFC records were established in Calgary's conquest of the Bombers—two by Peter Liske and one each by Terry Evanshen and Bill Goods.

Liske, who threw six touchdown passes in the game, completed 20 throws to bring his season total to 237, and gained 349 yards on passes to bring his mark this year to 3,602 yards.

The former WFC completion mark was 228 set by Eagle Day, then of Calgary, in 1963.

Liske's yards-gained total put him ahead of the old mark of 3,279 set by Joe Kapp of B.C. Lions in 1962.

Liske needs to try just 20 more passes to set another WFC record and complete three of them for touchdowns to set a fourth.

Another 47 pass attempts would give him one CFL record and another seven touchdown passes a second. He needs another 40 completions and a total of 1,122 yards gained passing for other CFL marks.

Evanshen brought his pass reception yardage to 1,384 this year. The old mark was 1,329 set by Hugh Campbell of Saskatchewan in 1965. Goods converted all seven Calgary touchdowns for his WFC mark.

CAUGHT 2 TD PASSES

Evanshen caught two touchdown passes Sunday. Two more went to Herm Harrison and one each to Lovell Coleman and Gerry Shaw. Shaw scored another touchdown on a fumble recovery in the first quarter.

The Stampeders rounded out the scoring with a fourth-quarter safety touch.

For the Bombers, Dave Raimey scored twice. Ken Nielsen and Ed Ulmer scored the other touchdowns. Ernie Kuzyk converted all four and Ulmer kicked a single for the Bombers' other point.

In Edmonton, the Eskimos recovered a fourth-quarter fumble on the Saskatchewan 31, and drove in from there for the game-winning touchdown.

Cougars Notch First Victory

Doug Anderson is a considerate fellow.

He considers Victoria Cougars played their best British Columbia Junior Hockey League game Saturday. They lost 5-3 at Vernon.

Sunday Cougars played "not quite as well" in Anderson's opinion. They defeated Kelowna Buckaroos 3-2. All things considered, Anderson will take the two points.

The victory was the Cougars' first in three games, jampacked into three nights.

"I was pleased with them Saturday against Vernon," Anderson says. "They didn't play as well Sunday but they won and we'll take the points."

Kelowna disputed Victoria's winning goal. It came on a shot by Garth Greig with 11 minutes left. Kelowna contended the puck hit a post and bounced out. Referee Mike Durban ruled it went in. End of debate.

Dave Williams and Barry Clarke scored Victoria's other goals.

Kelowna controlled play during most of the game. The Bucks fired 47 pucks at Murray Finlay. Brett Kneen stopped 34

Victoria split six goals in the first period at Vernon, Clarke scoring twice and Terry Mitchell once.

But the Cats weakened twice in the second period and Vernon popped in a pair of goals.

The shots on goal confirm Anderson's view that the Cougars played well in a losing cause. They were barely outgunned, 26-25.

Cougars play at New Westminster Wednesday.

Vernon Essos started the season with skates flying by defeating New Westminster 7-5 at Vernon Sunday.

Westminster opened it's season Saturday with a 4-3 win over Kelowna on a goal by George Watson, his second, with 37 seconds remaining.

'VIC' QUITS AS CHAMPION

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Vicente Saldivar of Mexico stopped Howard Winstone in the 12th round of their scheduled 15-round bout Saturday night to retain the world featherweight boxing championship. Immediately afterwards, he announced his retirement from the ring.

Saldivar's manager, Adolfo Perez, went to the centre of the ring and took the microphone immediately after the fight and announced that the 24-year-old Mexican was retiring.

Mariners, Uvic Record Victories

Goals by Virginia Rogers and Sheila Carrick led Mariners "A" to a 2-0 victory over Grasshoppers in a Vancouver Island Women's Field Hockey Association match Saturday.

In another game, Terry Neal's three goals paced University of Victoria seconds to a 1-1 conquest of Cowichan's "B" team. Sharon Cullin counted Uvic's other goal while Cathy McKenzie scored for Cowichan.

Faloney Barely Misses Victory

By The Canadian Press

Hamilton Tiger-Cats have regained first place in the Eastern Football Conference—but they can't brag about it.

They held off a late drive by British Columbia Lions, cellar-dwelling members of the Western Conference, for a 22-17 triumph Sunday in a thrilling Canadian Football League game at Hamilton.

The game ended when veteran Bernie Faloney fired a pass at Hamilton native Jim Young on the goal-line. The ball trickled off Young's fingers and the Ticats escaped with a two-point margin over the idle Ottawa Rough Riders.

In the only other eastern game, Toronto Argonauts strung together an awesome second-half ground attack for a 20-9 triumph over Montreal Alouettes and virtually clinched third place and the last eastern playoff spot.

Jim Dillard, cast off by both Calgary Stampeders and Ottawa in his CFL career, erupted for 162 yards in 11 tries to bury the Alouettes in the last half.

The Argos need either a win or a Montreal loss to clinch their first playoff appearance since 1961.

SCORES ON SCREEN PASS

Dillard took a screen pass from the Montreal 44 for one touchdown and Bill Symons scampered seven yards for the other after the Argos led only 3-1 at halftime. Dave Mann contributed two field goals and a pair of converts.

For Montreal, Dave Lewis led the way with a touchdown and two singles. His touchdown came late in the game after he replaced Carroll Williams. Jim Long converted Lewis' score.

Faloney's passing gave the Tiger-Cats fits.

He completed 14 of 25 attempts for 277 yards and that included long bombs to Leroy Sledge and Jim Sidle.

Sledge went across on an 81-yard pass-and-run play at 1:29, on the second play from scrimmage, as two Hamilton backs collided. Faloney hit Sidle on a 55-yarder in the second quarter and Hamilton trailed 14-5 at the half.

CONVERTS TOUCHDOWNS

Ted Gerela converted both touchdowns and added a 38-yard field goal.

Hamilton's scoring was handled exclusively by Ted Watkins and Tommy-Joe Coffey. Watkins caught scoring passes of 25 and 16 yards from Joe Zuger and Coffey produced 10 points with his toe.

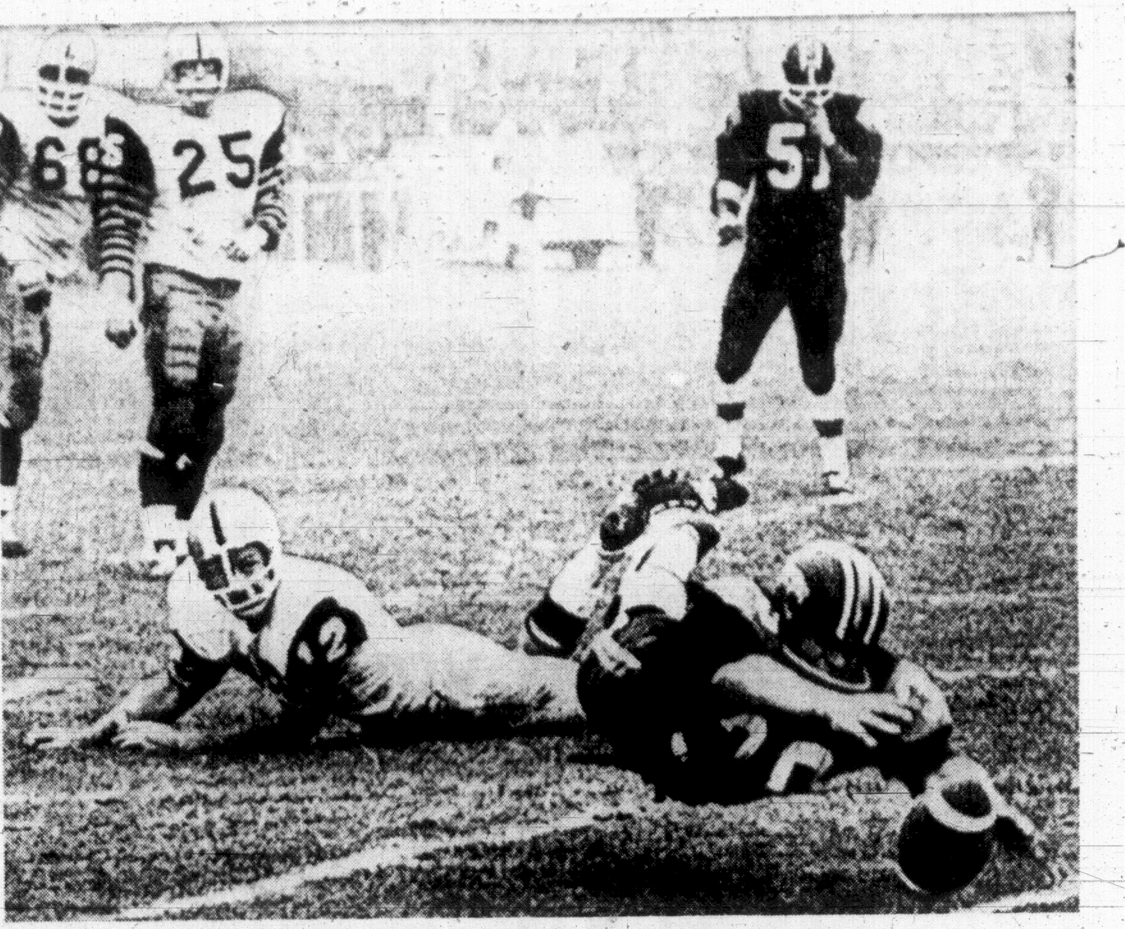
He kicked field goals of 20 and 23 yards, converted both touchdowns and settled for singles on field-goal attempts of 28 and 47 yards.

Ottawa has a chance to move back into a tie for first place Wednesday when the Rough Riders meet Vancouver at Lansdowne Park in Ottawa in a nationally - televised contest.

Apaches Step To Top Berth

San Jose Apaches took over first place in the Continental Football League's western division Sunday by stopping Eugene Bombers in a 23-21 thriller at Santa Clara, Calif.

Seattle Rangers broke a two-game losing streak at Seattle, getting three touchdowns from end Joe Payton as they trimmed Sacramento Buccaneers 27-7.



SUCCESS WAS SIX INCHES AWAY

Pass reception that would have given British Columbia Lions victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats on last play of game didn't come off Sunday although B.C.'s Jim Young, reaching for ball, gave it valiant try. That's Hamilton's Bill Redell, No. 12, anxiously watching play. Ticats won 22-17 to regain Eastern Football Conference lead. Lions plunged deeper into Western Conference cellar, are out of playoff berth race. They play in Ottawa on Wednesday. (CP Wirephoto.)

Babied Cheese Not Big But Chief Is Handsome

By HAL MALONE

A striking light chestnut gelding from Alberta was supposed to be the Big Cheese in the $2,200-added Vancouver Island Championship.

But a stout-hearted bay colt, also bred in Alberta, who now gets his mail in Saanich, became the Handsome Chief of the livery set at Sandown Park Saturday.

If the majority of the 4,524 closing day patrons were influenced by Big Cheese's record (five wins, $8,667 in the bank) Handsome Chief wasn't.

He ignored the odds (which had him third favorite at 4-1; Big Cheese was even money) and proved he could handle the heavy, holding track, the distance (mile and 70 yards) and older horses (Sefton Park, Gladys Ann, Keno's Boy, Enchalade and War Top).

Brought up to the race perfectly by lessee-owner-trainer Gus Munro, a Victoria policeman, Handsome Chief chopped down the field with a devastating late drive. Sefton Park was second, a length back and a length and a quarter ahead of Big Cheese.

SET SLOW PACE

The Chief enriched his backers (at $10 for $2) and poured $1,700 into grateful Gus' purse.

His record is five wins in 16 starts; his overall earnings are $6,599.

Not bad for a colt who didn't win as a two-year-old and was still a maiden two months ago.

Sefton Park made all the early running, teasing the field as jockey Jim Broomfield set a slow pace.

Big Cheese after a slow start quickly moved into second place. Apprentice Kerry Sam held Handsome Chief back, per Munro's instructions. At the three - eighths pole Sandy Shields asked Big Cheese to get about his business. But business, Sandy said, was slow.

"He didn't have it," Shields said bluntly. "He was blowing and I knew we weren't going to win.

FITNESS REQUIRED

"A horse has to be dead fit to run on this track and Big Cheese wasn't. Had he run in the Derby a week ago he would have been fine for this race. But they babied him (Golden Cheese was withdrawn from the Derby) and they paid for it."

Meanwhile Sam whacked Handsome Chief once or twice and began to pump. They caught Sefton Park at the head of the stretch and ground out the victory.

Sefton Park actually "came on a little" Broomfield said "but the colt is so good now he's unbeatable."

In the secondary feature, Short Circuit electrified the crowd with a sizzling late run to win going away at almost 17-1.

A maiden in 22 starts (most in classy company) Short Circuit was held by owner Bill Lochead to be a colt "of much promise." Lochead saw the promise fulfilled under a stirring ride by Ron Arnold aboard his third consecutive winner of the afternoon.

Lochead experimented with Short Circuit by putting a shadow roll (a sort of huge noseband) on him. "I thought he might be so surprised by it he would stretch out better," said an elated Lochead.

ONE-RACE RECORD

The punters, having their last fling, made it a good one.

They pushed $185,061 through the mutuels (an increase of $16,000) and ran the meet total to $1,976,613. This was below the record $2,090,613 wagered in 1965 when there was an extra day of racing.

But the daily average of $116,272 was a record. So was the $27,748 bet on the seventh race (the old mark was $25,681 set on Thanksgiving Day, 1965).

Now it's all over until 1968.

And if you care to be touted, put the first week in April down as the start of the B.C. Jockey Club's noble experiment — a spring meeting on Vancouver Island.

McLaren Drives To Prix Victory

MONTEREY, Calif. (CP) — Bruce McLaren of New Zealand marked up a record time of 106.61 miles an hour in winning the 201.7-mile Monterey Grand Prix for sports cars Sunday.

McLaren won in an elapsed time of one hour, 58 minutes and 55.33 seconds in his McLaren M-6-A, designed by himeslf and powered by a Chevrolet engine.

Second was Jim Hall of the United States, driving a Chaparral. He was one lap behind.

George Follmer of the United States, driving a Lola Chevrolet, was third, two laps behind. John Cannon of Montreal was seventh.

Speedy's Dream Chief Nightmare

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Speedy Duncan had a dream Saturday night and now he's looking forward to another one.

The nimble defensive back told reporters he dreamed he would intercept four passes and help San Diego Chargers win.

He settled for one interception —a record-setting 100-yarder for a touchdown, which he added to another one of 35 yards after picking up a fumble.

Duncan was overjoyed about his interception against the defending champion Kansas City Chiefs.

"Chris Burford had beaten me on the play for the last two years," he said. "It's a short up-and-out pattern where he pushes me off, goes for the flag and beats me. This time, I played a yard or two deeper."

Two other Charger touchdowns also came on long strikes. Quarterback John Hadl hit flanker Lance Alworth with a 60-yard scoring pass, and rookie halfback Dick Post burst for a 67-yard touchdown run.

In other AFL games, New York Jets and Houston Oilers fought to a 28-28 tie, Oakland Raiders beat Buffalo Bills 24-20 and Boston Patriots crushed Miami Dolphins 41-10.

Trotting Triumph

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Flamboyant, the favorite, took the lead early in the race and staved off the stretch bid of Halifax Hanover to win the $183,463 Dexter Cup Trot at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

Too Bad Bud's Vikings Don't Play GB Often—

No wonder the winning habit hasn't come easy for Minnesota Vikings. They only play Green Bay Packers a couple of times each year.

The Vikings pulled the biggest upset of the young National Football League season Sunday, spilling Green Bay's world champs 10-7 on a 12-yard field goal by Fred Cox with eight seconds to play.

It was Minnesota's first victory of the season, and the first setback for the Packers since they bowed to the Vikings 20-17 last November.

"You might make more significance out of it than we will," said a restrained Bud Grant, the Vikings' first-year coach, who piloted Winnipeg Blue Bombers last season in the Canadian Football League. "We needed a win .... whether it was over Green Bay or the Little Sisters of the Poor."

Joe Kapp, who starred with British Columbia Lions in the CFL's Western Conference, made his second start of the season as Minnesota's quarterback and sparked the Vikings during their late drive.

VICTORIA CLUB CLIPS RAMBLERS . . .

. . . IN STUNNING GRID UPSET

Nobody Was Going to Argue With Steeler Coach on This Night

Ramblers 14, Steelers 16

By DOUG PEDEN

It was 10:25 Saturday night at Royal Athletic Park. Victoria Steelers had just kicked the Continental Football League odds in the teeth and owner-coach Don McKeta, stripped by excitement of his usual calmness, was floating somewhere above Cloud 19.

"They played themselves quite a ball game, didn't they?" asked McKeta without actually expecting an answer.

Forgotten for at least the moment was the fact that the Steelers had been watched by only about 1,500 fans — far fewer than the number needed for the club to hold its own in a battle for financial survival — as McKeta happily demanded: "They were great weren't they?"

Nobody was going to argue with McKeta on this night. The Steelers had shown greatness of courage as they won the game in which they were supposed to get swamped. They had knocked Orange County Ramblers out of first place in the league's western division by nipping the power-packed Anaheim crew in a 16-14 nail-biter.

There had been good reason for the experts to predict McKeta's gang would get clobbered. In their first meeting with the Ramblers, the Steelers had been murdered by the long passes of Jerry Otterson and absorbed a 52-3 thumping. And the previous weekend, the Steelers had committed a series of disastrous errors at Everett and tumbled 40-7 before the Eugene Bombers.

But this was another night and this time the Steelers simply refused to yield to the star-studded Ramblers. They used pride and determination to overcome the Orange County advantages in experience and reserve strength.

Although the game did not rate as a football classic, the battle waged by the Steelers made it a remarkably exciting contest and at the end there were none to argue with McKeta that the bruised, weary and mud-caked Victoria regulars had not earned their upset triumph.

There were early indications that the Victorians were in an upset mood. Steve Jones ran the opening kickoff back 51 yards to the Orange County 46 to give the Steelers good field position. And on the first pass thrown by Otterson, Victoria's Tom Foster grabbed the ball away from the fingers of Rhome Noxon and scampered 34 yards for a touchdown.

Cliff Smith's conversion made it 7-0 and the Steelers boosted the margin to 13-0 in the second quarter after a bad fourth-down snap to Rambler kicker John Seedborg gave Victoria possession on the Orange County 14.

Quarterback Terry Durham, under pressure from charging Orange County linemen all night, rambled to the two-yard line. After new fullback Lloyd Owens gained one yard in two attempts, Durham crashed over for a touchdown that gave Victoria a 13-0 edge.

With Dave Matheson taking over from Otterson, the Ramblers started to roll after Durham's TD and got within six points when brilliant Bobby Gaiters grabbed a Matheson pass for a seven-yard touchdown play and Seedborg added the conversion.

Steelers ended a long march at the start of the third quarter with a 26-yard field goal by Cliff Smith and then were forced to defend desperately the rest of the way.

Ramblers finally cracked the stubborn Victoria defence in the final minute of play when Bruce Smith snared a 36-yard Matheson toss and Seedborg again converted.

Ramblers went for a routine kickoff and Victoria's Steve Bramwell fell on the ball at the Steeler 20. There was time for only one more play and Durham merely held the ball to wrap up the victory.

Ramblers presented a balanced attack and a formidable defensive line. Gaiters and fullback Bob Jackson ran with authority and Nixon, Bruce Smith and John Erisman were dangerous pass-receivers.

All the Steelers came up with an all-out effort and the Victorians were at their best when defending deep in their own territory.

Durham, showing imagination when pursued by Orange County linemen was an excellent performer. Steve Jones, packing the ball 16 times from scrimmage for 55 yards, was almost the entire Victoria running attack. He also caught two passes for 60 yards while Bramwell caught two for 55 yards.

Linebacker Fred Forsberg was again a tremendous defender and he got plenty of help, with much of it coming from Foster and Glen Gardner.

Phil Esposito Casts A Four-Goal Shadow

By The Canadian Press

Phil Esposito has played in the shadow of Bobby Hull ever since he entered the National Hockey League, but the lanky centre cast a large shadow of his own Sunday night.

Freed from Chicago Black Hawks in a mid-season deal that sent him to Boston Bruins, Esposito erupted for four goals as the Bruins battered Montreal Canadiens 6-2.

In contrast, the Hawks took a pair of beatings from Toronto Maple Leafs. They lost 5-3 at home Sunday night after they absorbed a 5-1 beating Saturday in Toronto's homer opener.

Toronto's major concern after the weekend was the condition of captain George Armstrong. The veteran player retired early in the third period Saturday and was treated for a scratched eyeball.

Armstrong discounted fears the injury could mean the end of his career. "It's a little sore now, though. They put a couple of stitches above the eye and three below."

In other games Sunday, Detroit Red Wings used a late goal by Gordie Howe for a 3-2 victory over New York Rangers and Los Angeles Kings downed Minnesota North Stars 5-3.

California Seals whitewashed Minnesota 6-0 Saturday, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia Flyers 4-2, St. Louis Blues halted Pittsburgh Penguins 4-2 and Montreal beat Detroit 6-2.

Toronto's marksmen Sunday were Dave Keon, Brian Conacher, Jim Pappin, Wayne Carleton and Frank Mahovlich. Hull, Wayne Maki and Ken Wharram retaliated for the Hawks.

In the Saturday game, Carleton, Conacher, Ron Ellis, Keon and Murray Oliver handled Toronto's scoring. Wharram ruined Johnny Bower's shutout bid.

Howe's goal for Detroit climaxed a comeback from a 2-0 deficit. Other Detroit marksmen were Norm Ullman and Dean Prentice. Donnie Marshall and Jim Neilson connected for the Rangers.

Keenan's Goal Third in Three Outs

Ted Irvine halted a Minnesota rally with his second goal to lead the Kings Sunday night in Long Beach, Calif. Lowell MacDonald, Gord Labossiere and Howie Hughes added a goal each.

For the Stars, Dave Balon, Bob Charlebois and Murray Hall pumped shots past substitute netminder Wayne Rutledge, pressed into service after Terry Sawchuk injured an elbow last week.

Esposito's first three goals all came in the first period and his fourth came early in the second. Johnny McKenzie and Glen Sather also scored for the Bruins. Yvan Cournoyer and Jean Beliveau notched Montreal's goals.

PINPOINTS SUCCESS

Esposito said his success was due to the fact he was shooting more.

Cournoyer picked up two goals and as many assists to lead Montreal Saturday. Beliveau, Ralph Backstrom, Bobby Rousseau and Gilles Tremblay completed scoring. Howe and Prentice counted for the Wings.

Larry Keenan produced his third goal in as many games to give St. Louis its win.

Timbermen, Oak Bay Still on Equal Footing

Oak Bay Farmer Construction's reputation around Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League circles has hinged around their ability to rise up for the big games.

It would seem the Bay boys aren't anxious to lose that reputation this season. That was their indication Sunday as the third-place finishers held league-winning Cowichan Timbermen to an 8-8 draw in the first of a two-game series for the Island championship.

Second game in the home-and-home final will be played at Cowichan next Sunday. Winners will advance into the B.C. final.

Tedd Webb's fourth-quarter single provided Cowichan with the point that sends the teams into the deciding game on equal footing.

Brian Mann's three-yard plunge and Derek Garside's convert gave Cowichan an early 7-0 lead at Carvarvon Park.

Jim Forward, breaking away for a 30-yard TD sprint, scored Oak Bay's major. Bob Hammer converted to tie the game in the second quarter and later added a single to put Oak Bay ahead 8-7.

Oak Bay held a definite edge in the tough, defensive battle. Farmers gained 228 yards on the ground and another 59 through the air. Timbermen managed only 91 yards rushing and 47 by passing.

Colony and Labatts Win Opening Games

Colony Inn and Labatts romped to victories Sunday at University of Victoria in opening games of the new Victoria Senior Men's Basketball League.

Labatts slapped down Red Lion Inn 63-30 while the Colony crew fashioned a 56-40 triumph over Farmer Construction.

Jim Cunningham was the big gun for Colony, hitting eight straight foul shots and finishing with 18 points. George Brice paced Farmers with 14 points.

Labatts were tied eight times with the Lions before snapping a 15-15 deadlock with a surge of 19 points without reply. That left Labatts with a 34-15 lead at half time and it was easy sailing the rest of the way.

Bob Bell and Larry Montgomery each potted 14 points to spark the winners while Ken McCaskell topped Lions with an eight-point effort.

Olympians Click Again

PUYALLAP, Wash. — The Olympians of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club won their fourth straight meet Saturday by defeating Puyallup 322-103.

Olympians, who host Seattle's Washington Athletic Club in Victoria's Crystal Garden pool next weekend, won 31 of Saturday's 50 events.

Kristine Paterson, Mary-Pat Pumfrey, George and Jim Gollmer, Lorrie Cosby, Rick Davidge and Dale Long each won two events for Victoria.

Quinton Top Man With Gun

Sharpshooting Quinton Mar of Victoria captured top honors Sunday in the inaugural Vancouver Island pistol championships.

But he got plenty of argument from Nanaimo's Jerome Harrison before picking up the big prize in the centennial shoot at the Thetis Lake range.

Mar scored 1,709 out of a possible 1,800, including 67 bullseyes, to edge Harrison, 1,706 (45x), in the exciting, two-man battle.

Other class winners were: first expert, Lorne Hurst, Burnaby, 1,661; sharpshooter, Darrell Cardinal, Victoria, 1,020; and marksman, Al Fry, Victoria, 1,376.

SAUNDERS SCORES FOUR

Andy and Pals Rout Canucks

BILL SAUNDERS
. . . four goals

Old Western Hockey League hands have formed a new line in Portland, and it could turn out to be one of the most potent in the circuit's history.

Coach Hal Laycoe bartered to bring in Andy Hebenton from Phoenix Roadrunners then made a deal to acquire centre Norm Johnson from Los Angeles Blades. He harnessed them on a line with Buckaroo holdover Bill Saunders.

That was the line that went a-poppin' Sunday. They banged in six of Portland's eight goals as the Bucks whomped Vancouver Canucks 8-1. Saunders scored four, Johnson and Hebenton each collected one goal and three assists.

It was Bucks' second straight victory. They clipped Phoenix 4-1 Saturday night as Cliff Schmautz opened with two goals.

In another Saturday night game, Bill Dineen scored the first and final goals as defending champion Seattle Totems edged San Diego Gulls 3-1 in Seattle.

Earl Heiskala scored Seattle's other goal while rookie Nick Libett counted San Diego's only tally.

Kel Best in West

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Kel Nagle, veteran Australian golfer, won the West End tournament Saturday with an aggregate of 274.

Palmer Squeezes Past Thompson

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer fired 12 birdies and an eagle while defeating Peter Thomson by a single hole in the 36-hole final of the Piccadilly Match Play golf tournament Saturday.

Thomson had 11 birdies and an eagle in a duel play in a howling wind and slashing rain.

Palmer finished the two rounds 12 under par while Thomson was eight under. Immediately after the match Palmer took off for London and then on to Houston where the U.S. Ryder Cup team will play the British this coming weekend.

Thomson, the Australian who is a five-time winner of the British open, was 3 up at one stage on Palmer in the morning round.

CHARGES BACK

Palmer came back with one of his famous charges and the two went into lunch all square with both of them shooting four under par 70s.

Thomson got a birdie 3 at the 24th and they turned all square after 27.

Palmer birdied the short 28th, eagled the 30th and birdied the 31st to go 3 up.

Thomson birdied the short 32nd by sending a six-iron near the flag and holing the 12-foot putt, and then got an eagle at the 33rd with a no. 7 iron to eight feet and tapping in the putt. Now the Australian was only 1 down in a match play final that golf fans will remember for years.

The two birdied the 34th with threes and halved the 35th and 36th with 5s, as Palmer made his thin edge stand up.

Wee Olympics Test Athletes' Patience

MEXICO CITY (CP-AP)—Mexico's big rehearsal for the 1968 Olympic Games struggled through a confusing opening day Sunday that left the patience of many athletes thinner than the atmosphere.

One world record was broken in weightlifting but other performances were far off world and Olympic records. Some athletes in the distance races complained of chest pains as they exerted themselves in the 7,357-foot altitude.

Two Africans, two Russians and an Iranian weightlifter won the five gold medals awarded on the opening day of the two-week sports spectacle.

Canada's small team of 38 athletes and officials had entries in only two track and field events Sunday.

Jenny Wingerson Meldrum of Toronto was in sixth place in the women's pentathlon with two events—the 200 metres and long jump—to be completed today.

CANADIANS ELIMINATED

Dave Bailey of Toronto and Brian MacLaren of Winnipeg were eliminated in the 800-metre heats, and in today's final seven of the eight entries are from Europe.

Mohamed Gammoudi of Tunisia captured the 10,000 metres in 30:16.0, almost four minutes off the world record, and another African, burly Gaoussou Kone of the Ivory Coast, breasted the tape in the 100 metres barely ahead of Italy's Pasquale Giannatassio. Each was clocked in 10.2.

Russia's Ian Lusis and Victor Saneev won the javelin and triple jump respectively. Lusis tossed the javelin 279 feet, six inches, almost two feet under the Olympic mark, and Saneev recorded a distance of 54 feet, 4¾ inches.

Mohamad Nassiri of Iran set a world mark in the bantamweight weightlifting class when he lifted 320¾ pounds in the clean and jerk. His total lift of 783¾ pounds, gave him the gold medal.

The substitute scoreboard—the one for the Olympic Games is far from completed—varied with the varied announcements.

Athletes, particularly the women pentathloners concerned with their results for point totals, were dismayed when they could not learn how they did.

Gillis Keeps Crown

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (CP)—Les Gillis of New Waterford, N.S., retained his Canadian junior lightweight boxing championship Saturday by scoring a unanimous 12-round decision over challenger Jo Jo Jackson of New Glasgow. Gillis weighed 129 pounds, four pounds heavier than Jackson.

B.C. DRUBBED 36-3

McCORMICK SPARKLES

All-Blacks Awesome

VANCOUVER (CP) — The New Zealand All Blacks, generally acknowledged as one of the major powers in world rugby showed 5,550 fans here Saturday just how they earned that reputation as they crushed a British Columbia representative side 36-3.

The All Blacks fashioned their victory with a display of awesome power and superlative ball handling. They threw the ball about with speed and precision and literally ran the B.C. team into the ground.

It was the first game for the New Zealand club in a 10-week tour of Canada, Great Britain and France.

Scoring star for the All Blacks was fullback Fergie McCormick, whose selection for the tour touched off a controversy in New Zealand. He quickly justified the selectors faith in his ability, scoring three tries and a penalty goal in the first 30 minutes of play.

The All Blacks built up a 17-0 lead at half time and held B.C. off the scoreboard until the 57th minute when centre Gerry Lorenz finished off a good display of teamwork by the home squad to score B.C.'s lone try.

Scoring the All Black tries were McCormick (3), M. Dick (2), E. Hazlett, E. Kirton, W. Birtwistle and G. Thorne. McCormick also added a penalty goal and three conversions.

THREE-WAY TIE

Scots Jarred By Late Roar

For the better part of 45 minutes Sunday, Canadian Scottish seemed comfortable and at ease. Then the Red Lions decided to roar and today there's no comfort as Scottish find themselves sharing the First Division lead in the Victoria and District Soccer League.

Two goals by Gil McIlreath and another by Hannis Fischer gave Scottish a 3-1 half-time lead and what appeared to be a continuing, undisputed possession of first.

Then the Lions took charge. They rolled in three goals in the second half to hand the Scots a 4-3 defeat.

Ken Bedford scored two goals and John Tregear one, but the man of the hour was Owen Richmond. It was his late scoring shot for Lions that proved to be the winner.

VIKINGS CONNECT

In other games Sunday, University of Victoria Vikings belted Hourigan Kickers 5-1, Doug Hill and Ranjit Dillon provided Victoria West with a 2-0 victory over Luckies and Gorge drew 1-1 with Tally-Ho.

The victories by Vikings and Wests move both clubs into a first-place tie with the Scots.

A battle between the unbeaten highlighted second-division play. After that one ended, London Boxing Club emerged as the only undefeated squad.

The Boxers, getting goals from Rick Barnswell and John Nash, edged Island Tug 2-1 in the big game of the day. In other matches, Wests edged Falcons 3-2; Colony Inn clipped University Norsemen by the same score; William Head Saints drew with Gorge, 4-4, and Mayfair Clippers tied Sidney Hotel, 2-2.

FOR SOCCER

LEGAL BATTLE LOOMS

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—The International Soccer Federation announced Saturday it has engaged counsel to fight an $18,000,000 suit filed by the National Professional Soccer League.

The suit, against the federation, the United Soccer Association and the United States Football Association has been filed in federal court in the U.S.

It alleges a conspiracy to drive the NPSL out of existence.

It claims that, in violation of federal anti-trust laws, the three groups made a contract under which the U.S. Soccer Association—the one recognized by the federation—would have exclusive control for 10 years over professional soccer in the United States.

The National League is not recognized by the federation and European stars playing in it risk suspension when they return home.

Toronto has teams in the United Association and the National League. Vancouver has a team in the United Association.

REWARD for leading Cinderella Boston Red Sox to American League pennant was handed rookie manager Dick Williams (above) at weekend. It came in form of new, three-year contract with "substantial raise." At same time, Bosox announced 50-year-old Sal Maglie "will not be retained" as pitching coach.

Freak Goal Helps Villa To Victory

VANCOUVER (CP)—A freak goal with seven minutes remaining in the game gave Burnaby Villa a 3-2 victory over UBC Thunderbirds in Pacific Coast League action here Saturday.

The result jammed up league standings in the early going of the season. Five of the seven clubs in the league share first place with two points apiece.

Winning goal was scored by Burnaby's Rick Crowley who stuck out his foot to block a harmless clearance by UBC goalie Bruce Ballam.

The ball rebounded back behind Ballam and trickled over the goal line.

Earlier Kevin Walker had given Burnaby a 1-0 lead but Ash Valdal tied the score at 1-1 just before half time. Burnaby went ahead again on a goal by Harold Hansen but UBC again tied the score on a goal by Dave Kotula.

Yanks Pull Out Puck Surprises

GRENOBLE, France (CP) — Dynamo of Moscow defeated a Canadian team 3-0 Sunday in the pre-Olympic hockey tournament inaugurating Grenoble's new ice palace. It was the third straight victory for the Russians as they completed a sweep in the four-team tournament.

Victory gave the Russians six points and first place in the final tournament standings. The surprising United States team, which defeated Cxechoslovakia 8-6 in the final game Sunday night, finished in second with four points. Canada was third with two points and the winless Czechs finished last.

The Americans scored the biggest upset of the tournament on Saturday, defeating Canada 5-4 in a penalty-studded affair.

RUGGED GAMES

The Canadian squad, the Winnipeg section of the national team, played bruising hockey in both weekend games. The Canadians, as expected were fast, but were unable to co-ordinate their attacks.

A violent, stick-waving free-for-all broke out in the second period of the match between the Canadians and Russians.

Almost all the members of both teams rushed on to the ice to join in the fray that lasted several minutes. It broke out after Soviet captain Vitaly Davidov, an old hand in international competition, tangled with forward Ted Hargreaves.

CHARGED GOALIE

The scuffle occurred when Hargreaves charged the Russian goalkeeper during a Canadian attack. Russian teammates immediately hurried to their goalie's defence and nearly all 30 players of both sides were on the ice at one point.

Viktor Chilov, Igor Samarchenov and Alexandre Malsev scored for the Russian team.

The U.S. came from behind with four third-period goals—two of them by Larry Storafhl—to beat Czechoslovakia in Sunday's other game.

In Saturday's game, the upset-minded Yanks took a 4-2 lead in the first period, saw the Canadians pull even in the final period, then pulled out the victory on a late goal by Bruce Riuta.

Members of the two teams shared 30 minutes in the penalty box. Play was stopped for five minutes at one point when Terry O'Malley of the Canadian team and U.S. goalie John Ferreira engaged in a fight.

Lou Manne, Don Ross, Jim Quinn and Jack Dale scored the other U.S. goals. Jean Cusson scored two goals for Canada while Ray Cadieux and Morris Mott picked up one each.

Why Do You Have a Poor Memory?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to the publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anybody who requests it. No obligation. Send your name and address to: Memory Studies, 835 Diversey Pkwy., Dept. 142-210, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

When did Niagara come into the picture?

A medical bill. A clothing bill. A car repair bill. They all seemed to come at once. Jack needed money in a hurry.
Answer: A Niagara Loan. Jack talked it over with the manager of the nearest Niagara Office. Besides getting the money, he got a lot of good advice on budgeting. With a Niagara Loan, Jack was able to pay all his bills at one time. And repay the loan on easy terms to suit his budget.
When you need extra money for any good reason, you can expect the same courteous, quick service at any one of 300 Niagara offices.

Tiny Local Grant to Gallery Rapped

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Victoria has one of the "most progressive" art galleries in Canada — but the municipal councils of Greater Victoria do not seem to appreciate it.

"I'm surprised the art gallery gets so little support from the municipalities," said Jean Boucher, director of the grant-making Canada Council, visiting here Saturday with 20 fellow members and officers of the council.

ONLY $4,500

Mr. Boucher noted that, whereas the Victoria gallery gets only $4,500 a year from its municipal councils, the smaller gallery at Saskatoon receives $60,000 a year.

And the London, Ont., gallery — a little smaller than Victoria's — gets between $60,000 and $70,000.

"It seems Victoria's art gallery gets less support from local government than any other in Canada," Mr. Boucher said.

He added that the Victoria gallery's requests for grants from the Canada Council have always been "reasonable" and, for that reason, have never been refused.

"They have usually been for special projects undertaken by the gallery," Mr. Boucher said.

David Silcox, advisory arts officer with the Canada Council, said Victoria's could be the best of the smaller galleries in Canada.

"Your local councils should appreciate that a gallery of this calibre is a very great asset both in prestige and tourist value."

Mr. Silcox said the Canada Council will continue to watch the Victoria gallery with great interest and, if possible, will give more assistance.

Both Mr. Boucher and Mr. Silcox were impressed by the gallery's permanent collection of Oriental art treasures and agreed it would be better if they had more space.

BASTION THEATRE

Mr. Boucher said the Canada Council would seek "a more satisfying assessment" of the work of Victoria's Bastion Theatre in determining whether it too should receive a council grant.

Here, as in the case of Victoria Art Gallery, Mr. Boucher suggested the municipal councils could do more.

"They don't seem to have done much for the Bastion Theatre," he said. "It is the duty of the community to help bring a theatrical group up to professional level before the Canada Council is asked for a grant."

Mr. Boucher added that various experts will study the work of the Bastion Theatre during the coming season. He said some reports indicated the group was trying to do too many things at once.

Some critics had said the artistic direction of the theatre could be improved, but the Canada Council would make its own decision in this regard.

Jean Martineau, QC, chairman of the Canada Council, spoke highly of both Victoria and Vancouver art galleries.

"The arts cannot live by themselves They flourish to the extent that the public is behind them."

CULTURAL FUND

Mr. Martineau said he welcomed the establishment of the B.C. government's cultural fund, which was set up recently for the promotion and expansion of the cultural resources of B.C.

On their first official visit to Vancouver Island, members of the Canada Council were taken on a tour of the Art Gallery by Colin Graham, curator.

"They were surprised and delighted by our first showing in Canada of paintings of the contemporary Spanish school," Mr. Graham said.

The exhibit includes the work of 11 Catalonian artists and a one-man show of 25 paintings by Spanish artist Jose Tharrats.

"Some of the council said they didn't expect to find such a showing in Victoria," Mr. Graham said.

After lunch at the University of Victoria, the 21 council members returned to Vancouver, where they will hold meetings at the Bayshore Inn on Monday and Tuesday.

The board meets four or five times a year, usually in Ottawa, to set policy and make grants and awards.

The council also meets at least once a year in another Canadian city to give members an opportunity of assessing artistic, cultural and university life in different regions.

Award Cash Turned Down In Protest

NEW YORK (AP)—A Soviet scientist who directs Soviet efforts in the peaceful use of nuclear energy has turned down a $20,000 share in the Atoms for Peace award as a protest against the war in Viet-nam.

The scientist is Professor Vasily S. Vemelyanov, head of the Soviet Administration for the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy.

Three other scientists jointly named, from Canada, France and the United States, said they would accept the award and they will receive it in ceremonies here Nov. 14. Each had been a leader in his country's participation in the International Atomic Energy Agency, an affiliate of the United Nations.

The award is financed by a Ford Foundation grant and is controlled by a board of Americans. It has been presented irregularly since 1955 and in the beginning the prize was $75,000.

Those who will accept the award are Dr. W. Bennett Lewis, vice-president of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Dr. Bertrand L. Goldschmidt of France and Dr. Isidor I. Rabi of the United States. Dr. Rabi won a Nobel Prize in physics in 1944.

Dr. Lewis, born and educated in Britain, has been associated with the development of atomic energy in Canada since 1946. He was a director of the National Research Council's division of atomic energy research and in 1952 became vice-president of AEC.

Double your money with Canada Savings Bonds
One of the great things about Canada is Canada Savings Bonds, and this year's Series is the most exciting yet. Interest starts at 5¼% a year—the highest starting rate ever on a Canada Savings Bond—and goes right up to 6%. Over the 13 years to maturity the true average annual yield is 5.48%.
Best of all, Canada Savings Bonds have a wonderful compound interest feature which pays you interest on your interest. Take full advantage of it and you will double your money.
As always, Canada Savings Bonds are instant cash. They may be cashed at any time for their full face value plus accrued interest. They are easy to buy for cash or on instalments. They fit all savings budgets—from $50 up.
And, for the first time ever, Canada's most popular personal investment may be purchased by businesses, churches, charities, clubs, and other organizations. Another first: the limit per holder for this Series has been increased to $50,000.
Backed by all the resources of Canada, Canada Savings Bonds are a great way to save. Buy yours today and double your money.

Man Crushed Between Log, Barge

ZEBALLOS (CP) — Martin Campbell, 54, died Sunday after being crushed between a log and a barge near here, on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

* * *

LAKE COWICHAN — Teenager Don McLeod of Caycuse suffered a broken neck Sunday morning when the car in which he was a passenger flipped over.

He is in hospital at Victoria.

Driver of the car, Danny Lamont, and a second passenger, Wayne Nekleva, both of Caycuse, escaped with minor injuries.

The accident happened on McLure Lake Road, five miles west of Caycuse.

CHEMAINUS — Total involvement of all employees was emphasized at a safety conference held here.

Almost 100 delegates from B.C. saw mills attended the meeting, hosted by the Chemainus division of MacMillan Bloedel.

They focused attention in particular on eye injuries which George Norris, safety director of B.C. Lumber Manufacturers, said is one of the most pressing safety problems.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Daniel Claire Wilson, 20, of Campbell River was sentenced Saturday in magistrate's court to 30 months in jail for car theft.

NANAIMO — A search for an 18-year-old hunter ended here Saturday with him walking out of the bush unharmed around 5:30 p.m.

Ken McLaughlin, 362 Georgia, was reported missing in the morning and by noon six radio cars, three RCMP officers, a tracking dog and two planes were looking for him.

Civil defence co-ordinator Slim Pritchard said McLaughlin had not said where he was going. He estimated cost of the search at about $600, including lost wages and services.

The search continued until Mr. McLaughlin's car was found near Ivy Park about 4 p.m. He walked out about an hour and one-half later.

NANAIMO — Contrary to popular opinion, visionaries are more often more realistic than realists.

That was the word from Professor L. S. Tiger Saturday to the annual Vancouver Island Community Planning Congress.

He said realists too often postpone needed changes because of lack of funds or other barriers while the idealist knows changes must be made or serious consequences will result.

As an example of what he was talking about he cited communities that are "ordinary" places. He said such communities usually deteriorate into badly run communities and in turn attract people who accept that attitude.

"Those who are most adventurous and lively get up and leave", thus completing the cycle.

He said widely-spaced houses with gardens in front of them are a waste of space. Houses should be closer together but there should be neighborhood parks which all can enjoy.

Weatherman Smiles On Weekend Sailings

By SHIRLEY HEWETT

Pleasant sailing weather was recorded from all stations on the weekend racing circuit.

Twenty-six yachts of the Turkey Head Sailing Association encountered steady winds from 10-15 m.p.h. for their Sunday racing opener.

Stars of the Oak Bay series were Rod McBride's Lemolo and Rick Todd's as yet unnamed yellow sloop.

In the first race, Rod pulled out a substantial second round lead. But he crossed the finish line less than a boat length ahead of last year's champion, Sea Smoke, which finally hit her stride and was closing steadily at the end.

The afternoon contest sent the boat on a five-mile course from Willows Beach to Cadboro Bay Beach marker to Fiddle Reef and back to the starting line.

This time Sea Smoke crossed first, followed by Lemolo.

But in these two races, the first for his new boat, Rick's New Zealand design stole the show and established herself as potential series champion.

Final second race results using CCA ratings on corrected time were:

1, Rick Todd (provisional); 2, Rod McBride's Lemolo; 3, Glen Higgins' Sea Smoke; 4, Ken Low's Bris; 5, Charlie Pash's Chasmoy; 6, Bob Carere's Aquilla; 7, Peter Ferguson's Rebel; 8, Brian Saunders' Hutler; 9, Don McCowan's Haida; 10, Dr. Peter Clark's Halcyon; 11, Alex Kaye's Souci; 12, Roy Barber's Tongariro; 13, Dr. Ron Scott-Moncrief's Tsonoqua; 14, Bob Van den Driessche's Myn-ydos; 15, Pierre le Dallic's La Maquis; 16, Gerry Carter's Caprice; 17, Ian Boorman's K20 design; 18, Brian Huddleston's Gyinda; 19, Russell Potter's Sunbeam. Several boats failed to finish the course.

Frostbite dinghies encountered warm temperatures combined with light and very changeable winds Saturday in Cadborp Bay and Sunday in Esquimalt Harbor.

10-Week Course Offered

Peninsula Indians will have an opportunity to join a free course in public speaking which starts Wednesday, the Saanich school district has announced.

The 10-week course will be held at the Tsartlip elementary school in Brentwood with classes starting at 7:30 p.m. and will be paid for by the Indian affairs department.

"It was felt they wanted to express themselves better and gain more confidence," said Frank Baxter, director of adult education in the school district. "A similar course was held at Nanaimo last year and it proved very popular."

Mr. Baxter said there are about 10 Indians now taking courses offered by the school district's adult education division.

Famed Shawl Shown

NANAIMO (CP) — A shawl worn in the 1856 Legislature of the Crown colony of Vancouver Island by Joseph W. McKay, superintendent of coal production for the Hudson's Bay Co., has been added to the exhibits in Nanaimo's $250,000 Centennial Museum.

USED UNION FUNDS

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—John Francis Upward, 20, was convicted Saturday of theft by conversion of union funds.

He was remanded by Magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown to November 6 for pre-sentence report.

Upward converted $3,300 belonging to the Buttle Lake Local of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union ot his own use.

The money was used to buy a Jaguar XK-E car, which, Upward said, he would use for union purposes, as president of the local.

Report on Pollution

A Nanaimo scientist is on the program at the annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Pollution Control Association in Yakima, Wash., Oct. 25-28.

Michael Waldichuk, oceanographer in charge, Pacific Oceanographic Group, Nanaimo, will present a research report on eutrophication studies in a shallow urban inlet on Vancouver Island.

More than 400 persons engaged in pollution control and abatement are expected to attend the meeting.

Society Seeking Its Old Friends

The Red Cross Society is known throughout the world as the society without enemies.

What the Victoria branch wants to know is how many friends it has now it is a partner with Red Feather in the United Appeal.

The answer will start to unfold today with the start of the United Red Feather-Red Cross residential campaign for part of the 1967 campaign target of $600,000.

W. W. Lewis, president of the Victoria chapter, said "we've got to make this campaign a success. We've got to make the partnership work."

Mr. Lewis, who has conducted two Red Cross campaigns in the past, said that not everybody is wholeheartedly in favor of the partnership but it was necessary.

He said that business people, who lost a lot of working hours by canvassing and being canvassed under the many single appeals, gradually moved to United Appeal. Now many people covered by the residential canvass prefer the one campaign and are glad to see Red Cross as a partner.

This year the Red Cross is using its residential canvass and organizational experience in the United Appeal but the addition of Red Cross canvassers doesn't mean the household campaign team will be double the size.

"Many people have canvassed for both organizations in the past and I expect that the combined forces will be about 50 per cent more than the separate team," Mr. Lewis said.

"If we could cover the whole area with the canvass and reach every home, we would have no trouble going over the top in this campaign. But there's a danger that we won't be able to find captains for some districts."

"Urging co-operation, Mr. Lewis recalled that during the war there was no difficulty finding canvassers.

"In peacetime, it's different. Some of our former supporters are now too old to canvass or have died. It's difficult to replace them with younger people."

Mr. Lewis urged the staunch Red Cross supporters to be generous.

"There are some people who support Red Cross and nothing else. We want them to realize that in this campaign they can still support Red Cross and that all or part of donations can be earmarked for any one of the 24 agencies which are members of United Appeal."

"There will be no Red Cross campaign next year. The money given or pledged now will be used next year," he explained.

HOME GARDEN

Plants Need Extra Care In Winter

By JACK BEASTALL

House plants are most appreciated during winter, the season when conditions indoors make it difficult to keep the plants in good health.

Jack

Closed houses and artificial heating create drafts of hot and cold air, low humidity and a lack of fresh air. Coupled with these are poor light and short days.

A faulty pilot light on a gas stove, or jets that do not light immediately can cause leaves to yellow and drop from most plants.

Leaf yellowing and premature leaf-fall may also result from over-watering. Plants that rest during winter use very little water while those in the flowering stage or due to flower during winter will need normal attention.

Cacti and succulents require little water in winter while philodendrons never like a continuously wet soil.

We have all admired a greenhouse that was filled with happy healthy thriving plants and we have probably wondered why they do so well when the temperature was lower than the average of our living rooms.

The secret is humidity rather than temperature. In the average greenhouse the relative humidity is rarely lower than 60 per cent whereas the living room is nearer 30 per cent.

Trays of pea gravel with water half-way up the gravel and the pots on top out of the moisture will do a lot towards increasing the water content of the air immediately around the plants.

Uvic AMS Finds $115,000 Budget Too Small

The organization which represents all students at the University of Victoria has budgets troubles, even with more money available than ever before.

The $115,500 budget of the Alma Mater Society is up $10,500 over last year. But in the tussle for the dollar, demands seem to be increasing even faster, says treasurer Keith Myers.

One third of the funds available are already committed to a fund for expansion of the Student Union Building.

The Canadian Union of Students and the B.C. Assembly of Students will account for close to $10,000 while the society administration itself will use almost $25,000, said Mr. Myers.

Expenses of the university's athletic council will take up another $15,000.

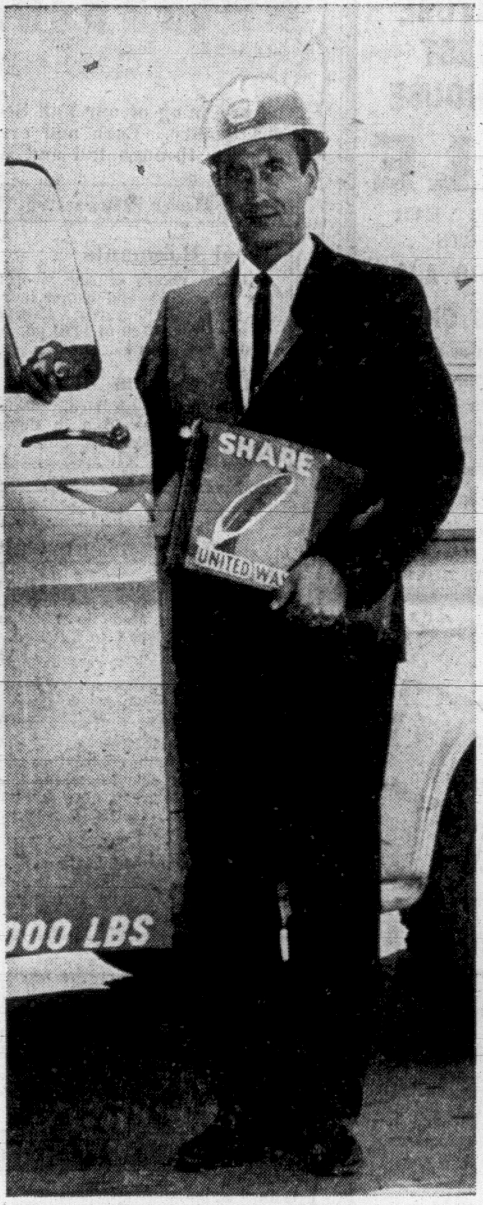
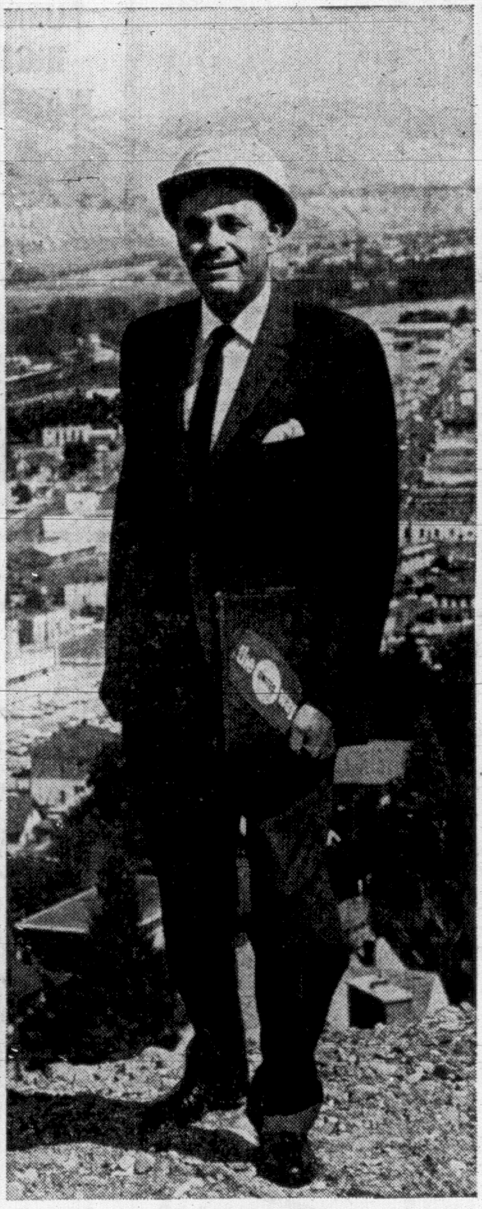
GIL AUCHINLECK



DON CHAMPION



JIM ASSELSTINE

TOM WILLIAMS

There are two sides to this telephone quartet

As B.C. Telephone Company managers they are pledged to give you service. As United Appeal campaign chairmen, they serve to get your pledge.

The timing is coincidental, for certainly Gil Auchinleck, Tom Williams, Jim Asselstine and Don Champion had no concerted plan to wind up in identical capacities with their respective United Appeal agencies at the same time.

But it's no coincidence that these four B.C. Telephone Company men are deeply involved in United Appeal activities.

That is by design, as it is with so many B.C. Telephone people, reflecting their individual desires to serve in whatever way they can to help make their communities better places in which to live and work.

Jim Asselstine summed up his feelings this way: "If you are interested in your community, then you accept your responsibility to do your share to make it a good place to live and work. That is what I am trying to do."

The Others Concur

That Gil Auchinleck, Tom Williams and Don Champion concur is evident from their records of service. Together with Mr. Asselstine, they've compiled more than 16 years of active participation in United Appeals, not to mention their work with service clubs, chambers of commerce, education and arts groups and so many other volunteer organizations.

Mr. Auchinleck, a telephone man for 21 years and now B.C. Telephone's Island Division manager, has served for six years with United Appeals and today is campaign chairman for the Greater Victoria United Appeal.

Mr. Williams, B.C. Telephone's New Westminster District manager, has 21 years' service in telephone work and three in United Appeal activities. Currently, he is campaign chairman for the United Good Neighbour Fund in New Westminster and surrounding area.

Mr. Asselstine, the company's Kamloops District manager and a telephone man for 20 years, has been active in United Appeals for six years, including the last two with the Thompson Valley United Appeal, in which he now is campaign chairman.

Mr. Champion, West Kootenay District manager with 14 years as a telephone man and a year's activity in United Appeals, now is campaign chairman for the Nelson and District Community Chest.

They are but four of many telephone people serving in various capacities with these and other United Appeals, and they represent but a fraction of the thousands of B.C. Telephone employees who serve their fellow citizens through voluntary organizations in communities throughout British Columbia.

In your community, you may find a young woman from the company's business office as pack leader in Scouts. Or a lineman coaching Little League baseball. Or an operator assisting in blood donor clinics. Or an installer in the Parent-Teacher Association. Or a repairman on the hospital board or city or village council.

They're Everywhere

The fact is, you'll find them most everywhere, devoting their time and talents to an almost endless number of community service activities.

Telephone people are like that, because telephone people like to be good neighbours.

7,200 GOOD NEIGHBOURS

B.C. Telephone employs more than 7,200 men and women in British Columbia today. They and their families represent a sizeable percentage of the population in communities large and small throughout the province, where they work and live, raise their children and spend their earnings.

They are your neighbours, your friends. They are British Columbians, vitally concerned with civic affairs, education, welfare and all the other things which help to make our society a better one.

IN ONTARIO

Heavy Vote Expected After Quiet Campaign

By GRAHAM COX

TORONTO (CP)—Campaigning for Tuesday's general election in Ontario virtually wound up during the weekend with provincial party leaders home to stay until the results are known.

They'll be doing some handshaking and visiting in their home ridings, but as Liberal Leader Robert Nixon replied Saturday when asked if he thought they'd sway many voters in the last 24 hours: "I doubt it."

Mr. Nixon's home riding is Brant. Progressive Conservative Premier John Robarts is at home in London South and Donald MacDonald, leader of the New Democratic Party, is running in the Toronto-area riding of York South.

If indications from the advance poll held Thursday, Friday and Saturday are borne out, a heavier than normal vote can be expected Tuesday.

In general, the advance poll was impressively heavier than in 1963, the last provincial election, with most returning officers reporting sharp increases and some reporting turnouts of double the 1963 total of voters.

SWING EXPECTED

The size of the advance poll, results of which won't be known until after the votes are counted Tuesday night, is leading some observers to look for a swing in affiliation to some degree.

It also is being suggested that a 1966 redistribution, which raised the number of ridings in Ontario to 117 from 108 at dissolution, has generated an interest not shown by the general reaction to speeches by the candidates.

The government has been controlled by the Progressive Conservative party for 24 years, with Mr. Robarts as leader since 1961, and both the NDP and Liberal leaders have strongly suggested that this is too long.

Both played steadily on the theme that the Conservatives have become complacent and withdrawn from the needs of the electorate. Mr. Robarts, describing the economic advancement of the province under Conservative governments, said in effect: "You've never had it so good."

A crisis in housing in Ontario also has been blamed by the opposition leaders on government complacency. They charge that the Conservatives have continually failed to act until situations reached crisis proportions.

POINTS TO HOUSE PLAN

On housing, the premier pointed to the Home Ownership Made Easy plan implemented last summer whereby medium-income families may acquire low-cost housing with a moderate down payment.

Regarding the financial crises that rocked the province and the nation in the last two years, Mr. Robarts pointed to expanded powers granted the Ontario Securities Commission to investigate alleged inadequate financing of companies and to demand increased information from both established and developing institutions.

Mr. Robarts has attempted throughout the campaign to make national unity a key issue but, while admitting the importance of unity nationally, both Mr Nixon and Mr. MacDonald have denied that it has a place in a provincial election. They say all three parties are united in the desire that Canada remain one country.

Two of the remarkable aspects of the campaign have been the absence of large rallies by any of the parties and the absence, except for NDP Leader T. C. Douglas in the Sudbury area Saturday and Sunday, of any participation in the campaign by national party leaders.

In Sudbury Saturday, Mr. Douglas said that both the Conservative and Liberal parties were controlled by the financial and industrial corporations of Canada and as such were unfit to govern.

'Too Bad He Can't Change Policies Too!'

DAVID BARRETT
. . . widening gap

A man-on-the-street and a telephone poll indicates a majority of people dislike Premier Bennett's decision to style himself Prime Minister.

Twenty interviews conducted today resulted in 12 opinions opposing the premier's personal up-grading.

Six persons said they didn't care.

Only two were in favor.

Two other points emerged in the questioning.

People who will set their names to their opinions are not in the majority. About 20 declined any comment.

And in Victoria there are many people who for various reasons, usually concerned with business, are afraid to speak critically of the premier or his government. At least six of these reacted against the premier's stand, but added, "don't use my name."

Then they said, "I have to deal with these people, you know."

So bearing in mind that polls are deceptive because a cross section of opinion is really only a cross-section of those who will answer a poll, here are the results:

QUESTION — What do you think of Premier Bennett's announcement that in future he will be known as Prime Minister?

Mrs. Wilson Fox, 1207 Douglas: "It's nuts. To me he's taken the attitude he's the King of Siam."

Keith Myers, 1416 Fort: "Pompous old man. Hell, that's ridiculous. He's just out for his own glory. Next he'll want to be king."

Tom Paul, 1567 Yale: "I think it's really neat he's changed his name. It's too bad he couldn't change his policies as easily."

C. D. Morley, 1273 Fairfield: "It doesn't matter to me but it seems easier to differentiate between the federal and provincial levels by using the two terms."

T. C. Price, 630 Island Road: "Stupid. He's not the prime minister. Thre's only one prime minister in Canada. Premier is good enough."

Mrs. George Warrall, 3120 Wascana: "That title belongs to the prime minister of Canada. I don't really see why every provincial premier should have it."

J. E. Leszko, 1049 Dunford: "It's up to him. He can call himself what he likes."

Mrs. J. G. Jones, 3962 Emerald: "He's taking a liberty. There's only one prime minister of Canada. The title premier is good enough for him."

Ernie Harper, 1104 Topaz, age 21: "The words mean exactly the same thing so what's the difference. Mr. Bennett is merely trying to to confuse newspaper readers who assume that the Prime Minister is Lester B. Pearson."

Bruce Bennett, 727 Esquimalt, age 21, "We could use a pro-American Gaullist, All hail the merchant of Kelowna."

Susan Evans, 1960 Cochrane, "Is this for real? This illustrates our materialistic desire to keep up with the Joneses."

Frank Frketich, 4921 Searidge, "I think its irrelevant. Personally I like premier better. There should be some distinction between the leader of a country and the leader of a province. His reasoning is ridiculous."

S. N. Darling, 1248 Craigflower, 'I think the whole thing is childish."

Robert Cato, 1571 Monterey, "If it's all right in the constitution, I can't see anything wrong with it."

Jim Bowles, 982 Richardson, "I don't think he's entitled to it. But he may have good reasons which I don't know."

Mrs. Thresa Sturrock, 20 Atkins, "I don't think it's right. Canada already has a prime minister and it would lower his prestige to have more. The name premier is sufficient for provincial leaders."

Mrs. Jacqueline Peck, 914 Selkirk, "I think Premier Bennett has done wonders for the province in provision of highways and ferries. If he wants to be called that, by all means.

"The title doesn't mean anything. It's what the man does that counts."

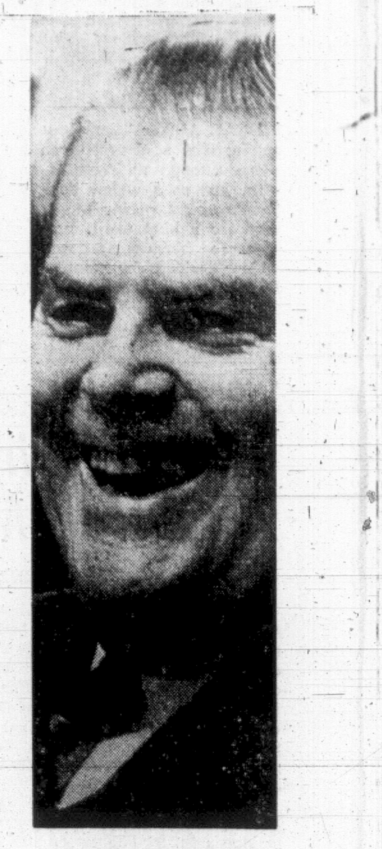
Mrs. Evelyn Bickerton, 879 Tillicum, "one Canadian prime minister should be enough. The prime minister should be the head of the country. The heads of the provinces should be premiers."

Mrs. Beryl Williscroft, 853 Selkirk, "I don't like it at all. I heard a comment that they'd have to call Pearson king."

Murray Halkett, 3165 Midland, "It makes no difference to me."



PREMIER BENNETT
. . . a prime minister too

POLITICAL VIEW OF 'PM' TITLE:

Beauty Depends on Beholders' Eyes

By JOHN MIKA

The politicians' reaction to Premier Bennett's unilateral decree that he is to be called "prime minister" came today and it was predictable.

Social Credit MLA for Victoria Waldo Skillings said the Queen herself has used the title "so I don't see why the press is blowing this up into a storm in a teapot."

NDP MLA David Barrett said Premier Bennett is suffering "delusions of grandeur" which are widening the gap between himself and the people.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said it was only among Quebec separatists that such a title for provincial premier was popular and "I don't care for putting British Columbia into the separatist trend of terms."

"The premier is getting a little power crazy," said Larry Ryan, secretary of the Victoria Labour Council.

"He's power drunk. It is a sign that the government is a one-man government and he is acting like a Caesar."

FULL COMMENTS

Here are their full comments:

David Barrett—Delusions of grandeur speak for themselves.

He still is the premier, although at times we wonder in the Opposition because when we ask him something in the Legislature he always answers "ask the minister of finance."

He's always playing games with names and maybe he's just adding another name to his game

Speaking seriously, this kind kind of delusion is precedent for defeat. He's removed himself from the people.

As for overriding the Legislature (the B.C. Constitution Act designates the term premier only), that's never been any problem for him.

NOT NEW

Waldo Skillings — I've been around a long time and I can remember going down to see a former premier of this province, Duff Pattullo, who had prime minister on his door.

Johnson in Quebec and Robarts in Ontario are known as prime ministers so what's all the kerfuffle about here?

I've heard the princess and even the Queen herself, on two occasions, say 'My prime minister' to Mr. Bennett.

I don't see why the press is blowing this up into a storm in a teapot.

I would certainly support a change in the Constitution Act if it's necessary. We've amended the act before.

And I don't think there will be one dissenting vote (to an amendment) because even the Liberals have had a premier calling himself prime minister.

The premier is elected to lead and I'd say he (Mr. Bennett) was doing a good job. Wouldn't you?

'DELUSIONS'

Ray Perrault—The premier has just come back from another of his European trips and when you've been wined and dined by people on the continent I suppose you develop these delusions.

The terms prime minister and premier are synonomous and I think, from a practical point of view, there's merit in using one for the federal level and the other for the provincial level just so it isn't confusing.

It's true that Mr. Robarts sometimes calls himself prime minister but in the Ontario legislature itself the members refer to him as premier.

The only province where the term prime minister has come into common usage is Quebec and its increased usage there has gone hand in hand with increased separatism as a challenge to the federal authority.

I don't know if that is why Mr. Bennett wants to do the same here but I don't care for putting British Columbia into the separatist trend of terms.

As for the Queen using the title, people must realize that before she made those remarks she would have checked with the premier as a result of protocol requirements.

He (Mr. Bennett) was the one who requested she refer to him in those terms.

It is only in the province of Quebec where you get separatist talk that you normally find this term.

Youth Council Demands Action

By KATHRINE THOMAS

The Victoria Youth Council today threatened "direct action" if city aldermen refuse its request for a three-part referendum at the December 9 election.

The direct action would take the form of an "educative" demonstration at City Hall and the creation of an "alternate city council" to deal with matters pertaining to youth, spokesman Charles Barber said.

The youth council will present its brief to council's legislative committee on Thursday.

If the referendum idea is accepted, three questions would go before voters:

● Would you favor the placing of a voting youth representative on the city council and the municipal councils?

● Would you favor the placing of voting youth representatives on the school board?

● Would you favor the creation of a youth centre in the Greater Victoria area?

"Decisions are made by the councils and by the school board that directly affect the lives of young people," Mr. Barber said.

"We ask that we be given a voice in our own affairs — that we participate in those decision-making processes that affect us.

"Victoria has to recognize that democracy must include everyone if it is to be worthy of the name. The 15-year-old has the right to have some say in the school curriculum he studies."

Representatives to the council and school board would be nominated and elected by a Victoria Youth Congress whose membership would be open to every single "literate" youth in Greater Victoria.

GET VIEWS

The proposed youth centre would contain a 500-seat auditorium, music rooms, offices for young people's organizations, library, writer's workshop, artist's co-operative studio, meditation rooms and a day care centre.

"But we will soon be announcing a series of public meetings to get the views of the public on what should comprise the centre," Mr. Barber said.

"Victoria has the least number of public facilities for young people of any city in Canada and an extremely high juvenile delinquency rate."

The moves by the youth council are part of a "December Plan" whereby they mean to seek "a meaningful and influential voice for youth."

Jealous Husband Kills Wife Then Turns Gun on Himself

Chemainus Home Scene of Shooting

By DESMOND BILL

A jealous Yugoslav imigrant shot and killed his pregnant 17-year-old wife at Chemainus Sunday, then killed himself.

Dead is George Besic, 29, and his bride of seven months, Kathy.

The murder-suicide took place in Besic's house at 9546 Chemainus Highway South.

The couple was married in March of this year but separated a month ago after violent quarrels, friends said.

They described Besic as unreasonably jealous.

PICK UP CLOTHES

Mrs. Besic went back to his house Sunday, along with her aunt Mrs. Ann Gajda, 1048 Tillicum, Victoria, and a male cousin, to pick up her winter clothes.

Mrs. Gajda said she told Kathy not to go into the house if her husband "seemed to be mad."

But, she said, Besic invited Kathy in and did not appear to be angry although he would not allow Mrs. Gajda's nephew to enter the house.

Said Mrs. Gajda: "Kathy went in and out twice, picking up her clothes. Then she went in again. I heard the shots, one after the other. She yelled just once, 'Ann'."

RAN INTO HOUSE

Mrs. Besic's cousin ran into the house and found the bodies lying in the bedroom. Besic apparently used a .303 rifle to shoot his wife through the head and then killed himself the same way.

Besic came to Canada only two years ago and worked at the Chemainus planer mill of MacMillan, Bloedel.

Mrs. Besic, a tall, attractive girl, came here from Yugoslavia in August, 1966, to visit Mrs. Gadja and liked this country so well that she did not want to return home.

She met Besic in January just about the time when she was notified by Canadian immigration authorities that she would have to return home. She decided, instead, to marry Besic and stay here.

SEPARATED IN AUGUST

Trouble started shorty after the wedding in March but the separation only came in August when Mrs. Besic, by then four months pregnant, decided to go and live with her aunt instead of returning to her home after a spell in hospital.

Besic pestered her with visits and telephone calls and she left her aunt's home a few weeks ago to be a live-in babysitter with a Victoria family.

She is survived by her mother and father and a brother in Yugoslavia.

Besic was convicted of careless driving a year ago after knocking down and killing a woman in a crosswalk in Duncan.

'Ottawa Must Cut Spending'

By AB KENT
Business Editor

Drastic steps—like withholding medicare two years—are needed to help bring government spending down to an acceptable level, Canadian Investment Dealers' Association president E. M. Kennedy urged today.

Visiting Victoria on an annual tour of IDA branches across the country, Mr. Kennedy of Midland-Osler Securities Ltd., London, and H. W. Tingley, IDA vice-president, chairman of the Pacific district, and resident director of Wood Gundy Securities Ltd., Vancouver, met with government officials and local IDA members.

Mr. Kennedy said investment dealers are concerned with rising interest rates and the place to start a campaign against the increase is the three levels of government.

DO TOO MUCH

Priorities must be established, he said, suggesting that government is trying to do too much, too fast.

"As Mr. Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, said in his 1966 annual report, 'You cannot get a quart of wine out of a pints bottle'."

Medicare, he said, is a "pretty expensive thing. I think it would be a good thing to postpone medicare at least a couple of years.

"We are in a pretty drastic situation and some pretty drastic things have got to be done."

The IDA president agreed there are some areas in which restraint is difficult.

He said he would not presume to tell government which steps should be taken.

INTEREST RATES

Current high interest rates reflect the fact that demand for money far out-runs the supply, Mr. Kennedy said.

"Another factor is that stocks are becoming more popular with investors because equities are a participation in Canada's future growth and thus are a hedge against inflation."

He agreed it is true that substantial investment is being made in the U.S. stock market by Canadian investors, helping to boost the flight of capital from Canada.

But this is not a serious problem and is probably only temporary as the American market is more vigorous and thus more attractive.

SWING BACK?

The glamor issues, however, present some danger. The pendulum must swing back, he felt, because it is dangerous to have equities selling at 20, 30, 40 and sometimes 60 times their earnings, as some have been doing in New York.

On the Carter taxation report, Mr. Kennedy said the association had lodged its opposition in a brief, but he felt the philosophy the recommendations contain may be used in the future to improve the Canadian tax system.

LUNGED WITH KNIFE

Man Pleads Guilty Assaulting Police

A 21-year-old man pleaded guilty today to assaulting an Esquimalt police officer Sept. 28.

Central court was told Robert Wilson, CGS Stonetown, was watching from the window of an apartment on Admirals Road when police arrived to check a car suspected of being involved in a hit and run accident.

Wilson came down to the car, removed a sheathed knife from it, and placed the knife in his pocket.

Cpl. Ken Hatherley and Constable Gordon Jenkins questioned him about the kinfe, and asked for his driver's licence.

Cpl. Hatherley told the court at this point Wilson pulled the knife and lunged at him, cutting the officer's hand.

The officers had to remove the knife forcibly, and a scuffle followed before they were able to handcuff Wilson.

The accused also pleaded guilty to driving while his licence was under suspension.

Sentence on both charges has been deferred to Friday for pre-sentence report.

Ask The Times

Q. What is the difference between "preference" and "preferred" shares in a company? J.R.K.

A. The words are used interchangeably in the Canadian Investment Dealers' Association study course.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

CIVILIAN TARGET $11,500

Navy Tops Appeal Goal

Civilian personnel of the Pacific Maritime Command will have to do some pretty fast giving to keep up with their military counterparts.

Today, as the United Red Feather-Red Cross appeal opened its residential canvass, the uniformed personnel of the command had donated or pledged $16,890 or 103 per cent of the $16,000 target.

Another $1,000 is expected before the drive ends October 31.

Civilian personnel have donated about $4,000 of their $11,500 objective.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Divorcees Need Understanding, Too!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for saying that a divorcee can be alone through no fault of her own, just as a widow is. Most people aren't willing to give a divorcee a kind word. I am a divorcee because a wealthy widow decided she wanted my husband.

"FOOD FOR THOUGHT"

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the widow who wonders why widows keep losing all the eligible men to divorcees is one that I would like to answer. My qualifications: A bachelor who has had a great deal of experience dating both.

On a man's first date with a widow, she will pull a picture of her "dearly beloved, deceased husband" out of her purse and then tell you how "wonderful" he was, and what a beautiful life they had together. (If you ask around, their life wasn't nearly as "beautiful" as she said it was.)

Then, to show you how domestic she is, she invites you to her home where, on the living room wall, hangs a big picture of "HIM" staring you in the face all evening. (If you had any romantic ideas about her, this will kill them fast.)

Her conversation is about how "good" he was to her and the trips they had together. It is sickening.

A divorcee, on the other hand, will seldom mention her ex-husband's name. And if she does, she doesn't make you feel as though you are competing with a saint.

I've known exceptions, of course, but as a rule, divorcees are much better company. Sincerely,

EXPERIENCED

DEAR ABBY: I was quite interested in your article a while back where the widow complained that she has lost out several times to divorcees, and asked you why.

As you know, the longer a woman is a widow, the greater was her husband, and it often gets to the point that he was the most magnificent human being who ever lived. The following story may illustrate the point:

"The greatest man who ever lived, was Huggins. Broadminded, tolerant, generous, temperate, patient, brilliant, yet he died with all his good qualities unsuspected."

"Well, how did you manage to find out so much about him?"

"I married his widow."

Sincerely yours

Penny Finds Filter A Coffee Making Aid

By Penny Saver

Today was the kind of day that shouldn't be allowed to happen. The younger set had done their homework, the housework was finished in half the usual time, so feeling happy about the state of the world I decided to brew myself a pot of coffee. To my dismay the coffee percolated itself into a bitter-tasting mud. Remembering my neighbor who always makes good coffee I phoned her to find out her secret. She said it was her method of brewing, rather than the coffee itself, that made it so good. It was at her suggestion I went out to get something to improve my coffee making.

If you have trouble making a good cup of coffee or dislike making a pot for one person you will like the filter I found. These filters are marked from three to six cups for easier measuring and come equipped with a supply of filter papers and a measuring scoop. This filter can be used on any type of coffee pot. Place the filter over the pot with a paper inside it. Measure out the coffee needed, remembering that one scoop is good for six ounces of coffee. Always use extra fine grind coffee for the best results. Moisten the coffee by pouring boiling water up to the three mark and let it stand for a few seconds. Continue to pour water over the coffee up to the six line if a large pot is wanted. A filter costs $1.70.

If you would like a present that is different, the book on German cooking I saw would be the very thing. I could not resist bringing one home as a bit of early Christmas shopping. It is written in English with the measurements given in both the metric and the English system. All the illustrations are in color including the cuts of meat. It is good not only for German dishes but also as a general cooking reference. It is priced at a very reasonable $3.50.

Some of the cushion covers in our household were starting to get faded and tattered and now seemed a good time to replace them. The covers I've decided on are a heavy weave and come in a variety of color combinations. I finally chose one of yellow and black to fit the large cushion on the sofa. There is a color to suit almost any color scheme. They're priced from $4.60 to $7.95.

If you would like to know where I found these items give me a call at 382-3131.

CHARLES AT CAMBRIDGE

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP)—Prince Charles has settled in as a college freshman in Trinity College at Cambridge University.

The Prince, who will be 19 next month, is specializing in archeology and anthropology. It's expected that he will stay at Trinity two years and then go to a university overseas. McGill in Montreal is mentioned as a likely school.

The Prince lives in New Hall, a rather gloomy dormitory which is 123 years old. He has room six, which actually is a bedroom and a sitting room. It is on the second floor rather than the ground floor—to avoid the gluing of noses to windows, as one school official put it. Part of the grounds have been closed to visitors to keep out the curious.

There is no central heating and no private bath. To take a bath, Prince Charles has to scamper across a windy cobblestone courtyard to soap himself in a communal bathroom.

The students at New Hall cook their own breakfasts in their rooms. Other meals generally are eaten in the dining hall. In the hall is a constant reminder of royalty. A huge portrait of King Henry VII looks down arrogantly on the diners. It was Henry who founded Trinity in 1546.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lowman

Want to go fishing, for fish? Even if you do not catch any, this is a delightful sport, and one which can be indulged in at any age and can be begun at any age.

Leaders in the field on geriatrics have long pointed to fishing as one of the few sports that can be enjoyed throughout a lifetime, offering exercise, relaxation, fresh air and sunlight.

Most important, the exercise involved can be as strenuous or as mild as you wish. For the hearty, an outing may involve wading up a swiftly flowing trout stream.

For those less energetic or less fit physically, it provides a pleasant sojourn. You can fish from a pier, a boat or a bank, and relax and build castles in the air while you wait for the fish to bite.

Another wonderful thing about fishing is that it is an age leveller. Parents and children, and grandparents and grandchildren, can enjoy it together. Many older people become anglers in order to develop a closer relationship with their grandchildren.

Mr. Thomas Lenk, president of The Garcia Corporation, one of the largest manufacturers of fishing tackle, put it beautifully when he said, "With rods in their hands, and a stream at their feet, the wall of years separating man and boy seems to crumble and communication is no longer a problem."

The United States Department of the Interior's report places the number of fishing folk at 33 million, and more than 8 million of them are women. Yep, more and more women are fishing. There are several reasons for this.

In the first place lightweight, easy to use equipment is available. It does not require strength to be a good angler. Then too, there are new and better facilities, including piers, party boats, and living accommodations for the travelling fisherman which make "roughing it" unnecessary. An increasing number of retired couples are finding fishing to be an enjoyable and rewarding experience to share.

I was interested to learn that many senior citizen groups are now sponsoring their own fishing trips, with prizes offered for the biggest fish and the longest string caught. If your own local organization isn't doing this, perhaps it is a good idea to suggest this new activity. It sounds like fun!

If you would like to have my "Eight Week Self-Improvement Marathon Diet" send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

COOKING CAN BE FUN By Mary Moore

Grandson Catches Dinner

Sergeant Fischer took Gary fishing north of Victoria on Vancouver Island. As you know, Gary is my 11-year-old grandson. Sgt. Fischer's commanding officer is my son-in-law, Lt.-Col. Herbert Pitts, who was in the boat too when Gary caught a 14-pound coho salmon with a minnow. He boated it all by himself after a 20-minute fight. I bow low to those two men who had the discipline to watch his triumphant struggle.

Marianne wrote: "Gary's perseverance paid off. Pictures to follow." So I "rit a pome":

"There was a young man named Gary,
Whose enthusiasm for fishing was very.
For eleven long years
He dropped hooks over piers,
Caught a coho too heavy to carry!"

Yesterday I received Gary's reply:

"There was a slick chick named Mary,
Who wrote a poem to Gary.
He was so proud he shouted out loud
And ended up with his head in a cloud.
He fell from his boat
And got a sore throat,
Now he sits in his bed
And nurses his head.
Mom shook her finger
And said, Don't linger
By the water longer than you oughter!"

A delicious sequel to this fun and games is that when Marianne served Gary's salmon cut into steaks for dinner that night, all of the younger children (some of whom avoid fish) ate their plates clean!

BROILED SALMON STEAKS

Six 1" thick salmon steaks, milk, about 1 cup fine sifted cracker crumbs, about 1 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon basil (optional), melted butter, about 1-3 cup.

Soak the salmon steaks in milk, if you have time, for one hour. Mix together crumbs, salt, pepper and basil, if used. Dredge the well-drained salmon steaks with crumb mixture. Place on buttered or oiled broiler rack. Drizzle with half of the melted butter and place two inches below preheated broiler and broil about 7 minutes on each side, turning only once. Do not overcook. Serve immediately with lemon wedges.

Bride Wears Grandmother's Gift as Talisman

ANDERSON-BENNETT VOWS HEARD

A gold watch, a gift of her grandmother, was the "something old" talisman for Karen Elizabeth Bennett when she became the bride of Gordon Stanley Anderson in St. Aidan's United Church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported brocade styled with lily point sleeves. A matching train swept back from the shoulders, complemented by her tiered veil of scalloped silk illusion which misted from a lace and mother-of-pearl coronet headpiece, "something borrowed" from her matron of honor. As jewelry accents she wore pearl drop earrings, gift of the groom, and a pearl necklace. She carried a white Bible, borrowed from her sister, Mrs. J. Manzini, topped with a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and ivy.

Rev. A. G. MacLeod officiated at the service uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. G. Bennett, 3224 Service Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, 3226 Doncaster Drive.

Gold and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the church for the service. Miss Doreen Jackson, cousin of the bride, sang "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register, accompanied by organist Mrs. Vera Barclay.

Attendants to the bride wore matching gowns of imported turquoise and gold brocade styled on empire lines. Turquoise illusion veils misted from self-fabric wedding ring headpieces. They carried bouquets of chrysanthemums en tone with their gowns. Bridesmatron was Mrs. M. Picard, the bridesmaid was Miss Sheila Pettinger and the bride's sisters Mrs. J. Blank, Powell River, and Mrs. Roberta Manzini, Nanaimo, were bridesmatrons.

Miss Cheryl Anderson, niece of the groom was flower girl. She wore a floor-length dress of turquoise peau d'elegance styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt with turquoise flowers woven in her hair. She carried a colonial bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

Gary Johnson, Chilliwack, was best man and guests were ushered by Al Hurst, Bob Viggers and Gerald Walker, Nanaimo, to pews marked by white roses and turquoise net.

At the reception following in Henderson Hall the head table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake, topped with wedding bells. Mrs. Lila Bates proposed the toast to the bride. G. K. Blank, Wellington, acted as master of ceremonies and Dr. Pepper's orchestra provided music for dancing.

For travelling on honeymoon to Vancouver, Powell River and Calgary the bride chose a sapphire blue suit which she accented with white accessories and white roses and carnations en corsage.

Chapel of Local School Scene of Recent Wedding

Rev. A. E. Leonard officiated at the service in St. Ann's Academy Chapel when Monica Francisca Roelofsen and Michael Clifford Pinch exchanged rings and vows. It was the second wedding to take place in the chapel since 1890.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a short-sleeved gown of nylon crepe over taffeta fashioned with a lace bodice. A lace crown headpiece held her full cathedral train and veil of nylon crepe which was trimmed with matching lace. She carried a bouquet of red roses, white carnations and ivy.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. J. Roelofsen, 1339 Newport Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Pinch, 4186 Oakridge Crescent.

Lily of the valley and ivy markers, made by Mrs. L. Foxall, Vancouver, were on the pews. Sister Mary Amie played the piano, accompanying the singing of the Juniorate.

Miss Marie Bruch was maid of honor, Miss Hanna Roelofsen, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid, and bridesmatron was Mrs. Robert Montgomery, the groom's sister. They wore matching gowns of turquoise peau d'elegance encircled with lace at the empire waistlines. They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Dave Meredith was best man. Robert Montgomery, the groom's brother-in-law, and Roland Hill ushered the guests.

Matt Fovall, Vancouver, was ring-bearer.

At the reception following in the Carlton Club a three-tier wedding cake, topped with yellow roses, centred the head table. Ron Fovall, Vancouver, proposed the toast to the bride.

Travelling to Victoria for the ceremony were Mrs. Beth Day, Toronto, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Foxall of Vancouver.

For travelling on honeymoon to San Francisco, Calif., Reno., Nev., and Salt Lake City, Utah, the new Mrs. Pinch chose an emerald green suit which she accented with black patent accessories and a pink and white carnation corsage.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home in the Royal Commodore Apartments.

BESS McGILLIVRAY

Bringing Aid, Comfort To Victims of MS

By ELIZABETH FORBES

It's almost 20 years since a Scottish lass named Bess McGillivray (she'll tell you now she's a Canadian although she still has a "turn of the tongue") came from Winnipeg to make her home in Victoria.

—Forbes

In those years Miss McGillivray has held business office positions, been secretary to the Victoria Symphony Society and has also found time to organize and set up the office of the Victoria School of Music.

Latterly, however, she has concentrated all her efforts (and that means almost every hour of every day) on her great love in the volunteer field—the Victoria and Vancouver Island Multiple Sclerosis (MS) Society.

Sit quietly and listen to Bess talk about MS and you soon realize why she is so vitally interested in her work. And why there is such a need to aid and to encourage those with this mysterious disease.

She quickly explains that multiple sclerosis is a crippling disorder of the central nervous system the cause of which is still a mystery and for which medical science has yet to find a cure. It usually attacks those in the prime of life.

Then she goes on to tell you that it was just after she came to Victoria that Mrs. M. Jennings (both she and her daughter were MS patients) organized the Victoria Branch of the MS Society of Canada. Mrs. Jennings became the first president and Bess volunteered to do the clerical work.

Funds were raised by tag days, teas and luncheons, raffles and bazaars and from donations and membership fees. With the exception of 25 per cent allowed for patient aid, this money went to headquarters in Montreal for research work.

At that time there were fewer than 50 MS patients on the list, all in Victoria. But gradually calls for aid came from up-Island points and the patient membership grew to 100.

Mrs. Jennings had given up the presidency by then and Mrs. Evelyn Lamont (now of Langley, B.C.) was in the chair. She and Miss McGillivray were kept busy visiting the MS patients in an effort to discover their needs and to find the best way to aid them.

Basically patient aids included wheelchairs, physiotherapy, braces, canes, hoists and homemaker service for mothers with families.

"But there was so much more needed," Bess McGillivray remembers, "and so little money to do anything with."

In 1961, with retired newspaper editor Archie Wills in the president's chair, it was decided to "break away from the national organization and to register a local society with its own office headquarters."

For a while this reacted favorably as far as funds were concerned but more and more patients soon wiped out the credit balance and the need became almost as great as it had been in the beginning.

So, in 1963, in order to avoid duplication of fund-raising appeals, the society became a Community Chest agency.

Today there are 200 MS patients registered with the society. Its budget for this year was over $28,000. A sum of $12,300 came from Chest funds and the balance from donations, the $2 annual memberships and from a share of United Appeal funds from Nanaimo, Comox, Courtenay and the Alberni Valley.

Besides the office where Mrs. Catherine Lawrie is in charge now as executive secretary, a physiotherapy clinic is maintained in Saanich Municipal Hall under Mrs. Pat Spriggs.

One of the most important services—Bess McGillivray believes—is visiting patients in hospitals, nursing homes and in their own homes.

HOUR BEFORE WEDDING THEY DIED

SEATTLE (AP) — A couple about to be married were slain by a former suitor while they prepared for the wedding Saturday and the slayer then shot himself to death, police said.

The shooting took place only an hour before Thelma Jane Oligario, 35, and George E. Lothrop, 39, a merchant seaman, were to have been married.

Police said the assailant, whom they identified as Peter Rosario, 43, burst into Mrs. Oligario's apartment with an automatic pistol.

Officers said he apparently shot Lothrop, then the woman and then turned the pistol on himself.

Cigarettes, $8 Thieves' Loot In 3 Break-ins

Thieves broke into three stores in one building early Sunday morning, but apparently escaped with little.

Blake's Grocery, Lilian's Beauty Shop and Ethel's Cake Shop are all located at 101 Burnside Road East.

The intruders forced the back door of the grocery and took six cartons of cigarettes and several small items.

They went down a back hallway and entered the beauty shop, taking eight one dollar bills.

A door led them to the cake shop, but it appears nothing was taken.

Sawmill Burns

LUMBY, B.C. (CP) — Fire levelled a lumber mill three miles west of this Okanagan community early Sunday. Police said the mill, owned by R. V. Schmidt and Sons Ltd., employed about 60 men.

Castro Admits Bolivians Killed Guevara

HAVANA (CP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro announced Sunday night he has accepted as "bitterly true" that his former comrade in arms, Ernesto (Che) Guevara, is dead.

Castro made his acceptance in a speech beamed throughout Latin America that appeared to be the first step in a campaign to establish the Argentine doctor, said to have been killed in Bolivia, as a revolutionary hero and martyr.

He said "imperialism has a fear of Che after death." Guevara had been eliminated physically but his example "can never be eliminated by anything or anyone."

The usually-flamboyant Castro, his voice subdued by emotion, accused the Bolivian army of murdering the 39-year-old Guevara after capturing him Oct. 8.

The death of one of the leading tacticians of the Cuban revolution was a "very hard blow to the revolutionary movement."

SILENT ON FUTURE

He did not explicitly say whether Guevara's death would have any effect on Cuban foreign policy—or what would become of Guevara's vision of setting Latin America ablaze with half a dozen anti-American guerrilla wars.

Castro said he could not doubt the authenticity of photographs of the dead man and a diary said by Bolivian officials to belong to Guevara.

Castro, who was accused by a Venezuelan Communist last week of killing Guevara two years ago in Cuba, said he was declaring three days of mourning for the revolutionary.

A memorial tribute would be held here Wednesday night and the Cuban flag would be flown at half staff for 30 days. The date Bolivian officials said Guevara died would become a national Cuban holiday.

SOUGHT SHORTEST SMALL-PLANE ROUTE

Three Men Missing on Northern Hop

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP)—Light snow cut visibility and hampered the search Sunday for three men missing aboard a private plane on a flight from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Inuvik.

The missing Piper PA23 Aztec failed to reach Inuvik on the 500-mile second leg of a planned flight from Anchorage, Alaska, to the Norwegian capital of Oslo.

Owner and pilot was identified as Thor Tjontveit, 30, of Fairbanks. With him were co-pilot Rolf Storhavg, 22, of Oslo, and navigator Einar Pedersen, 48, chief navigator for the Scandinavian Airlines system.

The men said in an interview before taking off from Fairbanks that they were attempting to establish the shortest and safest route for small plane owners wanting to fly from Alaska to Europe.

They planned the 4,000-mile flight mostly over land and ice, with stops scheduled every 300 to 500 miles.

SLEEPING BAG HIPPIE'S BAIL

VANCOUVER (CP) — A sleeping bag is the only possession of Michael Wolf, 18, he told the court Saturday when he appeared on a vagrancy charge.

Magistrate Les Bewley promptly accepted the hippie's bag as bail until he appears for trial Monday.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merril advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion - beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a supply.

Labor Meet To Discuss New WCB Act

The 12th annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Labour opens in Vancouver next Monday.

About 400 delegates are expected to attend the week-long meeting which will consider nearly a dozen reports and more than 100 resolutions.

The federation comprises about 300 local unions throughout the province with a membership of more than 130,000.

Special emphasis is being placed this year on workmen's compensation with a day-long conference Sunday on the new act which received only first reading at the last session of the legislature.

MAJOR ISSUE

A federation spokesman has said labor will make this "a major issue" before the next sitting of the legislature in January when the new act will be considered.

The use of injunctions in labor-management disputes, a highlight of last year's convention, should be a topic again. The federation is currently running a $25,000 anti-injunction advertising campaign.

Two separate disputes during the past year — the pulp union "bugging" episode and the suspension and later reinstatement of four locals of the International Woodworkers of America — are expected to provide some sparks.

One rumor that John Squire, recording secretary of the IWA's Port Alberni local, will oppose federation secretary Ray Haynes for election was scotched today.

NOT A DELEGATE

"I'm not even a delegate," said Mr. Squire.

One resolution to the convention, approved last month by the Victoria Labour Council, touches on one of the biggest problems facing trade unions.

The council's resolution asks the federation to request the Canadian Labour Congress to provide a "task force" to "organize the unorganized."

While the slogan "organize the unorganized" is an old one, its relevance is shown by union membership statistacs and last convention's report of the organizing committee.

In B.C., according to the last annual report of the labor department, 42.7 per cent of the total work force are in unions. Across Canada, the percentage drops to 30.7 per cent.

Last fall's convention was told by the federation's organizing committee that "we must recognize that in terms of organizing new groups of workers we are falling badly behind.

"The growth in the white collar and the service field is where, as unions, we are the weakest. If we are to be successful in this we must start a concerted effort to mobilize unions into organizing committees working in this field."

Proper surveys on the potential or organization in various fields was the first step followed by drawing up a plan and an approach to unions for support and money.

WINNER of second prize in national essay contest is Victoria Daily Times carrier Trevor Dawson of 1615 Gladstone. He displays $250 in Canadian government bonds—his prize for outlining history of firefighting in Victoria. There were 122 entries. Trevor wrote as if he were the ancient fire engine which is displayed at Victoria's main fire hall, citing the glories of the past and its observations of the modern scene. The essay contest was a feature of National Fire Prevention Week, which ends today.

TIMES CONTEST WINNERS

'Snaps' Vie for $50,000

Four pictures from Victoria photographers are among those being judged by five of the continent's best cameramen in Rochester, N.Y.

The pictures are those which won the overall competition in The Times Amateur Snapshot contest this summer.

They were sent to the national finals to compete for $50,000 in travel prizes.

When the main winners are judged, the Canadian entries will be judged again in a separate contest for the $200 prize for the best Canadian print in the show and the seven $100 prizes for merit shown by Canadian photographers.

Winners will be named in mid-November.

VICTORIA WINNERS

Newspapers all over the continent received more than 258,000 entries and local winners chosen from these went to the finals.

Victoria winners were Mrs. A. A. Darbyshire, 2090 Penzance; Robin Spear, 103 View Royal; Mrs. Sandra Sievert, 8452 Lawrence Avenue, and Felix Klardie, 2753 Strathmore.

Judges in the national competitions are Dean Conger, assistant photography director for National Geographic; Maurice Johnson, United Press International photographer; Myron Matzkin, senior editor of Modern Photography magazine; Ozzie Sweet, freelancer who has had more than 1,400 pictures on magazine covers, and Peter J. Braal, manager of Eastman Kodak's photo illustrations division.

'Help Yourself' Liquor Store For Fort Street

Establishment of a self-serve liquor store here, rumored for almost a year, has been officially announced.

Attorney-General Bonner said Friday work had started on the renovation of the old Safeway store at Fort and Foul Bay to make way for the only self-serve liquor store on Vancouver Island.

Delays in starting may postpone the opening until close to the New Year.

Makes Rough Wrinkled Necks Smoother

If your throat is rough, wrinkled and old looking let me suggest you apply a delightful lotion-like substance you can get at any drug or department store. It's called 2nd Debut and it exclusively contains the Wiesbaden Discovery known scientifically as CEF 600 which carries needed moisture into and under the skin. Not only is wrinkled, loose flabby skin pushed up and made smooth again but at the same time the aging look of a crepe paper throat disappears and you look years younger fast. You can also get "2nd Debut" with CEF 1200 for double strength moisturizing action. Remember the name . . . 2nd Debut.

MARIJUANA LAW CHANGE?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Chronicle says the government is considering proposals to change its classification of marijuana from narcotic to "dangerous drug."

The newspaper says such consideration is going on "at the highest cabinet level." The proposals would remove possession and use of marijuana from the felony category.

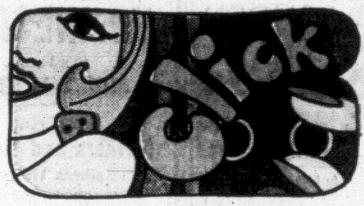
TAKE YOUR CHOICE
of these color TV features

1. Colortone Control. Paint a picture to suit your fancy, by adding a touch more red when you want it. So people always look pink and pretty. Just the way you like them.

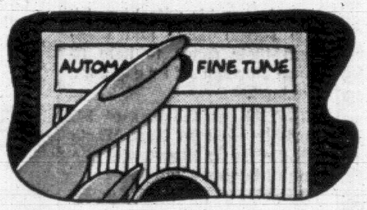
2. Direct Vision Picture Tube. We're sure we've got the best and brightest picture in the business. The last thing we want to do is dull it. So there's only one layer of glass in the screen. Others have two layers. Why? Who knows?



3. InstaVu. CLICK! And you have a picture. In one-fifth the time. So you don't have to stand around waiting for the action.

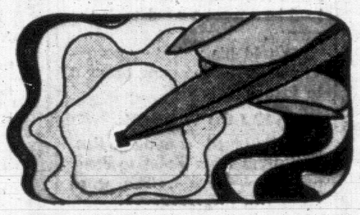
4. Automatic Color Control. The colors you choose are there to stay, even if the TV signal varies. You can't see the automatic feature. But it's working for you.

5. Convenience Control Panel. You don't need a Ph.D. in engineering to use our set. The control panel is easy to operate. And nice to look at too.



6. Automatic Fine Tuning. Really automatic. No fooling. All you do is pick a channel. Then press a very special little button. Result? Perfect picture! Effortlessly. Try it. You'll see.

7. Easy Servicing. Talk to any serviceman. He'll tell you Electrohome takes less time to service. And time means money.



8. Integrated Circuitry. Here's a good thing that comes in a very small package. It's about the size of a bee's knee. But it does the work of many larger gizmos. Electrohome uses this small wonder in the tuner; it's one reason why our automatic fine tuner works such marvels.

9. Unique Reliability. We've patented a new type chassis. It can't trap hot air the way others do. Matter of fact, the hot air is drawn right out of the set. So components are protected from heat. And from failure.

10. Life Test. Electrohome demands perfection. All our color TV sets are given a rigorous "wear-in" test before they leave the factory. That way we find the bugs, not you. Result. Longer, peak-performance operation with better, more consistent picture quality.

11. And much, much more . . . Automatic degaussing. Super Arbor Nuvistor Tuner. 25,000 volts of picture power. Color coded controls. Add-on remote. Illuminated channel indicator. Complete with UHF. Deilcraft hand-crafted cabinet. Plus Canadian engineering to meet Canadian broadcast conditions.

Catholic Laymen to Seek Stronger Voice in Church

From Reuters-AP

VATICAN CITY (CP)—Roman Catholic lay leaders from 103 countries have agreed to press their bishops for a bigger say in church government, conference sources said today.

The conference on the lay apostolate, grouping 3,000 delegates, made the controversial decision at midnight Sunday night only hours after Pope Paul warned the laymen it was absurd to think they could free themselves from the authority of the church hierarchy.

They decided to send a memorandum to the Pope's consultative synod of bishops, now meeting here and already locked in a theological struggle with the Vatican to modernize the church.

The memorandum suggests the formation of elected lay bodies in individual countries to present laymen's views to the episcope on problems facing the church in the modern world.

It was approved by a majority vote, despite opposition from some church officials who feared the laymen were trying to go too far too fast in the liberal atmosphere following the 1962-65 Vatican council.

Unrest among the 3,000 laymen on such issues as birth control has been notable during their week-long congress, the first since the council.

The Pope, celebrating mass for the laymen at St. Peter's, said it was absurd to think the laymen could act as their own ministers and theological interpreters.

"Anyone who attempts to act without the hierarchy or against it . . . could be compared to the branch which atrophies because it is no longer connected with the stem which provides its sap," he declared.

Meanwhile, nearly 200 Roman Catholic bishops at the half-way stage of the first bishops' synod in church history, have advocated acceptance of new ideas and changes to bring the church into step with the times.

On the delicate subject of doctrinal issues, bishops generally disagreed with a pessimistic Vatican report saying attempts by theologians and clergy to interpret traditional church teaching in ways more understandable to modern minds are great dangers to the faith.

Many influential bishops insist these attempts while sometimes clumsily formulated, should be welcomed with an open mind and not subject to sweeping condemnation.

Music Expert To Lecture On Schubert

The world's leading authority on Schubert will present the first of three novel lecture-recitals on the master composer at the University of Victoria Tuesday.

Tessa Birnie, will study aspects of the composer's work in a piano lecture in the auditorium of the Education-Arts Building. The program gets under way at 8 p.m.

A New Zealander living in Australia, she is conductor of her own string orchestra in Sydney, a patron of the Australian Mozart Society and founder of the Australian Society for Keyboard Music.

Miss Birnie is also an authority on baroque music, a subject she has researched in Austrian and German libraries.

She is currently completing a series of LP records of all the Schubert piano sonatas.

Her other recitals will be Thursday and next Tuesday evenings. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Liz's Dress Gives Dick's Film a Run

OXFORD, England (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, wearing the face that could launch a thousand ships and a dress that could pay for them, nearly outpriced her husband's movie Sunday night.

Miss Taylor wore a $700,000 black velvet gown trimmed in mink and emeralds as she and Richard Burton arrived for the premiere of their film, "The Tragical History of Doctor Faustus," at Oxford Cinema.

Burton invested $900,000 in the movie, using 48 amateur actors and actresses. The profits go to the Oxford dramatic society.

Critics were pleased with Burton's performance as Faustus, but disappointed in the film, which they described as gimmicky and contrived.

They had little to say about Miss Taylor.

She made a half-dozen appearances as Helen of Troy, not uttering a sound until the final scene when she laughed and danced Faustus off to Hell.

The Burtons flew to the opening from Sardinia, where they are working on a movie. They were greeted at the theatre by a cheering crowd of about 2,000 who waited more than an hour in chilly rain to see them.

Suspended Terms For Two Women On Dog Charges

Two Saanich women were given suspended sentences Friday when they were convicted of having dogs at large.

Mrs. Teresa Couper, 96 Cadillac, told central court her dog was on her property until the poundkeeper arrived. Then it went out to him but returned when called by its owner. It was on the street briefly, she said.

Mrs. Beatrice Hewko, 86 Cadillac, denied her dog had been followed for quarter of a mile because it had only been out of the house a few minutes.

She said the poundkeeper might have mistaken it for another dog from the same litter which was almost identical in appearance and lived in the same area.

TEXAN DIES AT 102

Bilked Man Became Swindler's Nemesis

HALE CENTRE, Tex. (AP) —J. Frank Norfleet, a five-foot-five rancher, was simply too proud to let a gang of bunco artists get by with fleecing him. So he grimly tracked them down and became a widely known manhunter in the process.

His death Sunday at the age of 102 recalled the saga of the peppery Norfleet, who wrote a book about his experiences in the 1920s.

He leaves his wife Liza, 96, who stayed home and managed their ranch to help finance Norfleet's five-year manhunt.

In 1919, at the age of 54, Norfleet went to Fort Worth and Dallas in Texas with the idea of buying a ranch.

A chance meeting with a mule buyer developed into a friendship. The buyer introduced the rancher to some others and talk turned to how they could make a killing in the cotton market.

When it appeared they were about to profit handsomely, Norfleet was asked to put up $30,000 as evidence of good faith. His acquaintances quietly disappeared with the money.

He told his wife he was resolved to see the gang brought to justice.

TRAVELLED WIDELY

He pursued countless tips, travelling from coast to coast and into Canada. The word spread in newspaper accounts of how Norfleet had been bilked.

Arrests of the fugitives came months apart and from California to Florida.

One man died before Norfleet could track him down.

In his travels he was asked to help police in Denver trap a bunco stock exchange syndicate.

Norfleet, mild and unobtrusive in appearance, posed as a sucker. His work led to 41 arrests.

His feats won national acclaim. Norfleet's book about his adventures was published as a newspaper serial. A motion picture was based on it.

Over a period of 15 years Norfleet estimated that requests for aid in other cases led him to pursue and find 100 swindlers.

Damages Award Of $339,336

HAMILTON (CP) — Damages of $339,336 to a Hamilton doctor and his family, injured when an explosion shattered a restaurant near Barrie in 1965, were approved Friday in the Ontario Supreme Court.

Dr. Desmond Little suffered a fractured spine when a boiler exploded below the dining area in the restaurant on Highway 400 June 20. His daughters, Catrin, 17, and Sian, 15, were seriously burned. His wife, Margaret, and son, Charles, suffered less serious injuries.

8 CARD OF THANKS

AT SOME TIME OR OTHER THE thought that we would suffer the loss of our beloved mother, Mrs. Margaret Maude Woodruff, occured to us, but we little realized the extent of sympathetic understanding that would exist. We are more grateful than words can express to all of you who did so much to help us through this time. — Margaret Woodruff and family.

MRS. PETER BUGSLAG AND FAMily wish to thank their many friends for their acts of kindness, cards, letters and flowers received during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father.

PERFECT EYES ARE RARE

Sooner or later, most eyes require correction. Of ALL HUMAN PHYSICAL CAPABILITIES, THE FUNCTION of the eye is the most easily corrected. Few people realize this, and many need glasses long before they get them. This is often true of children. Uncorrected defects in vision can mar a child's future. Why not have us make an appointment with a skilled eye specialist for your entire family? Should you require glasses, we will be happy to guide you in choosing a frame styled just for YOU.

Large selection of frames at regular and sale prices. Both high quality merchandise of fine styling. Why not bring your prescription to MAYCOCK OPTICAL, 1327 Broad St., the corner of Broad and Johnson, where you can buy single vision glasses complete for as low as $14.95.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

You don't get to be a great bridge player by sitting back in a rocking chair and waiting for sure thing bids. You have to take calculated risks from time to time.

If Eric Murray's eight-point vulnerable double of South's one no-trump response had backfired at him, we can see the chorus of criticism from the defeatist players — who criticize beautifully and never win when and if they get to the table against tough competition.

West	North	East	South
	1♦	Pass	1 N.T.
Dble	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠Q

Anyway, this double in the World's Championship Match worked to perfection. North saw no reason to run. Sammy Kehela with his nice East hand was delighted to pass. South had reason to think that a runout to diamonds would be a case of out of the frying pan into the fire. Actually two diamonds would only go down one trick but South could not tell that North held a good five card diamond suit.

West opened the queen of spades and continued the suit after South ducked in both hands. South's nine of diamonds drew the queen and ace. Kehela won the next diamond with the ten and led a low club to Murray's ten. Murray cleared the spade suit and eventually the defence collected three clubs, three spades, two diamonds and 500 points.

The bidding started the same way at the other table but the Italian West did not double. He would have been incurring far greater risk than Murray because in our system North could have a very good hand. In the particular Italian system used here the diamond bid and no-trump response were both rather limited bids.

Our net gain on this board was 300 points, or seven International Match Points. Although Murray did not know it since they were in the middle of a season, it left the match an exact tie.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Ther ecent claim by CBC-TV that Rocket Robin Hood is the first major color animation series to be produced in Canada received swift rebuttal from Channel 12 boss Dave Mintz.

R.R.H. is a 52-week series of half-hour episodes produced by Tillium Productions Limited, Toronto.

Stephen

"Closest to home there's a whole different animation story," writes Mintz.

Canawest Film Productions, Ltd., at 1345 Burrard Street, Vancouver, has been working over the past months "on another major animated series which actually went on the CBC before Rocket Robin Hood."

The president of KVOS-TV (B.C.) Ltd., said the company signed a sub-contract arrangement with Hanna-Barbera of Hollywood last summer. The firm is doing Abbott and Costello cartoons for H and B, a portion of the "Moby Dick" series which is seen on CBS and CBC plus a few of the "Samson and Goliath" cartoon series which is a CBS film show.

He admitted starting an animation company was not the easiest thing in the world. The company scoured Canada for key animators and was able to obtain some very good ones. Assistant animators, inkers and painters, xerox people and animation cameramen were trained here.

However, to get the whole staff of key animators, Canawest had to search around the world, bringing people in from England, Australia and Yugoslavia.

CBC has a good thing going for it in its series on Canadian cities.

After its tasteful treatment of Victoria, the series highlighted Winnipeg, the grain city of Canada, Friday. Those familiar with the city on the banks of the Red and Assiniboine Rivers will have had many memories brought back with views of familiar streets, buildings and scenes.

The series is proving the way out approach is not neded for a subject to be appreciated. A straightforward factual account fits the bill of viewer satisfaction perfectly.

MEARS & WHYTE
OAK BAY REALTY LTD.
2188 OAK BAY AVE.
OAK BAY OFFICE

YES — the market value of 2-bedroom HOUSES has increased considerably in the past 2 years — but —

NO — the asking price of co-operative 2-bedroom SUITES has not kept pace with this trend.

NOW is the time to sell your home, with all the gardening and maintenance chores and worries and take advantage of the price gap so apparent in today's market.

Investment in a co-operative suite may be a new idea for you, but many happy and satisfied owners have purchased similar properties to those shown below through Mears & Whyte Oak Bay Realty Ltd.

1—$14,500
Overlooking Windsor Park — newly decorated — living room-dining room combined — 2 BRs. Immediate possession.

Facing Windsor Park — Living room with electric fireplace, separate dining room — 2 BRs — easy access with few steps — close to bus and shops.

Beach Drive with sea views — Large living room — L-shaped dining room, 2 large BRs — excellent storage space and elevator in modern building. Immediate possession.

4—$45,000
Beach Drive near the Marina — magnificent sea views from very large living room and balcony. Large dining area — 2 large BRs — 2 4-pce bathrooms — one of the finest suites in Oak Bay.

Just telephone D. G. Whyte of J. W. Ritchie at 385-7707 to arrange an appointment and discuss the advantages of owning such suites as those listed above.

WHO EVER HEARD
of an
Ingle Nook Fireplace
TRUE TUDOR HOME
Exclusive

A truly authentic reproduction of England's fine Tudor home that well merits your inspection. Designed for those who wish to break away from that common type home. Fully windowed with leaded glass this home has such outstanding features as beamed ceilings in the living room with Ingle Nook fireplace, this is an outstanding room that radiates warmth. Very spacious entry hall, large dining room, these rooms of course have beamed ceilings also. The functional cabinet kitchen has a built-in dishwasher, large family room. Up an open stairwell to four large bedrooms. Master bedroom has a full four-piece bath en-suite. This home now being completed is in the Georgia Park area, high over Cordova Bay, on a very well-treed ½ acre lot. If you've been to England and have admired their distinctively different homes, then this is for you. You will no doubt be the talk of the town as owner of this magnificent property. Very well priced at $47,500. Another outstanding exclusive from the "GALLERY OF HOMES."

VANCOUVER GENERAL TO GET OPERATION

A new program to save the lives of kidney patients in British Columbia will begin next year at Vancouver General Hospital.

It will make the hospital a major Canadian centre for the transplanting of kidneys from cadavers to living persons.

The plan was outlined here Saturday by Dr. J. D. E. Price, associate professor of medicine at UBC, to the annual meeting of the British Columbia Medical Society.

Details of the scheme, which has been approved in principle by the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service, are being worked out.

The hospital already has three surgical teams ready to transplant kidneys and expects to be able to perform 60 such operations a year.

Kidneys would become available from the victims of traffic accidents. Such a program has been operating successfully in Montreal for several years.

IN SCHOOL TEXT

'That Word' Goes To School Board

That unprintable word has turned up in print—in a high school English text.

And at least one school trustee wants it erased.

"It does not belong in the schools and it does not belong the Institute of Adult Studies," Ted Wood told a group of adult educators Saturday.

The trustee said he would bring the matter up at tonight's meeting of the Greater Victoria School Board.

IN SHORT STORY

The four-letter word is an abbreviation for the old English criminal charge, for unlawful carnal knowledge, and appears in a short story, Defender of the Faith, by Philip Roth, one of 39 short stories in the book, Story and Structure.

That book is one of eight supplementary texts in a new Grade 12 English course which means teachers can ignore any or all of the short stories in it.

The story which offends Mr. Wood is set in an army camp and the nasty word appears along with one other vulgarity in the conversation of soldiers.

The trustee said he heard about the story from a male student at the Institute of Adult Studies.

"From the first to the last it's nothing but vulgarity," he said.

"If we're going to use this type of language, then the taxpayers are wasting a hell of a lot of money," said Mr. Wood today. "We should save it by holding classes in the washroom of any beer parlor in town. It's all there on the wall."

STORY DEFENDED

English department heads in Greater Victoria high schools were quick to defend the story and the appearance of the word.

"If it's good literature and it rings true, then we're not going to baby our students," said Mabel Conibear, head of the English department at Esquimalt senior high school.

"I see no problem," said D. E. Smith, head of the same department at Victoria senior secondary. "I would absolutely support Miss Conibear in her stand.

"All you have to do is overhear any group of boys talking on the street corner to find the word is not unknown to them."

"Our students today are a lot more sensible than many people give them credit for," said Robert Kendrick, Oak Bay senior high school's English department head.

'PRETTY MATURE'

"By and large they have a pretty mature attitude. Parents are more upset by these things than the children are."

Eric Forster, principal of Mount Douglas High School where there is no department head at the moment, said he discussed the question with English teachers at the start of the term.

"There's nothing beyond what a student should have in the book," he said. "Children today are quite sophisticated."

School board chairman Peter Bunn said he would reserve his comments for tonight's board meeting.

CROWN REDUCES CHARGE

A charge of capital murder against James Frederick Redlin, 37-year-old millwright, was reduced to non-capital murder when the Fall Assizes opened in Victoria Law Courts today.

Redlin, who lived at Coombs, near Parksville, pleaded not guilty to the charge and a 12-man jury was sworn in to hear the trial.

The non-capital murder charge arises from the fatal shooting of Mrs. Lavina Nicholson, 56, last May 9. The shooting is alleged to have occurred in the rear living quarters of a roadside grocery store operated by Mrs. Nicholson and her husband, Harold, near Sooke.

At the preliminary police court hearing, 17 witnesses were called before Redlin was committed for trial.

In Assize Court today the charge was reduced to non-capital murder at the request of Crown Prosceutor Kenneth Murphy.

R. B. Hutchison also appeared for the Crown. Redlin is defended by Nicholas Mussalem and W. C. Johnston. The trial, which is being heard by Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz, continued this afternoon.

Summer Village Reports Heard

Young Vancouver Islanders who attended the Children's International Summer Village at Guatemala last summer gave a joyful account of their experiences at Victoria YM-YWCA Saturday night.

The youngsters were Mick Auger, group leader, and Lorna Stuart, assistant camp director, both of Victoria; Janice Reeves, Colwood; Kerry Work, Duncan; Larry Sunnus, Yellow Point, and and Mark Limacher, Victoria.

They spoke at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island branch, Children's International Summer Villages.

Victoria lawyer Anna Wootton was re-elected president by acclamation. Other officers are Robin LeBrasseur, first vice-president; Mrs. A. B. McKinnon, recording secretary; Al Limacher, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Eleanor Smith, treasurer.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and, of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Megen McLeod, age 10, of Shelton, Connecticut, for her question:

Which is the world's biggest amphibian?

The world's biggest amphibian is a native of Asia. He is at home in certain mountain streams of China and Japan. The big fellow may reach a length of five feet and a weight of 100 pounds. This makes him a bit taller and quite a bit heavier than a 10-year-old girl expects to be. However, he could not stand up five feet tall, even if he tried. He is a salamander, built to live flat on his tummy with his stubby arms and legs spreading out from his sides. He may reach the great age of 55, but his wrinkles begin to show early in life. Even at the age of two or three, his dark mottled skin is as wrinkled as a prune.

The giant salamander has a smaller North American cousin. Fishermen sometimes catch him by accident in streams and rivers around the Ohio and Mississippi. They call him the hellbender and toss him back into the water. He soon hides himself in the muddy bottom of the stream. Our hellbender may be as much as 27 inches long. He is a stocky animal, flattened in two directions. His body is somewhat flat in an up and down direction while his tail is somewhat flat from side to side.

It is not a good idea for a non-expert to examine him in detail because he has a mouthful of very sharp teeth. When mistaken for a fish and hauled from the water, he bites. His bite is not poisonous, but it causes wounds that need to be treated. If you could examine the hellbender, you would find four fingers on each of his hands and five toes on each of his feet. His eyes are very small and he cannot close them because he has no eyelids.

Lives Under Water

A grown-up hellbender has lungs for breathing air—though he prefers to live under water. His wonderful amphibian skin can dissolve and use oxygen from the water. Its tiny blood vessels come very close to the surface, especially in the cracks of his deep wrinkles. But sometimes he comes up the surface and uses his lungs to get a breath of air. Some people say he may travel over land from stream to stream. But he prefers to spend his days on the bed of a stream. At night he comes up into clearer water to hunt for food. He is a meat-eater and his menu includes frogs and bugs, assorted insects, snails and other salamanders.

The giant salamander of Asia is very much like our hellbender, except in size. He keeps his baby gills until the age of three. After he loses them he must come to the surface every six to eight minutes to fill his lungs with a breath of fresh air. He may never come on land. Captive giant salamanders have been kept in tanks for as long as 40 years.

The hellbender and the giant salamanders are a lot like their early ancestors who lived 200 million years ago. But they are smaller. The mother lays a beaded necklace of eggs and the eggs are slow to hatch. The babies are tadpoles with fishy gills. They must stay under water until their gills are exchanged for lungs. All salamanders have that wonderful amphibian skin that can dissolve oxygen from water or from moist air. No amphibian, large or small, is very dangerous to man.

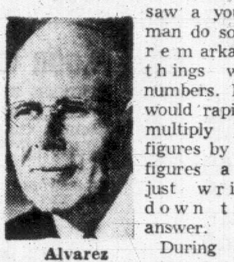
YOUR HEALTH

Not Clever, Just Brilliant

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Many years ago when I was a student in college I went one night to a theatre where I saw a young man do some remarkable things with numbers. He would rapidly multiply six figures by six figures and just write down the answer.



Alvarez

During the progress of his show, which may have lasted 20 minutes, he covered a huge blackboard with figures called out to him by the audience; then at the end, he turned his back on the black board and rapidly read off the figures from visual memory. Later, I read the lad was otherwise feebleminded.

Also, there are children who seem to be born with an astounding facility for playing some musical instrument. Most remarkable is the story, an abstract of which I just read, of a boy who was studied by a committee of the Society for Psychical Research of Marseille, France. He was then 15, but so extremely deficient mentaly that he was practically an idiot, and did not talk. His parents said that at four years of age he could play the piano very well, but in the next 11 years had not improved to a great extent; he had been born with the gift.

Many years ago, I read in the "Scientific American" an astounding story of a boy who was born to very poor and ignorant peasants in India, but soon began to perform miracles in the field of mathematics. Because he had no books on the subject, until finally an Englishman gave him one, he had to invent such forms of math as algebra, geometry, trigonometry, calculus, etc.

Finally, British people in India passed the hat and got enough money to send the boy to the professor of mathematics at Cambridge who, after seeing what the lad had done, said something to the effect that, "This is the greatest mathematician of all time."

I think of boys of this type when I note that today most psychiatrists interpret as effects of environment what an able geneticist would say must almost certainly be an inborn and probably inherited great gift of intelligence.

I remember thinking about this when, many years ago, I had as a patient the wife of the concert master of the San Francisco symphony orchestra — the man who trained Yehudi Menuhin to play the violin.

What interested me as I chatted with this great teacher was that Menuhin had been born with a great gift which enabled him to do in Carnegie Hall, in his early boyhood, what his teacher could never do.

Just as a family can be full of brilliant people, also it can be full of feeble-minded people, ne'er-do-well eccentrics, or alcoholics, or poorly adjusted crackpots or definitely psychotic or insane people. We all know this, but today people who wish to be popular deny that there is anything to heredity.

Steel Closing Debated

Emergency Session Allowed by Speaker

Times News Services

OTTAWA — The Commons launched an emergency debate today on the announced intention of Dominion Steel & Coal Corp. to close its Sydney, N.S., steel mill by April 30.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux immediately accepted the motion of Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South), seconded by Robert Muir (PC—Cape Breton North and Victoria), for an emergency debate. The government did not oppose the motion.

The debate must conclude by tonight.

Mr. MacInnis, in seeking the special debate, said the proposed shutdown of the steel mill is a national emergency.

It would directly affect 10,000 persons—the employees of the plant and their families—and bring into question the survival of the entire industrial community of Cape Breton, with its 105,000 people.

Mr. MacInnis said the entire Atlantic region is threatened with disaster.

STANFIELD IN GALLERY

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield, former premier of Nova Scotia, looked on from the Opposition gallery.

Stanfield postponed his plans to go to Montreal for a "crash course" in the French language. He will fly to Sydney on Tuesday for "private conferences" in connection with the closing of the steel plant.

W. J. Emmert, president of Dosco, announced Friday the city's big steel mill would be closed April 30, 1968.

The mill is a key Nova Scotia Industry. It employs 3,200 workers in Sydney, a town of 34,000. It has an annual payroll of $23,600,000.

Nova Scotia Liberal leader Gerald Regan lashed out at Mr. Stanfield, accusing him of "terrible government negligence" which Mr. Regan claimed led to the proposed closure of the mill.

He called on Premier G. I. Smith, who succeeded Mr. Stanfield, to summon an immediate session of the legislature in light of "this catastrophe."

WORKERS MEET

More than 600 angry steel workers and worried residents of the town met at Whitney pier near Sudbury Sunday to discuss the decision by Hawker Siddeley to close its steel plant here.

Rev. J. W. Young, an Anglican minister, said the plant must be kept in operation.

"Majority ownership should be in the hands of Cape Bretoners if possible, or Cape Bretoners backed by the people of Nova Scotia," he said.

Rev. George Topshee, a Roman Catholic priest, said: "I have sufficient faith in our leaders to know that they are not going to let the steel plant close next April."

Steelworkers seated in the hall shouted abuse at the company as the speakers expressed hope that government intervention would save the industry.

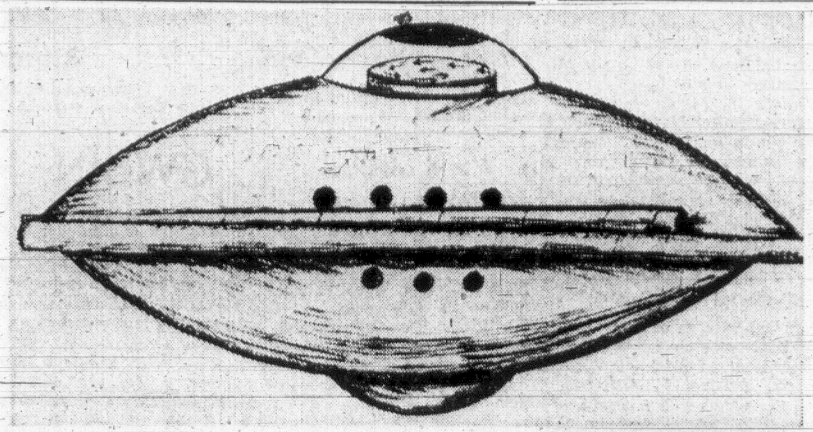
WASHINGTON (Reuters) — A lieutenant-colonel in the Soviet security forces serving in Europe has defected to the United States, the state department announced today.

SOVIET SPACECRAFT TO LAND ON VENUS?

LONDON (AP)—The Russians have asked Britain's Jodrell Bank receiving station today to help track their Venus IV spacecraft due to its "extraordinary importance and significance". It is scheduled to reach Venus on October 18.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Jodrell Bank, said: "My personal interpretation of this is that the Russians might intend to land the probe on the planet."



FOREST LOOKOUT Russel Hill made this sketch from memory of an unidentified flying object that hovered near his Alberta bush tower earlier this month. He said the UFO in the sketch had a green light around the rim and a rotating green light (arrows) in the upper bowl. When it flew off, he said, the rim light went out, the dome light turned white and four blue exhaust flames came from the rear. (CP Wirephoto.)

Saucer Spree Sets Calgary Eves Blinking

CALGARY — A photograph and a sketch of apparent "flying saucers" have been made public here in the wake of a several-weeks-old UFO-sighting spree.

The photograph of an unidentified flying object was taken by Calgary prospector Warren Smith in July while on a trip in Southern Alberta with two friends. The RCAF terms it the best UFO picture on file.

Forest lookout Russel Hill says he has seen UFOs four times in the past few weeks and sketched one that hovered near the forest tower earlier this month. He is described as "reliable" by fellow employees.

Several other Calgary area sightings have been reported in recent weeks.

QUEBEC GRITS:

Levesque Out 'O Canada' In

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

QUEBEC CITY—Quebec Liberals rejected "separatism in all its forms" at their annual party congress which ended here Sunday.

Rene Levesque was forced to resign from the party and carry on alone his campaign for an independent Quebec in a Canadian Common Market.

And a report advocating the near-independence of a very broad special status for Quebec was set aside "for further study."

Nothing in the report, party leader Jean Lesage assured delegates, would become Liberal policy unless it were brought before a future Quebec Liberal Federation congress in the form of a resolution.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS

The number of votes in favor of the strongly anti-separatist resolution—too many to count accurately—was estimated at 1,200. Seven delegates voted against it and another handful abstained.

When the voting was over, late Saturday evening, the delegates stood and sang "O Canada," a rare event at a Quebec provincial political gathering. When the convention re-opened Sunday morning, two Canadian flags, in position of precedence, had joined the display of Quebec flags that were alone on the stage when the congress opened Friday evening.

Behind the display of apparent unanimity in favor of Canadian unity, the meeting revealed the power built up in the party by Eric Kierans, former health minister, since he became its president a year ago.

When Mr. Levesque announced, in mid-September, his plan for a "Canadian union," Mr. Kierans was the only leading member of the party to take a clear stand against it.

He immediately announced that he would resign if the Levesque plan were approved and then, one by one, persuded other former ministers to take the same stand.

Finally, at the opening session of the congress Friday evening, when an early vote on a

PM: Unity Question 'Urgent'

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Sunday night Canadians must face urgently the question of what price they are prepared to pay to maintain the unity of the country.

In a speech read in his absence here at the Conference on the Economics of Canadian Unity, the prime minister declared that, somehow, all of Canada must become as much a homeland for all French-speaking Canadians as it is for all English-speaking Canadians.

Mr. Pearson warned that complete political separation of Quebec from Canada, if it came about under the impetus of the current separatist movement, "would not occur in a tranquil or rational way."

But French-Canadian society is a reality, he said, and if English-speaking Canada tries to isolate it, "whether by design or, more likely, by indifference, it will simply encourage separatism."

The prime minister's speech was read by Richard Cashin, Liberal MP for St. John's West. Mr. Pearson was unable to leave Ottawa this week, an aide said.

URGES UNDERSTANDING

The prime minister told English-speaking Canadians that many of them will have to improve their attitude towards "the French fact in our country." He told French-speaking Canadians that the breakup of the country, as advocated by a

HOW WE IGNORE OUR OLD FOLKS

More Than a Half Nursing Home Bound

By PETE LOUDON

More than half the present population of Victoria will live long enough to know the experience of rest home or nursing home existence. The percentage of elderly persons here is twice the national average.

These are two good reasons for giving attention to the problems discussed in this and succeeding articles in this series.

"I don't want to get old.

"I don't want to get so old anyway, that I outlive most of my contemporaries and become a problem to my kids.

"I don't want to spend my time sitting on a bed in a shared room with three or four other oldsters, waiting for a dinner bell to end the monotony.

"I don't want to graduate from that to a private hospital bed where the disinfectants spoil the scent of the flowers and life is just a succession of bed pans, rubber tubes and beds built with sides like cribs."

That's the reaction of young and middle-aged people who visit—usually an annual or semi-annual duty call—at boarding homes or private hospitals.

Most of all, we say, "I don't want to end up as a welfare patient."

Some people add, "What was the matter with them anyway, that they didn't save enough to maintain their independence and dignity in old age?"

It's a natural reaction. Most of us dislike the idea so much we push all thought of aging from our minds. And it's likely that's the reason we've let the problems of age develop to the community crisis now facing us.

The average age at death in B.C. is 64.7 for men and 67.3 for women but more than half of us can look forward to a Wrong Building Hit By Montreal Bomb?

MONTREAL (CP)—Suburban St. Michel police today sifted through four wrecked floors of an office building heavily damaged by a dynamite blast Sunday. They speculated the bomb may have been meant for another building.

The seventh to 10th floors of the 12-storey building at 3737 Metropolitan Blvd. were shattered by a bomb police suspect was meant for an identical building a block away housing about 300 Cubans.

Det.-Lieut. Yves Therault said today the blast, which wrecked the offices of Cabana, Seguin and Associates Inc., on the eighth floor, was probably intended for the other building. The Cubans residing in the other building are also on the eighth floor.

The damaged building also has offices of the Cuban trade mission, but it is on the 12th floor and was not damaged.

Most of the Cubans living in the other building work at the trade mission or at the Cuban pavilion at Expo 67, which also has had its share of bomb threats.

There were no injuries in the blast. The only occupants of the building were a caretaker and his wife who live on the second floor. The caretaker told police he was in his apartment at the time of the explosion.

Water pipes were split, elevators wrenched from their sockest, partitions smashed and furniture upset by the explosion.

Woman Suicides By Fire

By UPI

A week of anti-war protests began today in 30 American cities. At least 40 demonstrators were arrested in Oakland, Calif.

Those arrested at Oakland included folk singer Joan Baez. She was among 250 "stop-the-draft-week" demonstrators who showed up at an induction centre there.

The demonstrators were accused of trying to block draftees from entering the building. Police formed a human barricade to enable one busload of inductees to pass and began arrests when the demonstrators refused to move.

In Chicago, several young men said they planned to gather in front of the federal building and then attempt to turn in their draft cards to the U.S. marshal. Another group said it would demonstrate before a loop army induction centre on Wednesday.

On the eve of the week's first protest, to be held by a group called "the resistance," Florence Beaumont, 55, mother of two, soaked herself with gasoline and set herself afire Sunday in front of the federal building in downtown Los Angeles.

'HAD TO BE DONE'

She was protesting the Vietnam war, her husband said. "She felt this had to be done, it had to be done," he said.

"She was a walking torch," a witness said of Mrs. Beaumont, of suburban La Puente, Calif., who stumbled and staggered in flames until she fell dead.

The week of ptotests ends Saturday in Washington with what is expected to be the largest anti-war rally ever held in the capital. A spokesman for the organizers predicted 40,000 to 100,000 would attend.

"The resistance," composed mostly of young anti-draft, anti-war protesters, said more than 2,000 men were expected to burn or turn in their draft cards during "stop the draft week." Anti-draft protesters were to begin in Chicago today.

CHAPLAIN TAKES PART

"A call to resist illegitimate authority" was sounded by supporters of the anti-draft movement, including 35 clergymen led by the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Fr., the chaplain at Yale.

The resisters will make "synagogues and churches across the country sanctuaries for conscientious objectors," Rev. Coffin said, so "arrests of those who refuse to answer the

WEST SPLIT ON ARABS

By United Press International

Britain and the United States have split over terms for an Arab-Israeli settlement, diplomatic sources said today in London.

This in turn has widened the rift in the big four's Middle East peace strategy.

The western powers were hunting some kind of break in the Mideast deadlock but were taking a different approach to the problem. Britain's policy appeared to be swinging closer to the Arab view. The United States was closer to the Israeli view.

In the United Nations U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg scheduled a meeting today with Egyptian Foreigh Minister Mahmoud Riad and other Arab diplomats. Observers said Goldberg was trying to get Egypt and Israeil into some kind of negotiations either directly or through a third party.

Boost for Force

CANBERRA (AP) — The Australian government will increase combat force in South Vietnam by about 1,000 men, informed sources said today. Australia has about 6,300 men in South Vietnam, including those in the army, air force and naval units.

PERSONNEL within Army Induction Centre at Oakland, Calif., pull one of several sit-in demonstrators through the door, after inductees had climbed over them, so that door could be closed before arrests were made by Oakland police. Others inside watch action while one of sit-in group points at lower left. (AP Wirephoto.)

OLD WARRIOR RETURNS TO OTTAWA

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — John Diefenbaker today was critical of the continued absenteeism among Progressive Conservative ranks in the Commons after returning to Ottawa Sunday.

"There is deep resentment across the country over this absenteeism," he told reporters. "People are becoming angry."

He flew back to Ottawa on the weekend to take his seat in the Commons as member of Parliament for Prince Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker will move out of the opposition leader's official residence of Stornaway in the swank Rockliffe residential area in Ottawa at the end of the month. They will move into a rented house in the same area.

Mr. Diefenbaker made it clear that he's far from finished as a member of Parliament: He indicated by his comments to newsmen that he will be speaking in debates in the House.

He told reporters he would fight the Conservative party's "two-nation" policy for Quebec "to the limit of my strength." He said he would be strongly opposed to any suggestion of a "special status" for Quebec, leaving the implication that he will carry that opposition to the floor of the House.

He is irate over members of the Conservative party continuing to be absent on crucial votes, just as they were in the latter months of his regime as Tory leader.

He accused six Conservative MPs of suddenly walking out of the House when the division bells were ringing on an old age pension vote, when he was leader.

He said the six—he would not identify them—had saved the Liberal minority government from defeat.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the only sure quick way to cure absenteeism among M.P.s was to publish the names, on a regional basis, of those M.P.s who did not stay in the Commons to vote.

Mr. Diefenbaker now occupies an office at the rear of the Parliament buildings with a beautiful view overlooking the Ottawa River and the Gatineau Hills. It used to be occupied by his executive assistant.

He has been advised that his new seat in the Commons will be two to the left of the opposition leader's seat he occupied before his defeat at the leadership convention.

Mr. Diefenbaker would not say when he will take his new seat in the House.

Pay Demands Hurt Export Salesmen

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP)—Rising wage demands and other rising costs are making it difficult now for many Canadian exporters to negotiate contracts for delivering goods next year, J. M. McAvity, president of the Canadian Export Association said today.

The first to feel the pinch if contracts are not renewed in competitive bidding will be workers engaged in production for export, he said.

Inflation, high government spending and taxation were the key topics at the opening session of the association's 24th annual convention at the Seigniory Club.

Robinson Ord, president of the Cape Breton Development Corp., and convention chairman, said attempts to reach wage parity with U.S. rates could be ruinous to Canadian business unless productivity of Canadian labor is brought up to a par with American workers.

He also said implementation of the Carter tax reform proposals would threaten Canada's existence as a competitor in world markets.

"I'm afraid the Carter proposals come no closer to the real world today than Plato's Republic," he added.

He said the high level of government spending, amounting to 30 per cent of the gross national product, creates an overhead with high taxes for Canadian business that cannot be supported.

Mr. McAvity said there is an inclination in United States industry and the U.S. congress towards trying to meet competition by the use of quotas on American imports, and there is an urgent need for Canada to seek wider world markets.

"We must sustain our rapid growth, not only in volume, but in more diversified markets."

BEATLE LINK WITH STONES CONSIDERED

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles and the Rolling Stones are thinking of sharing studio and other facilities, a Beatles spokesman said Saturday.

There is no possibility of the two leading British pop-rock groups merging or making records together, he added. But Paul McCartney of the Beatles and Stones singer Mick Jagger "have been talking informally about future possibilities."

GM Men Vote Strike

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—The 25,000 employees in seven General Motors of Canada plants have voted 98.8 per cent to strike the company unless a new contract is signed before the end of October.

Gordon Lambert, chairman of the General Motors council, said the vote was taken secretly Sunday in London, Toronto, Windsor, St. Catharines, Oshawa and Ste. Therese, Que.

"The vote should indicate to the company that they must sit down and do some serious bargaining," Mr. Lambert said.

Contracts in all seven GM plants expire Oct. 31. Workers could legally walk off their jobs the next day, but union officials said this would be doubtful.

"We haven't put the strike deadline on the company yet," Mr. Lambert said, "because of the U.S. strike against Ford."

He said he doubted if there would be a Canadian strike until after the trouble at Ford was settled.

In Oshawa, 12,000 members of Local 222, the largest local in the Canadian UAW, voted almost 99 per cent in favor of strike action.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices showed underlying firmness on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today with flax staging a brisk rally in moderately active trade.

Flax received some stimulation from higher oilseed prices on the continent and there was evidence of overseas support. Reports indicate that 102,000 bushels of flax moved from the lakehead to Antwerp and 105,000 bushels to Norway during the weekend.

Rapeseed also firmed up at times and received stimulation from higher soybean prices in Chicago. Oats and barley trade was light and mostly domestic.

A fair trade proceeded in rye where there was considerable spreading between markets.

CHICAGO (AP) — Moderate to heavy rain during the weekend over wide sections of the U.S. midwest influenced higher prices for soybeans and corn today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The two commodities opened on a higher tone and quickly advanced. Wheat trade was light and prices closed slightly higher, influenced to some extent by good export notices.

Oats and rye trade was light and oats closed unchanged while rye showed an advance.

Strait Work Tenders Eyed

TORONTO (CP)—A new $150,000,000 plan for the nine-mile Northumberland Strait crossing connecting Prince Edward Island with New Brunswick will be completed soon and tenders called within six months, says a Toronto-published construction trade weekly.

Heavy Construction News says in its current issue the plan is for a four-lane bridge, replacing the previous design for a two-lane causeway-bridge-tunnel and dropping the single rail line. The designers are Northumberland Consultants Ltd. of Montreal.

The previous design was scrapped last May when tenders on the first major phase indicated total cost could run as high as $320,000,000.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Slips In Light Trade

The Toronto Stock Exchange continued to turn lower this afternoon as declines outnumbered advances two to one.

However, trading remained light and by 2 p.m. only 2,019,000 shares had changed hands compared with 2,150,000 at the same time Friday.

Base metal prices were slashed by profit takers.

AT VANCOUVER — Granisle was a big loser in a generally declining market. It fell a quarter to $7.75 on 600 shares by 11 a.m.

Other mining issues that fell included Atlas, off .40 to $2.20; Cascade; .15 to $1.05; Lornex, .30 to $7.60; Silver Titan, .12 to $1.15; and Westland, .07 to $1.28.

Western Mines was the only noticeable gainer, climbing .09 to $2.45.

In the oils, Royal American declined .06 to .94 on 2,000 shares.

Western broadcasting and B.C. Sugar led the industrials, each climbing .50, to $16.50 and 40.87 respectively.

Volume to 11 a.m. was 580,964 shares.

AT MONTREAL prices drifted fractionally lower in early afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today, after reversing a slight morning rally.

Banks lead the downtrend, with Royal off at 14⅛ on volume of 23,690 shares, and Montreal down at 11.

CPR trimmed an earlier rally and dipped ⅛ to 64. Noranda and Imperial Oil were each down about point.

AT LONDON leading stocks were generally easier today but there were plenty of firm spots elsewhere.

Gilt-edged securities were quiet, however, and recorded only a few price adjustments. Southern Rhodesian bonds were firm again.

Dollar stocks made a mixed showing.

AT NEW YORK a small early rise was wiped out this afternoon in active trading.

Some issues were lively but the average slumped as pivotal blue chips slipped.

CPR SLASHES CALGARY CREW

CALGARY (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway said today it will lay off about 400 of its 800 employees at its Ogden Repair Shops here because of declining traffic.

A spokesman said heavy repairs will be suspended for a month. "Railway traffic, particularly grain movements . . . has declined and we have to reduce expenses."

Du Pont Takes Dip

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The du Pont Co. reported today profits for the first nine months of this year fell 26 per cent compared with the similar 1966 period and blamed "sluggishness in the civilian sector of the economy."

The largest U.S. chemical-maker disclosed net income of $228,000,000, down from last year's $306,000,000 in the first three quarters.

Sales were down five per cent for the nine months.

Earnings reflected the huge profit drop, falling to $4.77 a share compared with $6.48.

Treasurer R. Wallace Evans said that the final three months of the year "almost certainly" would drop below 1966 when du Pont had total profit of $389,000,000.

DAVID BARRETT
. . . widening gap

12 OPPOSED; 2 AGREE; 6 DON'T CARE

'Too Bad He Can't Change Policies Too!'

A man-on-the-street and a telephone poll indicates a majority of people dislike Premier Bennett's decision to style himself Prime Minister.

Twenty interviews conducted today resulted in 12 opinions opposing the premier's personal up-grading.

Six persons said they didn't care.

Only two were in favor.

Two other points emerged in the questioning.

People who will set their names to their opinions are not in the majority. About 20 declined any comment.

And in Victoria there are many people who for various reasons, usually concerned with business, are afraid to speak critically of the premier or his government. At least six of these reacted against the premier's stand, but added, "don't use my name."

Then they said, "I have to deal with these people, you know."

So bearing in mind that polls are deceptive because a cross-section of opinion is really only a cross-section of those who will answer a poll, here are the results:

QUESTION — What do you think of Premier Bennett's announcement that in future he will be known as Prime Minister?

Mrs. Wilson Fox, 1207 Douglas: "It's nuts. To me he's taken the attitude he's the King of Siam."

Keith Myers, 1416 Fort: "Pompous old man. Hell, that's ridiculous. He's just out for his own glory. Next he'll want to be king."

Tom Paul, 1567 Yale: "I think it's really neat he's changed his name. It's too bad he couldn't change his policies as easily."

C. D. Morley, 1273 Fairfield: "It doesn't matter to me but it seems easier to differentiate between the federal and provincial levels by using the two terms."

T. C. Price, 630 Island Road: "Stupid. He's not the prime minister. Thre's only one prime minister in Canada. Premier is good enough."

Mrs. George Warrall, 3120 Wascana: "That title belongs to the prime minister of Canada. I don't really see why every provincial premier should have it."

J. E. Leszko, 1049 Dunford: "It's up to him. He can call himself what he likes."

Mrs. J. G. Jones, 3962 Emerald: "He's taking a liberty. There's only one prime minister of Canada. The title premier is good enough for him."

Ernie Harper, 1104 Topaz, age 21: "The words mean exactly the same thing so what's the difference. Mr. Bennett is merely trying to to confuse newspaper readers who assume that the Prime Minister is Lester B. Pearson."

Bruce Bennett, 727 Esquimalt, age 21, "We could use a pre-American Gaulist. All hail the merchant of Cologne."

Susan Evans, 1960 Cochrane, "Is this for real? This illustrates our materialistic desire to keep up with the Joneses."

Frank Frketich, 4921 Searidge, "I think its irrelevant. Personally I like premier better. There should be some distinction between the leaer of a country and the leader of a province. His reasoning is ridiculous."

S. N. Darling, 1248 Craigflower, "I think the whole thing is childish."

Robert Cato, 1571 Monterey, "If it's all right in the constitution, I can't see anything wrong with it."

Jim Bowles, 982 Richardson, "I don't think he's entitled to it. But he may have good reasons which I don't know."

Mrs. Thresa Sturrock, 20 Atkins, "I don't think it's right. Canada already has a prime minister and it would lower his prestige to have more. The name premier is sufficient for provincial leaders."

Mrs. Jacqueline Peck, 914 Selkirk, "I think Premier Bennett has done wonders for the province in provision of highways and ferries. If he wants to be called that, by all means.

"The title doesn't mean anything. It's what the man does that counts."

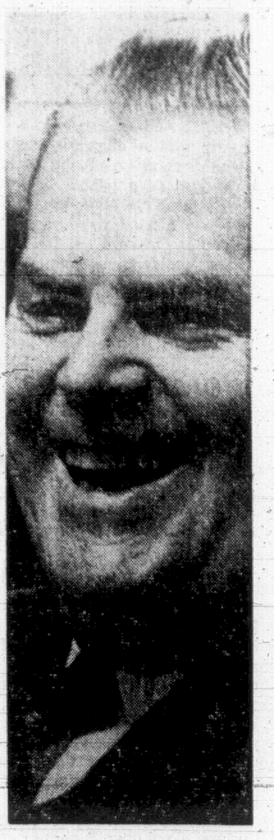
Mrs. Evelyn Bickerton, 879 Tillicum, "one Canadian prime minister should be enough. The prime minister should be the head of the country. The heads of the provinces should be premiers."

Mrs. Beryl Williscroft, 853 Selkirk, "I don't like it at all. I heard a comment that they'd have to call Pearson king."

Murray Halkett, 3165 Midland, "It makes no difference to me."



PREMIER BENNETT
. . . a prime minister too

POLITICAL VIEW OF 'PM' TITLE:

Beauty Depends on Beholders' Eyes

By JOHN MIKA

The politicians' reaction to Premier Bennett's unilateral decree that he is to be called "prime minister" came today and it was predictable.

Social Credit MLA for Victoria Waldo Skillings said the Queen herself has used the title "so I don't see why the press is blowing this up into a storm in a teapot."

NDP MLA David Barrett said Premier Bennett is suffering "delusions of grandeur" which are widening the gap between himself and the people.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said it was only among Quebec separatists that such a title for provincial premier was popular and "I don't care for putting British Columbia into the separatist trend of terms."

"The premier is getting a little power crazy," said Larry Ryan, secretary of the Victoria Labour Council.

"He's power drunk. It is a sign that the government is a one-man government and he is acting like a Caesar."

FULL COMMENTS

Here are their full comments:

David Barrett—Delusions of grandeur speak for themselves.

He still is the premier, although at times we wonder in the Opposition because when we ask him something in the Legislature he always answers "ask the minister of finance."

He's always playing games with names and maybe he's just adding another name to his game

Speaking seriously, this kind kind of delusion is precedent for defeat. He's removed himself from the people.

As for overriding the Legislature the B.C. Constitution Act designates the term premier only), that's never been any problem for him.

NOT NEW

Waldo Skillings — I've been around a long time and I can remember going down to see a former premier of this province, Duff Pattullo, who had prime minister on his door.

Johnson in Quebec and Robarts in Ontario are known as prime ministers so what's all the kerfuffle about here?

"I've heard the princess and even the Queen herself, on two occasions, say "my prime minister" to Mr. Bennett.

I don't see why the press is blowing this up into a storm in a teapot.

I would certainly support a change in the Constitution Act if it's necessary. We've amended the act before.

And I don't think there will be one dissenting vote (to an amendment) because even the Liberals have had a premier calling himself prime minister.

The premier is elected to lead and I'd say he (Mr. Bennett) was doing a good job. Wouldn't you?

'DELUSIONS'

Ray Perrault—The premier has just come back from another of his European trips and when you've been wined and dined by people on the continent I suppose you develop these delusions.

The terms prime minister and premier are synonomous and I think, from a practical point of view, there's merit in using one for the federal level and the other for the provincial level just so it isn't confusing.

It's true that Mr. Robarts sometimes calls himself prime minister but in the Ontario legislature itself the members refer to him as premier.

The only province where the term prime minister has come into common usuage is Quebec and its increased usage there has gone hand in hand with increased separatism as a challenge to the federal authority.

I don't know if that is why Mr. Bennett wants to do the same here but I don't care for putting British Columbia into the separatist trend of terms.

As for the Queen using the title, people must realize that before she made those remarks she would have checked with the premier as a result of protocol requirements.

He (Mr. Bennett) was the one who requested she refer to him in those terms.

It is only in the province of Quebec where you get separatist talk that you normally find this term.

Youth Council Demands Action

By KATHRINE THOMAS

The Victoria Youth Council today threatened "direct action" if city aldermen refuse its request for a three-part referendum at the December 9 election.

The direct action would take the form of an "educative" demonstration at City Hall and the creation of an "alternate city council" to deal with matters pertaining to youth, spokesman Charles Barber said.

The youth council wil present its brief to council's legislative committee on Thursday.

If the referendum idea is accepted, three questions would go before voters:

- Would you favor the placing of a voting Youth representative on the city council and the municipal councils?
- Would you favor the placing of voting youth representatives on the school board?
- Would you favor the creation of a youth centre in the Greater Victoria area?

"Decisions are made by the councils and by the school board that directly affect the lives of young people," Mr. Barber said.

"We ask that we be given a voice in our own affairs — that we participate in those decision-making processes that affect us.

"Victoria has to recognize that democracy must include everyone if it is to be worthy of the name. The 15-year-old has the right to have some say in the school curriculum he studies."

Representatives to the council and school board would be nominated and elected by a Victoria Youth Congress whose membership would be open to every single "literate" youth in Greater Victoria.

GET VIEWS

The proposed youth centre would contain a 500-seat auditorium, music rooms, offices for young people's organizations, library, writer's workshop, artist's co-operative studio, meditation rooms and a day care centre.

"But we will soon be announcing a series of public meetings to get the views of the public on what should comprise the centre," Mr. Barber said.

"Victoria has the least number of public facilities for young people of any city in Canada and an extremely high juvenile delinquency rate."

Jealous Husband Kills Wife Then Turns Gun on Himself

Chemainus Home Scene of Shooting

By DESMOND BILL

A jealous Yugoslav imigrant shot and killed his pregnant 17-year-old wife at Chemainus Sunday, then killed himself.

Dead is George Besic, 29, and his bride of seven months, Kathy.

The murder-suicide took place in Besic's house at 9546 Chemainus Highway South.

The couple was married in March of this year but separated a month ago after violent quarrels, friends said.

They described Besic as unreasonably jealous.

PICK UP CLOTHES

Mrs. Besic went back to his house Sunday, along with her aunt Mrs. Ann Gajda, 1048 Tillicum, Victoria, and a male cousin, to pick up her winter clothes.

Mrs. Gajda said she told Kathy not to go into the house if her husband "seemed to be mad."

But, she said, Besic invited Kathy in and did not appear to be angry although he would not allow Mrs. Gajda's nephew to enter the house.

Said Mrs. Gajda: "Kathy went in and out twice, picking up her clothes. Then she went in again. I heard the shots, one after the other. She yelled just once, 'Ann'."

RAN INTO HOUSE

Mrs. Besic's cousin ran into the house and found the bodies lying in the bedroom. Besic apparently used a .303 rifle to shoot his wife through the head and then killed himself the same way.

Besic came to Canada only two years ago and worked at the Chemainus planer mill of MacMillan, Bloedel.

Mrs. Besic, a tall, attractive girl, came here from Yugoslavia in August, 1966, to visit Mrs. Gadja and liked this country so well that she did not want to return home.

She met Besic in January just about the time when she was notified by Canadian immigration authorities that she would have to return home. She decided, instead, to marry Besic and stay here.

SEPARATED IN AUGUST

Trouble started shorty after the wedding in March but the separation only came in August when Mrs. Besic, by then four months pregnant, decided to go and live with her aunt instead of returning to her home after a spell in hospital.

Besic pestered her with visits and telephone calls and she left her aunt's home a few weeks ago to be a live-in babysitter with a Victoria family.

She is survived by her mother and father and a brother in Yugoslavia.

Besic was convicted of careless driving a year ago after knocking down and killing a woman in a crosswalk in Duncan.

'Ottawa Must Cut Spending'

By AB KENT
Business Editor

Drastic steps—like withholding medicare two years—are needed to help bring government spending down to an acceptable level, Canadian Investment Dealers' Association president E. M. Kennedy urged today.

Visiting Victoria on an annual tour of IDA branches across the country, Mr. Kennedy of Midland-Osler Securities Ltd., London, and H. W. Tingley, IDA vice-president, chairman of the Pacific district, and resident director of Wood Gundy Securities Ltd., Vancouver, met with government officials and local IDA members.

Mr. Kennedy said investment dealers are concerned with rising interest rates and the place to start a campaign against the increase is the three levels of government.

DO TOO MUCH

Priorities must be established, he said, suggesting that government is trying to do too much, too fast.

"As Mr. Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, said in his 1966 annual report, 'You cannot get a quart of wine out of a pint bottle'."

Medicare, he said, is a "pretty expensive thing. I think it would be a good thing to postpone medicare at least a couple of years.

"We are in a pretty drastic situation and some pretty drastic things have got to be done."

The IDA president agreed there are some areas in which restraint is difficult.

He said he would not presume to tell government which steps should be taken.

INTEREST RATES

Current high interest rates reflect the fact that demand for money far out-runs the supply, Mr. Kennedy said.

"Another factor is that stocks are becoming more popular with investors because equities are a participation in Canada's future growth and thus are a hedge against inflation."

He agreed it is true that substantial investment is being made in the U.S. stock market by Canadian investors, helping to boost the flight of capital from Canada.

But this is not a serious problem and is probably only temporary as the American market is more vigorous and thus more attractive.

SWING BACK?

The glamor issues, however, present some danger. The pendulum must swing back, he felt, because it is dangerous to have equities selling at 20, 30, 40 and sometimes 60 times their earnings, as some have been doing in New York.

On the Carter taxation report, Mr. Kennedy said the association had lodged its opposition in a brief, but he felt the philosophy the recommendations contain may be used in the future to improve the Canadian tax system.

LUNGED WITH KNIFE

Man Pleads Guilty Assaulting Police

A 21-year-old man pleaded guilty today to assaulting an Esquimalt police officer Sept. 28.

Central court was told Robert Wilson, CGS Stonetown, was watching from the window of an apartment on Admirals Road when police arrived to check a car suspected of being involved in a hit and run accident.

Wilson came down to the car, removed a sheathed knife from it, and placed the knife in his pocket.

Cpl. Ken Hatherley and Constable Gordon Jenkins questioned him about the kinfe, and asked for his driver's licence.

Cpl. Hatherley told the court at this point Wilson pulled the knife and lunged at him, cutting the officer's hand.

The officers had to remove the knife forcibly, and a acuffle followed before they were able to handcuff Wilson.

The accused also pleaded guilty to driving while his licence was under suspension.

Sentence on both charges has been remanded to Friday for pre-sentence report.

Navy Tops Appeal Goal

Civilian personnel of the Pacific Maritime Command will have to do some pretty fast giving to keep up with their military counterparts.

Today, as the United Red Feather-Red Cross appeal opened its residential canvass, the uniformed personnel of the command had donated or pledged $16,890 or 103 per cent of the $16,000 target.

Another $1,000 is expected before the drive ends October 31.

Civilian personnel have donated about $4,000 of their $11,500 objective.

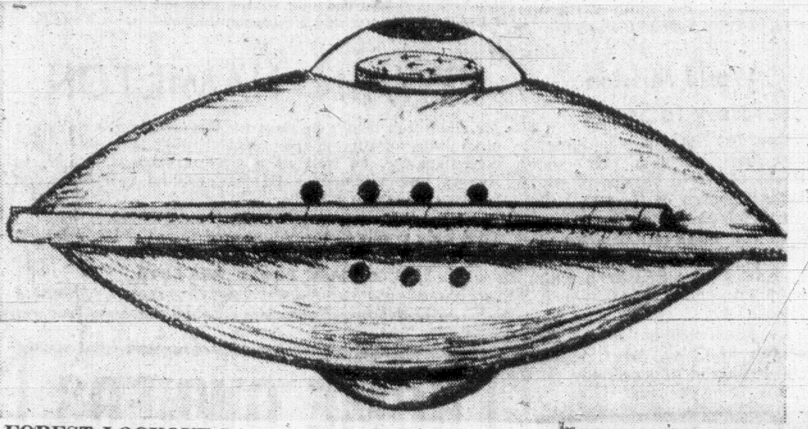
40 Draft Foes Arrested



FOREST LOOKOUT Russel Hill made this sketch from memory of an unidentified flying object that hovered near his Alberta bush tower earlier this month. He said the UFO in the sketch had a green light around the rim and a rotating green light in the upper bowl. When it flew off, he said, the rim light went out, the dome light turned white and four blue exhaust flames came from the rear. (CP Wirephoto.)

Saucer Spree Sets Calgary Eves Blinking

CALGARY — A photograph and a sketch of apparent "flying saucers" have been made public here in the wake of a several-weeks-old UFO-sighting spree.

The photograph of an unidentified flying object was taken by Calgary prospector Warren Smith in July while on a trip in Southern Alberta with two friends. The RCAF terms it the best UFO picture on file.

Forest lookout Russel Hill says he has seen UFOs four times in the past few weeks and sketched one that hovered near the forest tower earlier this month. He is described as "reliable" by fellow employees.

Several other Calgary area sightings have been reported in recent weeks.

QUEBEC GRITS:

Levesque Out 'O Canada' In

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

QUEBEC CITY—Quebec Liberals rejected "separatism in all its forms" at their annual party congress which ended here Sunday.

Rene Levesque was forced to resign from the party and carry on alone his campaign for an independent Quebec in a Canadian Common Market.

And a report advocating the near-independence of a very broad special status for Quebec was set aside "for further study."

Nothing in the report, party leader Jean Lesage assured delegates, would become Liberal policy unless it were brought before a future Quebec Liberal Federation congress in the form of a resolution.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS

The number of votes in favor of the strongly anti-separatist resolution—too many to count accurately—was estimated at 1,200. Seven delegates voted against it and another handful abstained.

When the voting was over, late Saturday evening, the delegates stood and sang "O Canada," a rare event at a Quebec provincial political gathering. When the convention re-opened Sunday morning, two Canadian flags, in position of precedence, had joined the display of Quebec flags that were alone on the stage when the congress opened Friday evening.

Behind the display of apparent unanimity in favor of Canadian unity, the meeting revealed the power built up in the party by Eric Kierans, former health minister, since he became its president a year ago.

When Mr. Levesque announced, in mid-September, his plan for a "Canadian union," Mr Kierans was the only leading member of the party to take a clear stand against it.

He immediately announced that he would resign if the Levesque plan were approved and then, one by one, persuaded other former ministers to take the same stand.

Finally, at the opening session of the congress Friday evening, when an early vote on a

PM: Unity Question 'Urgent'

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Sunday night Canadians must face urgently the question of what price they are prepared to pay to maintain the unity of the country.

In a speech read in his absence here at the Conference on the Economics of Canadian Unity, the prime minister declared that, somehow, all of Canada must become as much a homeland for all French-speaking Canadians as it is for all English-speaking Canadians.

Mr. Pearson warned that complete political separation of Quebec from Canada, if it came about under the impetus of the current separatist movement, would not occur in a tranquil or rational way."

But French-Canadian society is a reality, he said, and if English-speaking Canada tries to isolate it, "whether by design or, more likely, by indifference, it will simply encourage separatism."

The prime minister's speech was read by Richard Cashin, Liberal MP for St. John's West. Mr. Pearson was unable to leave Ottawa this week, an aide said.

URGES UNDERSTANDING

The prime minister told English-speaking Canadians that many of them will have to improve their attitude towards "the French fact in our country." He told French-speaking Canadians that the breakup of the country, as advocated by a

A week of anti-war protests began today in 30 American cities. At least 40 demonstrators were arrested in Oakland, Calif.

Those arrested at Oakland included folk singer Joan Baez. She was among 250 "stop-the-draft-week" demonstrators who showed up at an induction centre there.

The demonstrators were accused of trying to block draftees from entering the building. Police formed a human barricade to enable one busload of inductees to pass and began arrests when the demonstrators refused to move.

In Chicago, several young men said they planned to gather in front of the federal building and then attempt to turn in their draft cards to the U.S. marshal. Another group said it would demonstrate before an army induction centre on Wednesday.

On the eve of the week's first protest, to be held by a group called "the resistance," Florence Beaumont, 55, mother of two, soaked herself with gasoline and set herself afire Sunday in front of the federal building in downtown Los Angeles.

'HAD TO BE DONE'

She was protesting the Vietnam war, her husband said. "She felt this had to be done, it had to be done," he said.

"She was a walking torch," a witness said of Mrs. Beaumont, of suburban La Puente, Calif., who stumbled and staggered in flames until she fell dead.

The week of protests ends Saturday in Washington with what is expected to be the largest anti-war rally ever held in the capital. A spokesman for the organizers predicted 40,000 to 100,000 would attend.

"The resistance," composed mostly of young anti-draft, anti-war protesters, said more than 2,000 men were expected to burn or turn in their draft cards during "stop the draft week." Anti-draft protesters were to begin in Chicago today.

"A call to resist illegitimate authority" was sounded by supporters of the anti-draft movement, including 35 clergymen led by the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Fr., the chaplain at Yale.

The resisters will make "synagogues and churches across the country sanctuaries for conscientious objectors," Rev. Coffin said, so "arrests of those who refuse to answer the

WEST SPLIT ON ARABS

By United Press International

Britain and the United States have split over terms for an Arab-Israeli settlement, diplomatic sources said today in London.

This in turn has widened the rift in the big four's Middle East peace strategy.

The western powers were hunting some kind of break in the Mideast deadlock but were taking a different approach to the problem. Britain's policy appeared to be swinging closer to the Arab view. The United States was closer to the Israeli view.

In the United Nations U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg scheduled a meeting today with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad and other Arab diplomats. Observers said Goldberg was trying to get Egypt and Israel into some kind of negotiations either directly or through a third party.

Steel Closing Debated

Emergency Session Allowed by Speaker

Times News Services

OTTAWA — The Commons launched an emergency debate today on the announced intention of Dominion Steel & Coal Corp. to close its Sydney, N.S., steel mill by April 30.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux immediately accepted the motion of Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South), seconded by Robert Muir (PC—Cape Breton North and Victoria), for an emergency debate. The government did not oppose the motion. The debate must conclude by tonight.

Mr. MacInnis, in seeking the special debate, said the proposed shutdown of the steel mill is a national emergency.

It would directly affect 10,000 persons—the employees of the plant and their families—and bring into question the survival of the entire industrial community of Cape Breton, with its 105,000 people.

Mr. MacInnis said the entire Atlantic region is threatened with disaster.

STANFIELD IN GALLERY

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield, former premier of Nova Scotia, looked on from the Opposition gallery.

Stanfield postponed his plans to go to Montreal for a "crash course" in the French language.

He will fly to Sydney on Tuesday for "private conferences" in connection with the closing of the steel plant.

W. J. Emmert, president of Dosco, announced Friday the city's big steel mill would be closed April 30, 1968.

The mill is a key Nova Scotia industry. It employs 3,200 workers in Sydney, a town of 34,000. It has an annual payroll of $23,600,000.

Nova Scotia Liberal leader Gerald Regan lashed out at Mr. Stanfield, accusing him of "terrible government negligence" which Mr. Regan claimed led to the proposed closure of the mill.

He called on Premier G. I. Smith, who succeeded Mr. Stanfield, to summon an immediate session of the legislature in light of "this catastrophe."

However, the Nova Scotia Liberal leader said "no amount of neglect can excuse the ruthless disregard of Nova Scotian interests shown by Dosco.

HOW WE IGNORE OUR OLD FOLKS

More Than a Half Nursing Home Bound

By PETE LOUDON

"I don't want to get old.

"I don't want to get so old anyway, that I outlive most of my contemporaries and become a problem to my kids.

"I don't want to spend my time sitting on a bed in a shared room with three or four other oldsters, waiting for a dinner bell to end the monotony.

"I don't want to graduate from that to a private hospital bed where the disinfectants spoil the scent of the flowers and life is just a succession of bed pans, rubber tubes and beds built with sides like cribs."

More than half the present population of Victoria will live long enough to know the experience of rest home or nursing home existence. The percentage of elderly persons here is twice the national average.

These are two good reasons for giving attention to the problems discussed in this and succeeding articles in this series.

That's the reaction of young and middle-aged people who visit—usually an annual or semi-annual duty call—at boarding homes or private hospitals.

Most of all, we say, "I don't want to end up as a welfare patient."

OLD WARRIOR RETURNS TO OTTAWA

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — John Diefenbaker today was critical of the continued absenteeism among Progressive Conservative ranks in the Commons after returning to Ottawa Sunday.

"There is deep resentment across the country over this absenteeism," he told reporters. "People are becoming angry."

He flew back to Ottawa on the weekend to take his seat in the Commons as member of Parliament for Prince Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker will move out of the opposition leader's official residence of Stornaway in the swank Rockliffe residential area in Ottawa at the end of the month. They will move into a rented house in the same area.

Mr. Diefenbaker made it clear that he's far from finished as a member of Parliament: He indicated by his comments to newsmen that he will be speaking in debates in the House.

He told reporters he would fight the Conservative party's "two-nation" policy for Quebec "to the limit of my strength." He said he would be strongly opposed to any suggestion of a "special status" for Quebec, leaving the implication that he will carry that opposition to the floor of the House.

He is irate over members of the Conservative party continuing to be absent on crucial votes, just as they were in the latter months of his regime as Tory leader.

He accused six Conservative MPs of suddenly walking out of the House when the division bells were ringing on an old age pension vote, when he was leader.

He said the six—he would not identify them—had saved the Liberal minority government from defeat.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the only sure quick way to cure absenteeism among M.P.s was to publish the names, on a regional basis, of those M.P.s who did not stay in the Commons to vote.

Mr. Diefenbaker now occupies an office at the rear of the Parliament buildings with a beautiful view overlooking the Ottawa River and the Gatineau Hills. It used to be occupied by his executive assistant.

He has been advised that his new seat in the Commons will be two to the left of the opposition leader's seat he occupied before his defeat at the leadership convention.

Mr. Diefenbaker would not say when he will take his new seat in the House.

SOVIET SPACECRAFT TO LAND ON VENUS?

LONDON (AP)—The Russians have asked Britain's Jodrell Bank receiving station today to help track their Venus IV spacecraft due to its "extraordinary importance and significance". It is scheduled to reach Venus on October 18.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Jodrell Bank, said: "My personal interpretation of this is that the Russians might intend to land the probe on the planet."

OWN MONEY TOO

Republic Goal Of Separatists

QUEBEC (CP)—An independent republic of Quebec is the goal of the province's No. 2 separatist party, le Ralliement National.

At the party's second annual convention, held during the weekend on the campus of Laval University, about 200 delegates gave unanimous approval to a blueprint for independence which included such items as a separate monetary system and joint ownership of Air Canada, the railways and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The proposed republic would have a president as well as a prime minister and cabinet, and its parliament would be a "national assembly" of members elected for four-year terms.

A Bank of Quebec would be established to regulate the monetary system. Existing banks could become savings banks on the condition that they establish head offices in Quebec and do 75 per cent of their business with Quebec residents.

Quebec would negotiate with the rest of Canada for the joint ownership of the seaway and the nationwide carriers.

FAVORS UNION

Gilles Gregoire, president of le Ralliement who sits in the Commons as independent MP for Lapointe, said he is favorably disposed, under certain conditions, to the suggestion that le Ralliement unite with Quebec's larger separatist party, le Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale.

Mr. Gregoire described his party as a party of the centre, flexible enough to absorb the best ideas from both the left and the right.

In an address to the convention Saturday, he predicted that at least one Liberal MP will defect in favor of the Quebec independence movement. He said that during the next four months other Quebec MPs will join separatist ranks, but he named no names.

Don't Mistake Vote For Defeat—Kierans

QUEBEC (CP)—Eric Kierans, president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, said Sunday night "it would be tragic" if the Liberals' vote against separatism were misunderstood in the rest of Canada.

Mr. Kierans began his presidential address to the closing banquet at the federation's annual meeting by addressing a message to English-speaking Canadians in other provinces.

"Confidence in Canada, overwhelming confidence in Canada, was voted in the last two years by the Quebec Liberals," he said.

"It would be tragic if this vote was misunderstood in the rest of Canada. The vote does not represent a defeat for the legitimate and just aspirations of the French-Canadians. . . ."

He listed these as preservation of the French-Canadian culture, recognition of the French language right across the country and the desire of French Canadians to administer more fully their own affairs within Confederation.

WANTS STATUS DEFINED

Mr. Kierans was followed by Liberal Leader Jean Lesage who urged Premier Daniel Johnson to define the Union Nationale government's constitutional position clearly "to re-establish political and economic stability."

. . . OLD FOLKS

independence and dignity in old age?"

It's a natural reaction. Most of us dislike the idea so much we push all thought of aging from our minds. And it's likely that's the reason we've let the problems of age develop to the community crisis now facing us.

The average age at death in B.C. is 64.7 for men and 67.3 for women but more than half of us can look forward to a few years of severely restricted activity or to becoming near-invalids.

Almost 12 per cent of us will die between the ages of 70 and 74. About 14 per cent of us will die between 75 and 79.

About 14 per cent of us will expire between 80 and 84 and 16 per cent of us will make it past 85.

Modern medicine is extending those figures all the time. So, like it or not—we'd better start thinking about it.

If we want to be less selfish in our outlook, we should consider that the capital district at this time has 26,245 people aged more than 65—which is 15.13 per cent of the over-all population.

This compares with only 7.7 per cent in Canada. We have twice as many elderly people as the national average. That's another good reason for making sure the care we offer them is superior.

Had a Dream

Few of the people you see sitting in the sun porches of boarding homes anticipated they'd fetch up there. Most of those in private hospital beds had dreamed of an old age in a quiet cottage where they could tend their own roses and have their grandchildren visit.

None of those who are listed as welfare cases expected this would be the result of a lifetime of hard work. They remember the way it was when they were children.

In those days Granny and Grandpa spent their last years sitting by the fireplace in big family homes, tending the young ones, counselling their married sons and daughters from the depths of their long experience.

But more and more, that picture has changed. Today's houses, for instance, are usually too small for elderly folks to have any privacy away from the children.

Young couples, even middle-aged couples go away more on weekends. More women work. There is often no one at home to care for an elderly relative. Today's trend is for the old folks to remain on their own until disability creeps upon them.

Then comes the crucial day when a son or daughter says, "We've got to find a place for Grannie."

And on that day, the son and daughter, the grandchildren and most sadly, the old folks themselves, are faced with problems and often grim experiences that might be avoided if more of us would concern ourselves with a future we can't avoid.

minority in their midst, would hit them hard.

The country was hearing much "of the separatism brought about by a revolutionary political decision" on the part of a French-speaking minority, "asking not for adjustments but for a breakup."

"Separation of this kind would not occur in a tranquil or a rational way. It would shatter the hopes and dreams of millions of Canadians, particularly young Canadians.

"It would create an atmosphere of disillusionment and bitterness . . .

"The problem would not merely be one of Quebec versus Canada. It could become one of wider fragmentation. Would foreign investors stop investing in the rest of Canada?"

"A separated Quebec could not expect any easy, automatic economic union with a continuing Canada, to ease the dislocations and losses that would follow." Investment and employment would decline, the standard of living would fall.

SEES SERIOUS LOSS

But the most serious result would be the loss of opportunity for the people of Quebec "to participate in the development of a Confederation covering half a continent and which could become one of the great countries of the world."

"It would not be the intellectuals, the technocrats, the bureaucrats who would suffer this loss. It would be the workers, the farmers, the merchants, the housewives, the children, the students who would lose most in the limitation of their opportunity for social development and material progress.

"Nor would French-Canadian society as a whole be better preserved or strengthened or enlarged under such circumstances. The 1,000,000 French-speaking Canadians living outside of Quebec, one-sixth of the whole, would be abandoned. The effort to preserve French-Canadian culture, after separation, would have to be solely within Quebec."

URGES NEW THINKING

The prime minister said that "the customary processes of initiative and accommodation" will no longer suffice to work out Canada's future. "We must engage in a more fundamental sort of questioning."

While the answer remained difficult, the basic question was clear and simple: "What price are we prepared to pay to preserve our total identity as Canadians?

"What are we prepared to do, not only to preserve our two cultural societies in a federal political unity but also to allow them both to develop fully?"

The answer "will involve, for many English-speaking Canadians, a change in attitude and approach to, and a greater respect for the French fact in our country, our Confederation."

"It means that we must make all Canada, and not merely Quebec, a homeland for all French-Canadians and to take the steps necessary for that purpose."

. . . LEVESQUE

procedural dispute showed the Levesque forces were headed for crushing defeat, the party leader, Mr. Lesage, said he would step down if the Levesque resolution were carried.

The spectacular public climax of the convention was Rene Levesque's resignation late Saturday afternoon, after he had made an eloquent defence of his resolution.

CRUCIAL TEST

But a more crucial test of the success of the campaign begun by Mr. Kierans to put the party on a clearly pro-Confederation course passed without fanfare.

Paul Gerin-Lajoie, chairman of the party's constitutional committee and author of the controversial report favoring a greatly enlarged special status for Quebec, accepted without public protest the motion to refer his report to the policy commission for further study.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie, a strong nationalist and advocate of a republican form of government for Quebec, had insisted up to the time the convention opened that his report and the anti-separatist resolution were part of the same package.

Voting for the resolution, he had maintained, meant adopting the essential content of his report as party policy. If there were any disagreement on this point, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie said on the day before the congress opened, it would have to be cleared up when the delegates were assembled.

But the last word came from Mr. Lesage at the congress when he said that nothing that was not in the resolution itself was being adopted as policy by the party He said however that the report would be studied in the course of the party's efforts to define the content of the special status it favors for Quebec.

For Mr. Gerin-Lajoie, this was the second compromise on the issue.

The first was the drafting of the anti-separatist resolution, which basically contradicted his report, and its submission to the congress in the name of the constitutional committee of which he was chairman.

Mr. Kierans, with the aid of former cultural affairs minister Pierre Laporte, was chiefly responsible for the resolution that commits the party to a strongly pro-Confederation policy, ruling out threats of seccession in negotiations with the rest of Canada.

TWO MEN

The party's constitutional stand now rests mainly on the aligned strength in the party of Mr. Kieransa nd Mr. Laporte.

Mr. Laporte, one of the most able parliamentarians and political strategists among Quebec Liberals, is now regarded as having gained a strong lead over Mr. Gerin-Lajoie as the most likely successor to Mr. Lesage.

The division of the party brought on by the forced resignation of Mr. Levesque was less serious than many Liberals had feared.

No other member of the legislature followed Mr. Levesque out of the party although two, Robert Bourassa and Yves Michaud, had for a time been expected to support him.

A group of nine well-known party workers, headed by Montreal lawyer Marc Briere, left the party with Mr. Levesque and another 200 delegates to the convention, many of them students, also resigned.

Mr. Levesque said that he had had no talks with either of the two Separatist parties in Quebec. His plan for the immediate future is to continue working for his goal of a "Canadian union" with the help of the group of supporters he now has.

But he predicted, at a press conference after his resignation, that within four years a party that shared his basic outlook would either be in power or be the official opposition in the Quebec legislature.

Counter demonstrations were planned by the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism, headquartered in New York. Parades supporting "our boys in Vietnam" are scheduled Saturday and Sunday across the country, according to committee executive director Charles W. Wiley.

L.A. Bush Blazes Destroy 26 Homes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Brush fires spread destruction in dry Los Angeles residential areas Sunday and today, destroying 26 homes and threatening 100 more and leaving one dead in their wake.

Two major fires had blackened an estimated 26,000 acres by early today with firemen worrying that hot dry winds that fanned the flames Sunday might return.

One blaze was at Chatsworth, about 30 miles northwest of here. That 10,000-acre fire destroyed four homes today and 100 others were in its path.

Twenty-two homes were destroyed Sunday.

About 10 miles south of there a second fire burned toward new homes. However, firemen said no homes were threatened immediately.

About 1,000 firemen fought fingers of flame that moved over hills and into canyons and gullies.

Fire officials said the Chatsworth blaze combined with a 3,000-acre fire in the Simi Valley of southern Ventura County. Both fires were burning on a 20-mile perimeter bordering U.S. 101, the Ventura Freeway.

Fire department spokesmen said Janet Cameron was killed at Simi when a fire truck collided with her car. Two firemen and other motorists were sent to hospital. Traffic on the Ventura Freeway to the Simi area was backed up for eight miles at one point.

No homes were damaged in Simi but a tract of homes near Thousand Oaks was threatened during the night.

In Santa Paula, 100 miles northwest of Los Angeles, two ranches were destroyed in a blaze that had swept across 16,000 acres.

UC World Mission Secretary to Speak

Rev. Dr. Norman MacKenzie, associate secretary for the Board of World Mission of the United Church of Canada, will visit Victoria Wednesday.

He will speak on Opening and Closing Doors in Overseas Work at First United Church, 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and a discussion will fololw.

Dr. MacKenzie has served the church in China, West Africa and India and returned only recently from overseas.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Skies were mostly cloudy in B.C. this morning but a ridge of high pressure building over the south coast is expected to result in a slow clearing trend. Some showers will, however, persist on the north coast. Another Pacific storm will give rain to the outer coast tonight with the rain expected in all coastal areas by morning and spreading into the interior later in the day.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices showed underlying firmness on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today with flax staging a brisk rally in moderately active trade.

Flax received some stimulation from higher oilseed prices on the continent and there was evidence of overseas support. Reports indicate that 102,000 bushels of flax moved from the lakehead to Antwerp and 105,000 bushels to Norway during the weekend.

Rapeseed also firmed up at times and received stimulation from higher soybean prices in Chicago. Oats and barley trade was light and mostly domestic.

A fair trade proceeded in rye where there was considerable spreading between markets.

CHICAGO (AP) — Moderate to heavy rain during the weekend over wide sections of the U.S. midwest influenced higher prices for soybeans and corn today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The two commodities opened on a higher tone and quickly advanced. Wheat trade was light and prices closed slightly higher, influenced to some extent by good export notices.

Oats and rye trade was light and oats closed unchanged while rye showed an advance.

GM Men Vote Strike

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—The 25,000 employees in seven General Motors of Canada plants have voted 98.8 per cent to strike the company unless a new contract is signed before the end of October.

Gordon Lambert, chairman of the General Motors council, said the vote was taken secretly Sunday in London, Toronto, Windsor, St. Catharines, Oshawa and Ste. Therese, Que.

"The vote should indicate to the company that they must sit down and do some serious bargaining," Mr. Lambert said.

Contracts in all seven GM plants expire Oct. 31. Workers could legally walk off their jobs the next day, but union officials said this would be doubtful.

"We haven't put the strike deadline on the company yet," Mr. Lambert said, "because of the U.S. strike against Ford."

He said he doubted if there would be a Canadian strike until after the trouble at Ford was settled.

In Oshawa, 12,000 members of Local 222, the largest local in the Canadian UAW, voted almost 99 per cent in favor of strike action.

CPR SLASHES CALGARY CREW

CALGARY (CP)— Canadian Pacific Railway said today it will lay off about 400 of its 800 employees at its Ogden Repair Shops here because of declining traffic.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Slips In Light Trade

The Toronto Stock Exchange continued to turn lower this afternoon as declines outnumbered advances two to one.

However, trading remained light and by 2 p.m. only 2,019,000 shares had changed hands compared with 2,150,000 at the same time Friday.

Base metal prices were slashed by profit takers.

Denison tumbled 2⅝ to 82½ and Rio Algom fell ¾ to 35.

In the industrial list Jefferson Lake fell 2 to 58¾, Canadian Vickers 1⅜ to 8 and Algoma Steel ⅜ to a low of 22¼.

Dosco, which announced its closing of its Sydney, Nova Scotia, steel plant, was off ¼ to 6¾ while Hawker Siddeley, which controls Dosco, added 10 cents to 3.40.

AT VANCOUVER — Granisle was a big loser in a generally declining market. It fell a quarter to $7.75 on 600 shares by 11 a.m.

Other mining issues that fell included Atlas, off .40 to $2.20; Cascade; .15 to $1.05; Lornex, .30 to $7.60; Silver Titan, .12 to $1.15; and Westland, .07 to $1.28.

Western Mines was the only noticeable gainer, climbing .09 to $2.45.

In the oils, Royal American declined .06 to .94 on 2,000 shares.

Western broadcasting and B.C. Sugar led the industrials, each climbing .50, to $16.50 and 40.87 respectively.

Volume to 11 a.m. was 580,964 shares.

AT MONTREAL prices drifted fractionally lower in early afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today, after reversing a slight morning rally.

Banks led the downtrend, with Royal off at 14⅛ on volume of 23,690 shares, and Montreal down at 11.

CPR trimmed an earlier rally and dipped ⅛ to 64. Noranda and Imperial Oil were each down about point.

AT LONDON leading stocks were generally easier today but there were plenty of firm spots elsewhere.

Gilt-edged securities were quiet, however, and recorded only a few price adjustments. Southern Rhodesian bonds were firm again.

Dollar stocks made a mixed showing.

AT NEW YORK the stock market closed sharply as the Dow Jones index fell 9.65 today in active trading.

Prices rose irregularly at the start in a follow through to Friday's technical rebound, but they did not hold their gains and moved lower the rest of the session.

Losses outnumbered gains by more than 2 to 1.

Some of the giant blue chips, including Du Pont and Eastman Kodak, were weak.

Du Pont Takes Dip

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The du Pont Co. reported today profits for the first nine months of this year fell 26 per cent compared with the similar 1966 period and blamed "sluggishness in the civilian sector of the economy."

The largest U.S. chemical-maker disclosed net income of $228,000,000, down from last year's $306,000,000 in the first three quarters.

Sales were down five per cent for the nine months.

Earnings reflected the huge profit drop, falling to $4.77 a share compared with $6.48.
